Miss Kansas Wins 1966 Beauty Crown

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Deborah Bryant, a brown haired 19-year-old beauty from Kansas, was named Miss America of 1966 Saturday night.

Miss Bryant, a 5 foot 7 Christian College beauty who will enter Kansas University as junior this fall, won a swim suit preliminary in the pageant. She weighs 115 pounds and measures 32-23-36.

Pediatrician

Deborah, who wants to become a pediatrician because of her love for children, hopes to enter Kansas University Medical School after graduation.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hurley D. Bryant of Overland Park, Kan. In her spare time she writes fiction, swims and water skis.

Miss Kansas received a bouquet of pink roses and a robe was placed on her. Then she burst into tears, but regained her composure and began her stroll down the center aisle.

Runners-up in the contest, in order, were:

Miss Mississippi, Patricia Puckett, 20, Columbus.

Miss Indiana, Eileen Smith, 18, Indianapolis.

Miss Florida, Carol Blum, 21, Miami Beach.

Miss Wisconsin, Sharon Singstock, 20, Oshkosh.

As she walked down the aisle she threw a kiss to the television audience.

The large crowd in the hall gave her a standing ovation.

She was joined on the stage by her mother. Her father could not be with her because he is in Viet Nam, working as a civilian engineer.

Asked whether she wanted to say anything to her subjects, Miss America replied, "No, they're not subjects. They're dear friends."

Miss Louisiana Wins Spotlight Among Top Ten

Beautiful Lynda Ferguson, 20-year-old Miss Louisiana, smiled and sang her way into the semi-finals of the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J. Saturday night, winning a $1,000 scholarship for her effort.

This marked the first time in many years a Miss Louisiana had gained a high measure of success at the national beauty show.

The brunette Miss Ferguson, a co-ed at Centenary College in Shreveport and who represented that city in the Miss Louisiana pageant when she won the title here last July 6, was one of the 10 semi-finalists, but bowed out when the five finalists were named.

Cites Inspiration

Earlier in the week in a telephone interview, Miss Ferguson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Ferguson of Silsbee, Tex., said that the huge convention hall where the event was held inspired her more than any other single thing.

The brunette beauty said she wants to complete her college education and teach music to handicapped children.

"The reason for this is I once had the previlege of singing for a children's hospital and the warmth the children showed me at that time was so rewarding that I felt by continuing I could fill my life by their kind of warmth," she said.

A local woman, Mrs. David H. Masur of 1704 Lexington Ave., was Miss Ferguson's offi-

U.S. Planes Bomb Center Of Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Striking out of low hanging rain clouds, U.S. war planes pounded the headquarters of a Viet Cong regiment in the jungles of the Mekong River Delta Saturday and apparently cut off escape routes.

U.S. officials in Saigon expressed belief 1,000 to 2,000 Viet Cong troops — including one long-hunted hard core battalion — might be trapped.

Heavy rains and 30 mile-an-hour winds stalled a South Vietnamese ground effort to move in against the guerrilla regiment.

100 Air Strikes

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said almost 100 air strikes were made against the guerrilla headquarters near Soc Trang on the Bach Nga Cai River by nightfall. Viet Cong casualties were believed to be heavy.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas flew over the area, 150 miles southeast of Saigon, and reported the bombing attacks had blasted and burned away thick brush and jungle cover, exposing Viet Cong bunkers. He said escape routes from the headquarters area seemed to be cut off.

U.S. aircraft and American-advised South Vietnamese ground troops had been hunting the Viet Cong regiment for weeks.

The hard U.S. air attack came after U.S. Army helicopters sighted and assaulted about 100 guerrillas believed to be part of the Viet Cong regiment. Poor weather conditions prevented the landing of government troops but air attacks were ordered.

The Viet Cong have long held out in the steaming jungles in the Mekong Delta and government action in that area has been picking up over the past few weeks. The area is laced with canals and rivers and patched with rice paddies and swamps.

In other action, government troops wound up an operation in Quang Nam Province, 350 miles north of Saigon, and reported killing 104 guerrillas in a week of fighting. Government casualties were described as moderate.

Some units of the U.S. Marines that joined in Operation Piranha on the Batangan Peninsula during the week joined in the Quang Nam action Friday but made no major contact with the guerrillas, a U.S. spokesman said. The Marines had been airlifted from the peninsula where 198 Viet Cong were reported killed in a four-day action.

The Viet Cong scored a success in Long Khanh Province, about 40 miles east of Saigon. The guerrillas overran an outpost at Gia Tan, inflicting what officials described as moderate casualties on the defenders. The guerrillas then withdrew and government troops reoccupied the outpost.

New Patient

A new patient in St. Francis Hospital is Van Leigh, coach and physical education teacher at Monroe's Lee Junior High School.

He checked in Friday and was placed in traction to correct an "out of kilter" neck, injured while demonstrating earlier in the week a pushing device used to strengthen the school's football boys.

Mrs. Leigh says the doctor reports her husband may be laid up a week or maybe two. Leigh himself expects to return to school by next Wednesday.

Agreement Is Made To End 20-Day Strike

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — The 11,200-member United Auto Workers Local 72 ratified Saturday an agreement ending its 20-day strike at American Motors Corp.

The firm said its production of 1966 Rambler automobiles would resume Monday.

No details were announced in the agreement, reached in a marathon 25-hour bargaining session that wound up only 22 minutes before the local's scheduled membership meeting Saturday.

New Orleans Death Toll May Reach Nearly 200

Foreign Aid Action May Be Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said Saturday the Senate may be asked to delay action on the House-passed $3.28-billion foreign aid money bill to await developments in the India-Pakistan conflict.

The Senate Republican leader said that while the Senate Appropriations Committee probably will finish work on the bill soon, he does not expect it to be brought up "until we can see a little better what's likely to happen" in the Asian war.

The committee failed to raise a quorum Friday and postponed final action on the measure until Monday.

Before the appropriations group meets in midafternoon, Secretary of State Dean Rusk is to appear at a closed session of the Senate Foreign relations Committee to report on he Southeast Asia situation. His review will cover the India-Pakistan fighting and developments in Viet Nam.

House Republicans tried unsuccessfully to write into the bill a ban on economic and military aid to India and Pakistan. This was rejected by a voice vote after administration spokesmen pointed out that such a provision would prevent the United States from giving military equipment to India if Communist China repeats its 1962 invasion of that country.

The United States has an agreement to give military assistance if India is attacked by any Communists. The Republican ban on arms aid would have applied to any country receiving such aid that moved militarily against another recipient of U.S. assistance.

Sen. Edwards, Tyler Leaders In 7th District

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — One of Gov. John J. McKeithen's key legislative lieutenants and a former staff worker of the House Committee on Un-American Activities clinched runoff spots Saturday night in the balloting for a new congressman from Louisiana's 7th District.

State Sen. Edwin Edwards of Crowley, who has never lost an election, took a strong lead in the five-man race to succeed Rep. T. A. Thompson, a Democrat, killed July 1 in a North Carolina traffic accident.

The race was seen by some as a test of McKeithen's moderate tack on racial issues in this Deep South state.

With 268 of the district's 285 precincts reported, Edwards, 38, had 32,170 votes to 25,696 for Lake Charles television newscaster Gary Tyler, sometime House committee staff investigator.

Edwards carried his home parish — Acadia — by a better than 4-1 margin over the other four candidates and ran just behind Tyler in Calcasieu, Tyler's home parish.

Heaviest Fighting Raging In Conflict

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The heaviest fighting of the India Pakistan conflict was swirling across the northern front Saturday and spreading of the struggle to eastern sectors appeared imminent. Pakistan claimed India's army is now "wholly" on the defensive.

An Indian spokesman said "very fierce battles—the heaviest battles so far" were being fought in the Sialkot and Lahore region of northern Pakistan, where each side struggled to protect its cities against the other's tanks. Sialkot is at the northern end of the front 60 miles north of Lahore.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warned India may have to take counter measures in eastern areas of the subcontinent because of what he called provocative Pakistani air raids against strategic Indian installations in east India.

No Large Scale

There has been no large scale ground fighting in the east but the Indian government made clear it will fight to halt what it says are Pakistani threats to air fields and supply routes leading to Indian units on the Red China front.

These threats include air raids and what authorities in eastern India said was a drop by Pakistani parachutists Friday.

All in all, it was a gloomy picture for U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who arrived in Bombay, India, and is to fly to New Delhi today on the last leg of his peace mission. His just-ended talks in Pakistan generally were regarding in New Delhi as unpromising.

In Moscow, it was disclosed at a news conference that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had appealed to both sides to halt the fighting, pull back their armies, and let Thant settle the dispute. The Soviet Union offered its good offices.

The center of the dispute is Kashmir, the Himalayan state both sides claim and which has been divided by a U.N. cease-fire line since 1949. The fighting broke out last week when, India charges, Pakistani troops crossed the cease-fire line and has since spread to border regions of India and Pakistan.

Shastri said he wants peace and President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan said India does not regard itself at war with Pakistan. But the government made claims that indicated India was very much at war.

The Defense Ministry, in the first announcement of casualties, said 1,472 Pakistanis were killed in the period Aug. 5 to Sept. 8. The bodies of 803 Pakistanis were picked up, the ministry said, and 198 Pakistanis were captured. Indian losses were put at 250 killed in the same period.

Equipment losses were put at 191 Pakistani tanks and 33 planes destroyed, compared with 35 Indian tanks and 23 planes knocked out.

No newsman has been able to get close enough to the battlefield to verify any of these figures. But it was unusual for New Delhi to admit the loss of that many of its own tanks and planes.

In Rawalpindi, Pakistan's capital, a spokesman said Indian troops were beaten back on the Lahore front with heavy losses of men and tanks and were now fighting "a wholly defensive battle."

He asserted a Pakistani drive was well past Khem Karan, two miles inside India and 20 miles north of the Indian city of Ferozepore. India said Friday Pakistani shells fell on Ferozepore, 10 miles inside India, but the Pakistani spokesman made no mention of an advance on the city.

Weather Takes Moderate Turn

The weather, which took a mild turn Saturday after the remnants of Hurricane Betsy passed through Louisiana Friday, will continue on the pleasant side today and probably Monday, according to the forecast.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies, with not much change in temperatures. That means something of a repeat of Saturday's high of 89 and low of near 70.

A total of .07 of an inch of rainfall was recorded for the day.

City Cleans Up Debris Left By Storm's Winds

The private project in homes around the Twin Cities Saturday was a cleanup job.

Not house cleaning. The cleanup was aimed at restoring order and a well-groomed appearance to lawns and flower beds which took a beating when Hurricane Betsy's dying winds ripped through the area Friday.

Residents were seen in all sections of town pulling large limbs to the edges of their lawns so that city trash men could haul the unsightly debris away.

Monroe Utilities Commission spokesman said crews were still busy repairing fallen power lines and service wires which were upset during the heavy winds of the storm.

The commission spokesman said some street lights will not be repaired until next week, but that most of the pesky trouble spots had been corrected, a job which took approximately 32 hours, he said, for city crews.

The largest and costliest trouble which resulted from the storm, the spokesman said, was that three transformers on a utility pole on Jackson Street were broken off. This job alone cost some $350 for repairs.

Full Tragedy Seen In Rescue Attempts

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The full tragedy of Hurricane Betsy unfolded grimly Saturday as the death toll rose past 50 victims and damages soared into uncounted millions. The coroner feared 150 to 200 lives may have been lost in New Orleans alone.

At President Johnson's command, Army and Navy forces joined weary, groggy Louisiana rescue squads in a desperate struggle to find and care for survivors of Betsy's onslaught.

A ragtag armada of boats worked in the area of gravest concern — along the Mississippi River and an industrial canal east of New Orleans. This sprawling suburb of more than 3,000 homes was ravaged by flood waters from a broken levee.

Burial Ground

The onrushing waters were a burial ground for men, women and children who failed to scramble fast enough to safety on roof tops and in trees early Friday when Betsy roared in from the Gulf with 150 mile an hour winds.

Louisiana already counted 38 hurricane dead, most of them victims of flooding here. The Orleans Parish (county) coroner's office had 30 bodies with more coming in steadily.

"We'll catch h— on Monday and Tuesday," said Dr. Nicholas Chetta, the coroner.

He explained that rescue teams in boats cruising the flooded areas can only tie up floating bodies to trees, rooftops and posts for recovery later after the living have been evacuated.

Only now, nearly 48 hours after Betsy swept past, did the magnitude of the disaster begin to emerge.

The mass evacuation of more than a quarter-million people ahead of the storm kept the death count below that of past hurricanes. But the devastation and human misery which awed President Johnson on a personal inspection here Friday night was unmatched in Louisiana's storm-scarred history.

There was concern the damage figure might read a billion dollars.

The federal government rushed emergency help — men, food, medical supplies — to help this beleaguered city, its resources taxed to the utmost in rescuing and caring for flood refugees.

"You ask for it and you'll get it," Robert Phillips of the Office of Emergency Planning told city officials. He spoke as Johnson's personal representative.

The naval air station here opened old World War II buildings to house refugees who overflowed city shelters. The Army flew in field kitchens to help feed the swelling number of refugees.

Thousands of refugees from St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes — down river from New Orleans — poured into evacuation centers here. Much of these low-lying parishes were under up to 12 to 14 feet of water.

Adding to the misery of the rescue workers and the victims was the threat of bites from deadly water moccasins — blown in from the bayous and swamps.

Much of New Orleans remained without electric power or telephone service late Saturday. Supplies of dry ice were quickly exhausted as frantic housewives sought to save food in home freezers.

In addition to the dead in Louisiana, Betsy took seven lives in Florida, four in Arkansas and one in Mississippi.

The Orleans coroner's office presented a grim scene. Bodies were being tagged with notation as to where found with only partial autopsies being performed. Many of the victims had no identification.

Authorities decided not to open other morgues because people would have to go from place to place in an effort to identify bodies.

At present, bodies are being brought in one at a time. But the coroner said his drivers are attempting to have bodies lined up at a street corner near the Industrial Canal and bring them in batches as the number of dead rose.

Helicopters whirled over the flooded sections of New Orleans throughout the day, landing wherever they could for quick evacuation of the sick and the pregnant.

The copters and the ragtag fleet of boats and trucks brought out about 35,000 people and were looking for more.

Trucks and city buses moved the evacuees to emergency shelters in New Orleans — the city hall, the municipal auditorium, schools, churches.

The Red Cross reported 45,000 people in emergency shelters — most of them flood victims, others still unable to return to homes damaged by winds.

The meeting between Phillips and city officials came less than 24 hours after President Johnson made a flying trip to New Orleans and took a two-hour tour of the devastation. The President declared Louisiana a major disaster area, opening the way to federal aid for hurricane victims.

OPERATION CLEANUP was put into effect all over the Twin Cities Saturday as residents attempted to restore order and cleanliness to their lawns after the winds of Hurricane Betsy, reduced to a tropical storm, whipped through the area Friday. Government Produces List Of Klansmen

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The government surprisingly produced a list of 151 names — including Bogalusa's city attorney — in federal court Saturday and said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Minutes later the defense lawyers came up with another unexpected turn by resting immediately after the Justice Department concluded its case.

During the federal court proceedings, three black-robed federal judges called a reluctant witness off the stand and lectured him for five minutes.

The witness, Clayton Hines, who said he was former secretary of Klan Unit No. 2 at Bogalusa, squatted on the dais behind the judge's chairs. Circuit Court Judge John Minor Wisdom and Dist. Court Judges Herbert Christenberry and Robert Ainsworth turned their backs to the courtroom and talked to him.

The Justice Department wants a court order blocking the Klan, the Anti-Communist Christian Association and 38 individuals from harassing, coercing and intimidating Negroes and civil rights workers at Bogalusa, scene of repeated racial trouble during the past spring and summer.

Judge Wisdom, who presided, told opposing counsel to file briefs simultaneously by Sept. 21 and the court then took the case under advisement.

The typewritten list of names was introduced when the government called Hines as a surprise witness. Hines said he had been "sworn out" as a Klan member three or four weeks ago after serving as secretary for nearly a year.

"I learned the identity of this man about 2 o'clock this morning," said Justice Department attorney D. Robert Owens of Washington after the defense objected to Hines' appearance.

Saxon Farmer, the grand titan — No. 2 man — of the Bogalusa Klan and vice president of the Anti-Communist Christian Association, gave the court a handwritten list of 39 members of the secret white supremacy organization after having been threatened with jail last Thursday when Judge Wisdom recessed the hearing because of Hurricane Betsy. Farmer then had listed 47 other Klan members "from memory" after saying the organization destroyed its records "when the FBI began harrassing us."

Hines said he helped Robert Rester, Bogalusa city attorney, prepare the typewritten list "several moths ago." Rester's name was on the list as a member of Hines' unit.

Hines said the names were those of Klan or former Klan members.

The judges called Hines behind the bench after he hesitated to identify the leader of his unit. Afterwards he named the leader as Bill Simmons.

Judge Christenberry asked Farmer, distributor in the Bogalusa area for Continental Oil Co., if he knew anything about a Klan boycott of Mobil Oil service stations."

"I've heard that they were boycotting it," said Farmer, a slightly built man who helped spearhead a purge of Negro voters from registration lists in the Bogalusa area several years ago.

Heavy Damage Expected Along Gulf Coast Area

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Surveys of property damage were underway Saturday as the Mississippi Gulf Coast began the laborious task of determing the financial toll of Hurricane Betsy's winds and massive tides.

Damage will run "in the many millions of dollars," Harison County Civil Sheriff Director Wade Guice said.

Federal aid in restoration work was assured when President Johnson, on request of Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson, designated the Mississippi Coast as a disaster area along with ravaged New Orleans and sections of Louisiana.

Col. Dan Buie of Thomasville, Ga., an official of the U.S. Office of Emergency Planning, arrived in Gulfport Friday night and was to begin a ground survey of damaged areas today.

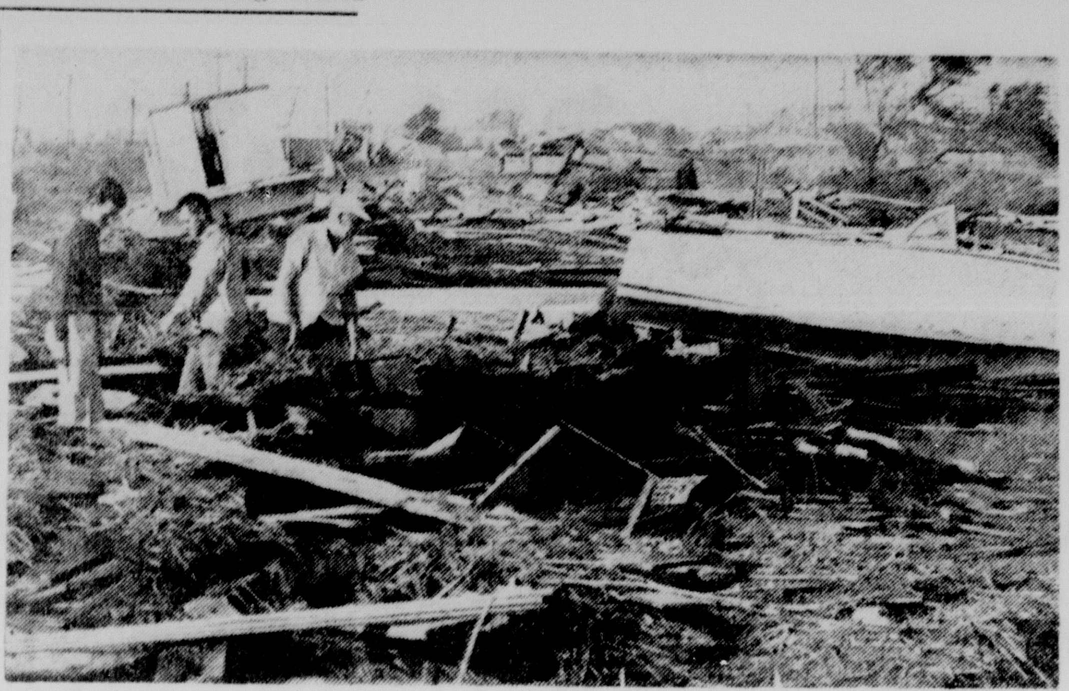
Governor Johnson returned to Jackson late Friday after a personal survey of damages, but state Civil Defense Director Kenneth Phillips, State Health Department staffers and Red Cross relief workers remained.

Several hundred National Guard troops who have been patrolling damage areas were scheduled to be pulled off duty later Saturday.

Governor Johnson, followed a Friday survey, declared the Hancock County beach area as apparently the hardest hit by the storm.

There were still no reports of fatalities or serious injuries attributable to the storm in the coast area.

Other areas of heaviest damage were the Biloxi beachfront and Pass Christian. Gulfport's hardest-hit installation was the Bert Jones yacht harbor where damage was topped only by the 1947 killer hurricane.



THIS IS THE scene Saturday along U.S. Highway 90 between New Orleans and Gulfport, Miss. The main route along the Gulf coast is blocked by debris washed up by high tides from Hurricane Betsy. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Awaits Clearance On Evacuation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Saturday continued to await clearance from the Pakistan government to send U.S. military transport planes to evacuate Americans from areas of Pakistan involved in fighting with India.

Since none of the Americans appeared to be in immediate danger, U.S. officials so far were not making a major issue of the delay. They asked for the clearances last Tuesday. The request was repeated Friday by U.S. Ambassador to Pakistan Walter P. McConaughy.

Government sources here indicated that if the Americans were in imminent danger, the United States would send evacuation planes, regardless of the protocol requirement for flight clearance.

Of most concern were some 900 Americans at Lahore, in West Pakistan, close to the Indian border and within Indian artillery range. So far, however, they said, there was fighting in the area but the city itself had not come under fire.

Indian ambassador B. K. Hehru asked for and was granted a brief appointment with Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday. There was no immediate information on what transpired.

The United States, for several days, has had evacuation planes standing by in Iran. Plans called for removal of U.S. dependents, some non-official Americans, and some U.S. aid and other official personnel from the Lahore area.

Jet Airliner Is Down Safe After One Engine Out

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A Northwest Airlines jet with 55 passengers aboard made a safe landing at Gen. Mitchell Field Saturday, after flying most of the way from Minneapolis with one engine shut down.

Capt. Richard Barton, St. Paul, Minn., the pilot, said one engine of the Boeing 720 jet airliner developed trouble about 10 minutes out of Minneapolis en route to Milwaukee on Flight 214, and he switched it off.

More Training Centers To Be Set Up Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is expected next week to announce plans for opening one or more training centers to handle recruits in its 235,000-man Viet Nam war buildup.

A spokesman told UPI Saturday that Ft. Benning, Ga., and several other camps were under consideration as locations. The others are believed to include Ft. Bliss, Texas and possibly Ft. Sill, Okla., and Ft. Hood, Texas.

Basic training is now given at Forts Dix, N.J., Knox, Ky., Gordon, Ga., Polk, La., Leonard Wood, Mo., and Ord, Calif. Specialied tzraining is provided for WACs at Ft. McClellan, Ala., and for medics at Ft. Houston, Texas.

Quick action to expand basic training is necessary because a sharply increased influx of recruits will be felt later this month.

The draft, scheduled to jump to 35,000 a month, has been revised upward from 17,000 to 27,400 for September and has been set at 29,000 for October.

It is expected that a new, 14,000-man Army division will be formed at Ft. Riley, Kan., and will be assigned responsibility for conducting its own basic training there.

One of three new 3,800-man brigades, at Ft. Devens, Mass., will also train recruits.

The other brigades will be formed in January and February at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Benning, Ga., but have not yet been given a training responsibility.

The Army also has completed plans for a big expansion of its Officer Candidate School (OCS) program which is open to enlisted men who are at least high school graduates and can score high marks on intelligence and aptitude tests.

The plan calls for OCS training at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and Forts Knox and Gordon as well as expansion of the present schools at Forts Benning and Sill. Enrollments will total 11,700 annually compared to 3,400 a year in the past.

Miss Louisiana Wins Spotlight Among Top Ten

cial chaperone during the week's activities in Atlantic City.

The dark-haired beauty was crowned Miss Louisiana back in July after winning the talent division hands down in the contest. At that time, she was presented a $1,000 cash scholarship and a wardrobe amounting to almost $2,000$ along with her trophy. She was also given a new automobile for use during the year of her reign in this state.

Those chosen as the 10 semifinalists in the Saturday night contest were judged on accumulated point totals in talent, swimsuit appearances and personality interviews.

The stately 37-24-37 beauty sang in a semi-classical style before nationwide television audiences in Saturday night's show, capturing the hearts of many before bowing out of the competition. She sang the "Indian Love Call" and "Italian Street Song."

West Monroe Woman Given Noted Award

Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, history teacher at West Monroe High School, Saturday recieved a Classroom Teacher's Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

The presentation to Mrs. LeFevre, made by Ouachita School Supt. Milton C. Hall, was a highlight on the program of the parish school system's annual Professional Day at Sterlington High School.

Mrs. LeFevre was recognized for her "contributions toward a better understanding of the American way of life." She teaches American history at West Monroe High.

Established as a nonprofit, nonsectarian and nonpolitical organization in March, 1959, the Freedoms Foundation lists as its aims:

"To create and build an understanding of the spirit and philosophy of the Constitution and Bill of Rights."

"To inspire love of freedom and to support the spiritual unity born of the belief that man is a dignified human being, created in the image of his Maker, and by that fact, possessor of certain inalienable rights."

Its awards program, it declares, is designed to encourage citizens to "speak up for freedom."

Hundreds of Ouachita Parish school system teachers attended Saturday's program, an annual event to "enhance professional competence."

Divided into two main sessions, ending at 11:30 a.m., the program included various addresses, as well as the recognition of new teachers in the system and of the attainment of higher degrees by any teacher.

River Shipping Suffers Heavily From Hurricane

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Hurricane Betsy caused severe damage to Mississippi River shipping from here to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Morning Advocate said one riverfront spokesman was "guessing damage estimates for the area running as high as $1 billion."

There was no accurate count of vessels sunk, missing or damaged along the lower river.

An estimated 10 barges were sunk here and four tugboats were known to have gone down.

Pope Paul Plunges Into Period Of Work

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, plunging into a new intense period of work with the resumption of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, Saturday reaffirmed Roman Catholic teaching on the Eucharist and urged prayers for his trip to the United States.

The Roman Catholic pontiff ended his six-week summer vacation with a flurry of activity:

—He made public the third encyclical letter of his reign. Entitled "Mysterium Fidei" — The Mystery of Faith — for its first two Latin words, it described new doctrincal opinions by some Roman Catholic theologians on the Eucharist as "a grave danger" for faith.

—After saying mass at a convent south of Rome, he asked prayers for his trip to New York Oct. 4 and or the success of his peace plea to the United Nations.

—He completed the formalities of saying goodbye to the staff at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, south of Rome, and prepared to return to the Vatican today, two days before the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council opens its fourth and final session.

The Pope's encyclical — a major papal document addressed to the Roman Catholic clergy and faithful — upheld traditional Roman Catholic teaching that Jesus Christ is truly and substantially present in the consecrated bread and wine of the Eucharist at Mass.

He said faith is needed to accept this doctrine of "transubstantiation" — that the very substance of the bread and wine changes while their characteristics, or appearances, remain as before.

Pope Paul's encyclical was clearly a reply to some recent theological discussion in Belgium, Germany, Britain and especially Holland.

Theologians there wrote earlier this year of a possible new way to look at the doctrine. They used the term "transfiguration" — a transfer of meaning or symbol. This view of the bread and wine of the Eucharist as symbols is similar to that held by some Protestants.

Pope Paul did not specifically mention the theologians he had in mind. But he used their term saying the "'mystery of transubstantiation" could not be discussed in terms of "only what is called 'transignification' and 'transfiguration'."

Pope Paul avoided a tone of outright condemnation. He said he felt "serious pastoral concern and anxiety" that certain theological positions on the Eucharist were causing confusion among the faithful.

Ark-La-Miss Briefs

Woman Speaker

RUSTON (Special) — Sandra Gay Grosclose, formerly of Shreveport and now employed in New Orleans, discussed "The Woman's Place in Public Accounting" at a meeting of the Monroe chapter of the Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants at the Holiday Inn at Ruston.

She was the first woman ever to address the Monroe chapter, according to H. J. Smolinski, head of the accounting department at Louisiana Tech, who was in charge of the program here.

Miss Grosclose is an accountant with Haskins-Sells, national CPA firm in New Orleans. She is a 1963 honor graduate of the Tech accounting department.

Scholarship

HOMER (Special) — Kenneth Don Camp, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Camp of Haynesville was one of 11 students selected to receive seventy-fifth Anniversary Scholarship fund check from the First National Bank of Shreveport, according to Walter B. Jacobs Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Camp was granted a one year scholarship to attend Southern State College, at Magnolia Arkansas, this fall as a freshman, where he will study accounting.

Homer Streets

HOMER (Special) — Resurfacing of 2.658 miles of various streets in Homer city limits have been approved by Louisiana Department of Highways, with their aid.

District engineer, Roy E. Mitchell, has been authorized to proceed with the work. The town will furnish the material and the state will provide labor and equipment, at an estimated cost $3,200.

Claiborne Jury

HOMER (Special)—The Claiborne Parish Grand Jury has examined 13 cases, returning five true bills, seven no bills, and passed one for further investigation. John David Sanders served as foreman, Oswald Fomby, as clerk of the jury which convened this week.

Competition Opens

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The Italia Prize International competition for radio and television productions starts here Monday with entries from 30 nations, including Norway and Hungary for the first time.

Aquanauts Leave Home In Ocean

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Nine aquanauts in Sealab 2 check out of their "Tiltin' Hilton" on the ocean floor today for a 205-foot, 36-hour trip back to sunshine and fresh air.

The men have lived and worked below the ocean's surface since Aug. 28. Their ascent marks the end of the first phase of the Navy's most ambitious underwater living project.

While the trip to the surface is expected to take only about 5 minutes, the aquanauts will go directly into a decompression chamber for a slow return to sea-level pressure. This will take about 36 hours, officials said.

Today's schedule also calls for the descent of the second team of nine divers to the 12x58-foot steel capsule.

The aquanauts have nicknamed the capsule the "Tiltin' Hilton" as an indication that the ocean-bottom "hotel" is not exactly level. One end is slightly higher than the other and there is a list to one side.

When the aquanauts leave their deep sea den, they will swim to a transfer capsule — a sort of underwater elevator.

The hatches on the transfer capsule will be closed and the pressure inside will remain at the seven atmospheres of Sealab depth during its ascent.

The capsule will then be hoisted to the surface by cable and mated to a decompression chamber on he deck of the staging vessel, Berkone. The pressure inside the hamber will then be slowly released.

The transfer capsule, which has been on the bottom near the Sealab since the project began, was brought up Saturday for a thorough scrubbing.

Army To Help State Refugees

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Red Cross said today the Fourth Army is sending men, food and water purification equipment to aid hurricane refugees in New Orleans.

A spokesman said the Army personnel and equipment would be sent from Ft. Polk, La., and other points.

Museum Art Director Is Chosen Here

Steve Hodges has been appointed director of the Masur Museum of Art of the city of Monroe, it was announced jointly by Mayor W. L. Howard and Robert H. Evans, chairman of the museum's board of trustees. He will assume his duties immediately.

Hodges attended the University of Texas, Lamar State College and the University of Arkansas where he received the degree of Master of Fine Arts last month.

Hodges has exhibited his paintings widely, including one-man shows at the Fine Arts Center of the University of Arkansas and at the Driftwood Gallery in his home town of Port Arthur, Texas.

The Masur Museum opens for its second season today with an exhibit of paintings from the Contemporary Art Association of Shreveport and a gallery talk by Leo Askew. This will be followed on October 10 by a one-man show by Dan Howard, recipient of the $700 purchase prize at the Competitive Show of the museum last March. The museum hours are 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Monday and no admission is charged.

As the cost of exhibits, competitions and other programs must be met from private funds, the museum trustees are launching a campaign to renew and enlarge the associate membership list. The three categories of associates are family at $5, sponsor at $25 and patron at $100. Contributions may be sent to the museum at 1400 South Grand Street.

The trustees expressed gratitude and appreciation to the Art Center of Monroe and to the museum auxiliary for their efforts in making the first season a success. The Art Center, which has been asked to continue to serve as an advisory committee, consists of Ed Schutz, president, Mrs. H. M. James, Miss Mary Anita Lennon and Mrs. John B. McKinley.

The museum auxiliary will again provide volunteers to staff the gallery during the hours open to the public. Its officers are Mrs. B. A. Trousdale Jr., chairman, Mrs. John F. Kelso Jr., vice chairman and Mrs. Saul A. Mintz, secretary. Mrs. Trousdale invites new recruits to join the auxiliary.

Astronauts Will Leave On Tour Of 6 Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. will visit Washington next Tuesday and leave the same day for visits to six countries, the White House announced Saturday.

Cooper and Conrad will visit the White House at 11 a.m. Tuesday. Their Washington schedule also includes a visit to the National Academy of Sciences to report on their eight-day Gemini flight. This will be followed by a luncheon with members of the Space Board of the academy and an afternoon visit to the House and Senate.

They will leave the same day for Athens, Greece, first stop on their good-will tour. They will be in Athens Sept. 16-18 and will attend a international aerospace conference there.

They will leave Athens the morning of Sept. 19 for Ishmir, Turkey, and the following day will go to Addis Abbaba, Ethiopia, where they will stay Sept. 20-21. They will leave the Ethiopian capital the morning of Sept. 20 for the Malagasy Republic where they will remain until the morning of Sept. 24 when they will go to Nairobi, Kenya, to spend two days. They will visit Lagos and Keno, Nigeria, Sept. 25-26 and will leave Nigeria for home the following day.

The White House said Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant Colonel, and Conrad, a Navy commander, will be accompanied by their wives. Cooper's daughters, Janita, 15, and Camala, 17, also will go along.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief of medicine at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, and Maj. Hugh Robinson, presidential Army aide, also will be in the party.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said that the astronauts had received invitations from many other countries, but that their schedule would not permit a longer stay abroad.

President Johnson announced some time ago that he hoped several of the U.S. astronauts would be able to travel abroad as a symbol of this country's interest in peaceful exploration of outer space and its willingness to share its knowledge with others.

Carl Sandburg Resting Well; Gets Treatment

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, poet and Lincoln biographer, was reported resting comfortably Saturday in a hospital where he was admitted Friday.

Dr. D. I. C. King of Hendersonville said the 87-year-old author was admitted to Pardee Memorial Hospital for the treatment of diverticulitis, an inflammation of pockets which form in the intestines.

"He is being treated medically," said Dr. King. "He is resting comfortably."

Hospital attendants said the disorder is uncomfortable but not necessarily serious. An attendant said that barring complications the aged poet and biographer should "be out of the hospital in a couple of weeks."

Sandburg was brought to the hospital from his home, Connemara Farm, at nearby Flat Rock, where he raises goats.

Sandburg's son-in-law, Dr. George Crile, a Cleveland surgeon, was reported en route to the hospital from Ohio. He married Helga Sandburg on Nov. 18, 1963.

The white-haired old writer, who has received honorary degrees from a dozen universities, has been much less active in recent months than at any time since he moved to Flat Rock in 1945. He bought a home erected on the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains by Christopher G. Memminger, treasurer of the Confederacy.

In that big white frame dwelling he has carried on his writings in the last score of years and found time to get out on lecture tours.

One of the highlights of his later years was a trip to Washington to receive from President Johnson last Sept. 14 the Presidential Medal of Freedom. He was one of 30 receiving the medal.

On that occasion, when his name was called, Sandburg squared his shoulders, moved in front of the President, saluted smartly and said, "6th Illinois Volunteers." That was the outfit in which he served in the Spanish-American War.

Sandburg, internationally known for his biography of Abraham Lincoln, was born of Swedish parents in Galesburg, Ill. He lived many of his early years in Illinois. Before coming to North Carolina he had made his home in a house atop a dune on the shores of Lake Michigan near Harbert, Mich.

Gangster Shot In Professional Gangland Style

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mandel (Manny) Skar, a dapper little gangsters' crony who dreamed of building a "little Las Vegas" on Chicago's outskirts, was shot and killed in professional gangland style Saturday outside his Lake Shore Drive apartment.

Skar, 41, was shot with four .38 caliber bullets in his right eye, right cheek, chest and knee and as he carried a bag loaded with delicatessen salami from his 1965 black convertible.

Skar was under indictment on charges of evading $417,482 in income taxes. Charles Siragusa, executive director of the Illinois Crime Investigating Committee, said "Manny was hit because the outfit believed he was stooling to federal investigators or would do so when his trial opened Oct. 11."

("Hit" is underworld slang for a paid assassination and "The Outfit" is gangland's term for the crime syndicate.)

Police also speculated that Skar, a high rolling gambler and wheeler-dealer whose operations spread through Las Vegas and Los Angeles, might have defaulted on a debt or doublecrossed an underworld boss in his manipulations.

Although Skar never made the front ranks of the crime syndicate, he was believed to be its loyal front man in real estate and other promotions and he was the buddy of such reputed lords of the outfit as Sam (Moe) Giancana and Marshall (Johnny Marshall) Caifano.

A thrice-convicted ex-convict, Skar's career hit its highpoint in 1962 when he opened a lavish establishment called "Manny Skar's Sahara Inn" near O'Hare International Airport.

Skar hoped to operate the inn with the glitter of a Las Vegas gambling casino and the opening night crowd included Hollywood celebrities Zsa Zsa Gabor, George Jessel and Martha Raye.

Crop Damage In State Will Be $30 Million

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce said the damage to Louisiana crops from Hurricane Betsy will come to $30 to $40 million.

Pearce said Friday the total of Louisiana crops was more than $500 million.

The hardest hit, he said, are cotton, cane and pecans. He said more than half the rice crop was already harvested when the storm cut across the state.

But Pearce said part of the crop still was in the fields and was knocked down. Rice farmers thus affected, he said, have "suffered quite a loss."

Pearce based his damage estimates on actual loss figures from last year's Hurricane Hilda, which caused some $40 million in damages to crops. Before Hilda, the total value of the crop was some $520 million.

Pearce expressed optimism that the $70 million sugar cane crop this year will have to straighten up in the fields before harvest.

Two Released On $750 Bonds At Winnsboro

WINNSBORO (Special) — Charles Olla Jones, 24, of Rt. 1, Mangham, and Elbert Rayborn, 22, of Winnsboro, were released from the Franklin Parish Jail on separate $750 bonds after being charged with simple burglary Saturday morning.

Deputy Sheriff of Franklin Parish, Mack Hill, and Winnsboro Marshal Buddy Wright, said the two men had admitted breaking into the garage at the L. & L. Used Car Lot Friday night and taking an acetyline torch and an assortment of garage tools and car parts which was recovered by the officials.

Entrance was gained by breaking a back window of the garage and the two left the building through the front door.

Showdown Set On Mississippi Representatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage is being set for a showdown in the House of Representatives on the Mississippi challenge—an effort launched last year to unseat the five Mississippi House members.

The challenge was instituted by members of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, a predominantly Negro group. It is based on a contention the five Mississippi representatives were elected illegally last November because Negroes were systematically barred from participating in the election in violation of the constitution.

President indications are that there will be a vote on the challenge Sept. 15 or 16 and that it will come on a resolution from the House Administration Committee to dismiss the challenge.

Targets of the effort are Reps. William M. Colmer, Jamie Whitten, Thomas G. Abernethy and John Bell Williams, all veteran Democratic House members, and Prentiss Walker, freshman Republican member.

The House elections subcommittee, to which the challenge has been referred, has slated a closed hearing for Monday morning to hear arguments on a motion by the representatives to dismiss the proceedings.

Should the nine-member subcommittee accept the arguments of the five Mississippi representatives, the procedure would be for it to adopt a resolution calling for dismissal of the challenge.

This resolution then would go to the parent House Administration Committee, probably Tuesday or Wednesday. If the committee approves, the resolution then would go to the House and an expected vote Wednesday or Thursday.

Father Of Area Publisher Dies In West Monroe

BASTROP (Special) — Andrew J. Bolton, 86, of West Monroe, the first rural mail carrier in the Kansas area, and perhaps in the nation, to deliver mail by motor car, died at a Bastrop nursing home shortly before noon Saturday after a long illness.

Mr. Bolton was the father of Nathan Bolton, publisher of the Bastrop Enterprise.

Mr. Bolton received considerable publicity in 1905 when he became the first rural mail carrier in the Kansas area, and perhaps in the nation, to deliver mail by motor car, using a one-cylinder Oldsmobile.

Born in a sod house in Jewel County, Kan., he moved to Louisiana from Abilene, Kan., in 1950, and resided in Monroe before moving to West Monroe several years ago. He retired in 1944 when he sold his farm near Abilene.

A family service was held for Mr. Bolton Saturday afternoon at Blackwell and Golden Funeral Home of Bastrop and a second funeral will be in Abilene, Kan., Monday afternoon.

Mr. Bolton is survived by another son, Dr. Victor Bolton of Kansas City, Kan.

Leaning Tower

PISA, Italy (AP) — After years of perplexity, pondering and paperwork, technicians have begun on-site labors aimed at keeping the Leaning Tower from toppling. Soil samples are being taken from test borings in the broad green lawn of the Piazza dei Miracoli — Square of Miracles — to determine whether the water table contributes to instability under the 13th century bell tower.

Russians Ready To Aid War Settlement

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union broadcast its readiness Saturday to use its good offices to settle the Indian-Pakistani conflict. But at the same time it gave its full support to the United Nations peacemaking effort.

To emphasize its interest in ending the conflict, the government took the unusual step of calling a news conference to read out letters sent by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

The letters of Sept. 4 appealed to both countries to end the conflict and settle their disputes peacefully. The Soviet Union offered to use its good offices to bring peace on the subcontinent.

About 60 correspondents were called to the foreign office to hear the letters read, first in Russian, then in English.

Earlier in the day, a letter from Shastri replying to Kosygin was delivered to the premier thanking him for the offer of good offices but apparently withholding any request that they be used at this time.

Instead, both India and the Soviet Union appeared to feel that first efforts to bring peace should be left to U Thant, U.N. Secretary-General.

The letter from Shastri was delivered to Kosygin by the Indian ambassador, Triloki N. Kaul. Kaul said through an embassy spokesman that the Soviet leader "fully supports the action taken by the secretary-general of the United Nations and wishes him every success."

The spokesman indicated India's agreement by commenting that, "Nobody wants to do anything which would interfere with the work of the secretary-general, since everyone wishes him success."

As in the past, the Soviet premier blamed the United States for stepping up tension in Asia and indicated "outside sources" were not averse to seeing the India-Pakistan struggle escalate into more bitter war. The letters to Shastri and Ayub Khan, nearly identical, said:

"The trend toward further escalation of the military conflict further heightens the tense situation in southern and southeast Asia created by American imperialist aggression.

"Such a development of events, it goes without saying, benefits only those sources from outside which strive to disunite and play off one against the other the states liberated from the colonial yoke, and which seek to weaken the unity of the African-Asian countries.

Drilling Rig Is Missing In Delta

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Zapata Off-shore Co. reported Saturday that its $6 million drilling rig, Maverick, was missing off the Mississippi Delta after the passage of Hurricane Betsy.

"It's a mystery as to what happened to it," a company spokesman said. "A plane flew over the area Friday afternoon and a helicopter again Saturday morning and no trace can be found. There's no oil slick nor buoy, but it appears to be gone."

Tech Slates Registration On Tuesday

RUSTON (Special) — With preliminaries in connection with the fall semester continuing Monday at Louisiana Tech, registration for the new term is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday and classes will begin Thursday morning.

On the program for Monday are a meeting of men students interested in the Air Force ROTC, convocations with the academic deans of the six schools, chemistry exemption examinations, college ability tests, and a meeting of the faculty in Howard Auditorium at 4 p.m.

A reception for international students is on the agenda for 2:30 to 4 p.m. today in Keeny Hall, under the auspices of the International Student Organization at Tech.

"We expect 6,000 students to enroll for this semester and around 7,000 next fall," Dr. F. Jay Taylor, Tech president, said.

A highlight of his talk was reference to a new Olympic size swimming pool which he is undertaking to provide with $100,000 to be raised by private contributions.

Dr. Taylor also cited the current construction projects which include an eight - story dormitory for women, an eight-story dormitory for men and a new cafeteria. Plans are nearing completion for an electrical engineering laboratory building and a liberal arts building.

He called attention to the inadequacy of the football stadium and expressed hopes that this structure could be replaced in the near future.

He also announced that arrangements are being made to provide lights along the new four - lane highway extending from I-20 to the Tech campus.

FIRST HOSPITAL in Monroe was the Monroe Sanitarium constructed at 1700 Jackson St. in 1906. Dr. O. W. Cosby, who established practice in Monroe in 1904, saw the need for a hospital in the area and tried to interest city officials in the project. When this failed, he undertook the entire effort on his own. The result was a large, two-story frame building with 25 rooms which served as a haven for the ill in the Monroe area for a number of years. The site is now where Orange St. intersects Jackson near the River Queen Restaurant. Mrs. Treacy Lipsey Goodwin, mother of Mrs. Philomenn Goodwin of 2015 Frances Place, was the first registered nurse in Northeast Louisiana and served at the Monroe Sanitarium. San Francisco Newspapers To Merge Monday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The morning San Francisco Examiner and the afternoon News Call Bulletin will merge Monday into an afternoon paper. Both are Hearst owned.

The merged paper is joining with the independent morning San Francisco Chronicle in a single production operation and in publication of a single Sunday paper.

Publishers said the move was dictated by constantly increasing production costs.

In announcements in today's editions they emphasized that the newspapers will have separate and competing editorial staffs.

The new Hearst afternoon combination will be known as the Examiner and News Call Bulletin. It will be published Monday through Saturday.

The Chronicle is becoming a six-day morning newspaper, Monday through Saturday.

Together they will publish the San Francisco Sunday Examiner and Chronicle, beginning Sept. 19, containing sections contributed by each.

A joint committee of 13 newspaper employe unions, which said it represented 4,000 employes on the dailies, said: "We do not know how many jobs will be lost. In some jurisdictions it appears the loss could be substantial."

20 New Scout Units Planned

Ouachita Valley Boy Scout Council officials announced Saturday commencement of an effort to organize a minimum of 20 new units in the council's Central District.

Called "Together We organize," the effort is aimed at making scouting available to every youth, eight to teens, in Ouachita and Caldwell Parish.

Surveys indicate there are 11,649 such youngsters, according to Together We Organize (TWO) Chairman Sam Walker Jr. of Monroe. Central District scouting presently is reaching only 1,469.

Highlight of the effort, employing the talents of Walker and 27 fellow organizers, including Co-Chairman Odis Russell, will be a special dinner, Oct. 12. It is hoped at least 20 new units — Boy Scout troops, Cub Scout packs and Explorer posts —will be organized.

The program is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Oliver Road, and representatives of "many" churches, civic clubs and other local organizations will be urged to attend. Contacted in the interim prior to the dinner, they will be asked to undertake sponsorship of units.

As vital to the growth of scouting in the Central District as the existence of units to absorb the boys expected to be joining, is the need for adult leadership, Walker points out.

Recruitment of adult volunteers will be a twin objective of TWO.

At the present time, the Central District — Ouachita and Caldwell — has only 55 adult volunteers — 16 working with 493 cubs, 37 and 928 scouts and four with the district's 48 explorers.

"We feel from past experience that the problem will not be in finding institutions to sponsor scouting, but the problem will be in finding leaders of these boys," Walker said.

He said the organizational drive would emphasize to as many adults as possible the "personal satisfaction and important service to the future of the country" of scouting.

"Every youngsters need to be taught decency, honesty and love of God and country," the chairman pointed out. "If you want to raise beautiful flowers, you've got to work at it: till the soil, fertilize, water, weed, spray, sweat and get on your knees and grub in the dirt.

"When the results appear, you soon forget the work and enjoy the beauty of what you helped to create.

"If you want weeds, set back and do nothing, and what a crop you'll raise," Walker said. "It's the same way with boys—there's no easy way to raise them."

He compared the hypothetical flower gardener with the scout leader in the capacity for encouraging worthwhile growth.

In the development of new units, the organizers will concentrate on Ouachita Parish, outside city limits, and all of Caldwell Parish.

The bulk of present unit strength is found in the Twin Cities area, officials report, with only five units in the Ouachita fringes, and a single unit in the entirety of Caldwell Parish.

Other volunteers working with Walker and Russell, and donating their time, each assigned to contract at least one prospective sponsor, are: Bob Trent, Jim Newburn, Frank Kirby, Frank McDermott, Tony Embanato, H. C. Haddox, Orrie White Jr., Norm Perry, Aubrey Phillips, John Bluck, Bob Sale, Bob Holmes, Merle Edwards, Bill Wilson, Lou Walters, Walter Halbert, Bob Hanna, Joe Smith, Humble Zeigler, Bob Szold, Earl Tarver, Orrie White Sr., J. W. Webster Sr., Hollis Fant, Hollis Green and Alex Lea.

Featured speaker at the TWO banquet will be the Rev. Raymond Watson, pastor of St. John's Christian Church, who will present an "inspirational message" prior to remarks by scout officials.

Attention during the drive will be called to the rewards of adult leadership by a series of photos and comments in the local newspaper. The leaders pictured will tell what scouting means to them.

Meanwhile representatives of organizations interested in sponsoring a unit in scouting, or persons desiring to learn how to participate in adult leadership in the program, were urged to contact Central District Scout Executive Fred Johnson at council headquarters, 1029 N. 6th St., Monroe.

One Of State's Oldest Fairs To Open In LaSalle

OLLA (Special) — The North Central Louisiana District Fair, one of the oldest in the state, will begin a six day run Monday at Olla.

The fair serves the five parished of LaSalle, Caldwell, Catahoula, Grant and Winn.

Features of the event will be midway attractions, commercial and school exhibits and individual entries in competition for ribbons and prizes.

A special event of the fair this year will be a halter class horse show Saturday, Sept. 18, at 2 p.m.

Highlights will include all judging events on Tuesday except livestock and flowers. Cut flowers and pot plant judging will be at 2 p.m. Thursday and swine judging will be held Friday.

Good Pine High School students will be dismissed to attend the fair on Thursday and all other schools in the LaSalle Parish will be dismissed on Friday, with similar schedules followed in Caldwell Parish.

The halter class horse show will feature quarter horses and appaloosas. They will be judged in five categories — stallions foaled in 1963 or 1964, mares foaled in 1963 or 1964, stallions foaled in 1962 or earlier, mares foaled in 1962 or earlier and geldings of all ages.

Governor Says Resources Of State Available

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen said Saturday that all of the resources of the state which could possibly be of any help to the city would be used if needed.

McKeithen made the statement following an inspection of the flooded sections here.

Specifically he said:

1. He had directed Maj. Gen. Erban Wise, adjutant general of the Louisiana National Guard, to transfer all field kitchens to New Orleans and other stricken areas to aid in feeding the refugees.

2. He will order state Highway Director Arsene Stewart to transfer all equipment that could be used for cleaning up the debris.

3. He will contact officials of all power companies and the telephone company operating in the state and "insist that all available in the entire country be rushed to the state" to help restore services to the area.

4. He is prepared to call out the entire National Guard if it is needed.

5. The state government will be prepared to do anything else that is possible, though direct financial grants would not be legal.

Plane Feared To Be Down In Philippine Isles

MANILA (UPI)—A twin-engine Filipinas Orient Airways plane with 10 persons aboard was feared to have crashed Saturday on a flight beween the central Philippine cities of Cebu and Bacolod.

Air and ground search parties began to look for the plane after the DC3 craft failed to arrive in Bacolod on scheduled on board the plane were the pilot, a co-pilot, stewardess and seven passengers.

The plane took off from Cebu City at 3:15 p.m., to begin its flight to Bacolod, on an island about 60 miles away. The plane had to fly over a strip of water about 15 miles wide.

Reports reaching Manila said the weather was bad in the area where theplane vanished.

George D. (Moon) Mullins, 54, of 4205 Harrison St., Monroe, died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. today at Memorial Methodist Church with the Rev. Ira W. Flowers officiating. Burial will be at Memorial Park Cemetery by Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Mr. Mullins, a Monroe resident for the last 13 years, was a native of Emerson, Ark. He dealt in real estate and was a farmer.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Tinora Evans Mullins of Monroe; a daughter, Miss Georgia Mullins, also of Monroe; his mother, Mrs. G. E. Mullins of Emerson, Ark.; a brother, Arvil B. Mullins of Temple, Tex.; and four sisters, Mrs. Craft Thompson of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. C. P. Hall Jr., of Overton, Tex., Mrs. Bill Kennedy of Haynesville, and Mrs. E. H. Almond of Kilgore, Tex.

Mrs. Shirley B. Davis of 611 Eason Place, Monroe, is attending a conference at the Home Office of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company in Boston, Massachusetts this week. Mrs. Davis is one of a group of agents from all parts of the country who are selected for their exceptional qualifications and is a member of the Charles E. Edwards Agency in Shreveport.

This conference, with key Home Office personnel participating, is designed to keep the John Hancock field personnel up to date on new trends in the life insurance business and within the Company.

Federal Aid Rushes Into Louisiana

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal agencies under direct command of President Johnson began speeding help Saturday to hurricane-stricken Louisiana.

Johnson, personally shocked by the scenes of suffering and devastation he saw on a flying trip to the state Friday, demanded and got reports from a number of agencies involved in the relief work.

The White House said the amount of federal help needed in the area hit by Hurricane Betsy would probably exceed the $2.5 million required last year to deal with damage caused by Hurricane Hilda.

In one action Saturday, Johnson approved a plan by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to have Air Force Reserve planes fly telephone equipment to New Orleans from Chicago, Indianapolis and Columbus, Ohio. The equipment is needed desperately to restore telephone service in the southern city where 200,000 phones were stilled.

Emergency supplies of food and other equipment were being dispatched by federal officials.

During the afternoon, Johnson received a report on numerous federal relief actions undertaken so far. Items from the report:

—The Algiers Naval Station near New Orleans was opened to evacuees; additional surplus foods remained available through the Agriculture Department and the Red Cross was opening additional shelters to relieve congestion in shelters now occupied.

—Buford Ellington, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, said water had been provided for thirsty evacuees in a New Orleans high school which Johnson visited Friday night.

—Lt. Gen. Robert W. Colglazier, commanding general of the 4th army, is moving into New Orleans to direct assistance by the military. Ft. Polk, La., is supplying rations, blankets, cots, medical supplies and water purification equipment.

—Engineer companies at Ft. Polk and Ft. Hood were ordered on a standby alert to provide assistance if needed.

"This nation grieves for its neighbors." Johnson said after his personal survey Friday.

He also ordered immediate action by government officials. Even while on the scene, he announced that troops from Ft. Polk had been ordered to the hurricane zone to help with rescue work and prevent looting.

Emergency housing and shelter were being set up by other federal agencies. The Veterans Administration suspended mortgage payments temporarily to help homeowners financially.

Johnson also conferred by phone with Gov. John McKeithen, pledging all-out help.

Activity Light On Police Beat In Twin Cities

Police activity was light in the Twin Cities Saturday.

West Monroe officers booked two with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. They were James L. Robeson, 25, of 509 Nichols Dr., West Monroe, apprehended at 2:30 a.m. on Trenton Street; and Henry B. White, 43, of Abilene, Tex., apprehended at 2:05 a.m. on Cypress Street.

Charged with DWI in Monroe was John A. Trophy, 33, of 3304 Gordon Ave., Monroe, apprehended at North Fourth and Pine Streets at 1 a.m.

Booked for negligent driving in Monroe were William Paunders Jr., 35, of Winnsboro, and William C. Causey, 23, of 320 Drew St., West Monroe.

Booked for theft in Monroe was Earl W. Johnson, 35, of 2B Louis Locke Homes, Monroe.

Begin Celebration

MONT - SAINT - MICHEL, France (AP) — France this weekend began a year-long celebration billed as the 1,000th anniversary of the famous abbey of this islet on the English Channel coast of Normandy.

The original abbey was founded in 708 A.D. by Aubert, Bishop of Avranches, but through the years and centuries it became a monastery-fortress-prison complex, and was made a national monument by Napoleon III.

Sponsors said the abbey part being commemorated was commissioned in 965 A.D. by Richard I of Normandy.

Betsy's Dying Throes Spent In Ohio Valley

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy spent its dying throes in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys Saturday, deluging both areas with torrential rains.

The storm left a major portion of Arkansas' three principal crops — rice, cotton and soybeans — flattened. It flooded fields in Arkansas, western Mississippi and western Tennessee with rains of up to five inches.

Arkansas counted four deaths from the storm — three of them in traffic accidents during heavy rains brought by Betsy. Mississippi reported one death, Tennessee none.

Betsy roared out of Louisiana into the southeastern section of Arkansas near hurricane force. Winds of up to 70 m.p.h. flattened crops and blew down utility lines. Rains flooded streets. State police issued hazardous driving warnings.

Gradually dying, the storm blew its northern course across the rich agricultural delta section of the state on the eve of the harvest season.

One official estimated that 75 to 80 per cent of the state's rice crop was flattened by winds, but he declined to estimate how much of the crop was ruined. Getting it out of the fields will depend on drainage conditions.

Farmers also feared that drenched cotton and soybeans may be blistered if a hot sun comes out following the storm. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted fair skies, but cool weather Sunday.

Memphis reported heavy damage to cotton crops in its area.

The Weather Bureau said that with heavy rains continuing along the storm's path, there may be some flooding.

At Little Rock, the bureau said streams would swell, but no serious flooding was expected.

ORLEANS (AP)—Pre- checks indicated Satur- vast offshore oil opera- ow the Louisiana coast rough Hurricane Bet- shing winds and surg- pretty much intact.

inspections showed the expensive rigs and ms—extending nearly 100 out into the Gulf of Mex- suffered little damage.

ne biggest casualty appeared be a $6 million drilling rig longing to the Zapata Off- hore Co. of Houston, Tex. This ig "appears to be gone," a company spokesman said.

The oil firms have a billion dollar investment in the offshore oil operations. Last year, these facilities were badly battered by Hurricane Hilda. Damages ran $200 million.

Operations were shut down Thursday before Betsy hit and all crews were sent ashore. The crews were preparing Saturday night to return.

Oil company officials used planes and helicopters Saturday to look over their offshore facilities.

Shell Oil Co. Division Manager W. C. Gordon said his firm suffered some minor damage to facilities at Lake Washington and at Empire.

He said Shell's rigs in the Gulf of Mexico were still standing. But he said he has reports "that tender-type rigs were driven onto the shore."

Gordon said he would be two or three days before any accurate estimate of damages could be made.

Harold R. Beattie, district manager for CATC (Continental, Atlantic, Tidewater and Citco), said all his firms offshore facilities seemed to be intact. Only minor damage had been noted, he said. Beattie said he hoped to get workers on the rigs today.

Governor Tours Flood Ravaged Areas In State

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Gov. John J. McKeithen, visibly shaken by the plight of refugees from the flood ravaged areas around New Orleans, ordered his aides to act at once Saturday to help the people.

"My God," he told local officials, "I didn't know you had a situation like this."

The governor flew here from Baton Rouge for an on-the-spot check of the wide area damaged by Hurricane Betsy's 120 mile an hour winds and swirling flood waters.

He was stunned by what he saw.

McKeithen promised the state would do everything possible to help victims of the huge storm.

He told local officials in New Orleans, St. Bernard, and Plaquemines parishes he was ready to call the National Guard to duty now to help them.

"All we need is 10 days of sunshine," McKeithen said. "If we can get this things will look a lot better then."

McKeithen began throwing a barrage of orders for instant action to aides.

"How many field kitchens can you get?" he asked Louisiana Adj. Gen. Erbon Wise.

"About five," replied the general.

"Get them here immediately. Get them here immediately, I mean right now," barked the governor.

"We're gonna help you," the governor told a group of evacuees at the New Orleans Army base.

"Mayor Victor Schiro is going to hire all the people who want to work to clean up this city and the federal government is going to pay for it," he said.

Lions To Start Light Bulb Sale

Members of the North Monroe Lions Club will initiate their 1965 door-to-door light bulb sale Monday, according to H. M. James, drive chairman. The money is used to support club community services.

Lions' projects include baseball teams, a Northeast Louisiana State College scholarship, a crippled children's camp in Leesville and others.

As in the past, the light bulbs will be sold at $2 per package of eight. All Lions were urged to participate, James said.

LEGACY of Poverty

Southeast Asia is a land of dazzling wealth and crushing poverty. However, for millions there, poverty is a thing without dimension or time. It begins at birth, ends at death, and is the legacy passed from father to son. Now the United States is hoping to help break the chain and convince Asians that the brightest future lies with the West.

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Jantan Bin Ismaili, a Malaysian railroad fitter; Sutomo, an Indonesian government worker, and the widow, Chang Yau Ping, who barely exists cleaning used cement bags in Hong Kong, have one thing in common. They are desperately poor.

Huynh Van Tet of Viet Nam, U Phoe Choe of Burma, Santiago Polo of the Philippines and Chao Oua of Laos are peasants also bound together, in different degrees, by the gray mortar of poverty.

They are the countless little people of Southeast Asia, a miasmically hot, shimmeringly beautiful region of the earth whose 222 million inhabitants today stand at the crossroads between communism and national independence.

Theirs are lives of quiet desperation whose only certainties are hunger, malnutrition, too many children, disease and death.

Prey On Misery

The Communists prey on their misery, tempting them with promises of more food, their own land, a better education for their children and surcease from the unending blight of sickness.

For this reason, the United States, while fighting a hold and clear operation against the Communists in Viet Nam, has set in motion a billion dollar Southeast Asian aid and development program it hopes will persuade the little people that their best bet for the future lies with individualism and free enterprise rather than regimentation and communism.

Southeast Asia is a vast area of land and ocean bounded on the north by the green islands of the Philippines and on the south by the coral reefs and rain jungles of the Indonesian archipelago.

Its inhabitants are a rich mixture of races, religions and political ideas.

Democracy thrives boisterously in the Philippines, sedately in Malaysia. A one man dictatorship runs Indonesia and Cambodia. Military men control Burma and South Viet Nam. A part of one country is colored red: North Viet Nam.

It is to prevent the red from suffusing all of Southeast Asia that the United States is expending her men, material and money.

The central problem the Americans face is that Southeast Asia got off the starting blocks in the race for industrialization 100 years later than Europe or the United States.

The hard fact is that after a century of supplying the raw materials for the furnaces, lathes and spinning machines of imperialism, Southeast Asia still is an almost totally agricultural area.

Indonesia, biggest of the Southeast Asia nations with 105 million people, has the thinnest veneer of industrialization. It has rich natural resources such as oil and rubber, which it has taken over from foreign companies. But a badly managed currency and economy, the strictures of President Sukarno's brand of socialism and inexperience, have throttled development. Even with important aid from the United States, the Soviet Union and Red China, industry has yet to get a real toe hold.

Viet Nam, the embattled country the United States proposed to help most, has a long way to go to become industrialized. Under the late President Ngo Dinh Diem, some progress in establishing light industries had been made and with American help power projects were undertaken. Railroads and roads were re-established. But the war has disrupted all this.

In the south, agriculture is the occupation of 85 per cent of the people. A total of 718 new industrial plants have been built in the past five years but most of these are essentially cottage industries. There are some moderately large textile and plastics factories and a variety of light industries such as bicycle assembly and electric appliance factories.

Many Farmers

In the Philippines 60 per cent of the people are farmers, many of them sharecroppers. Only 11 per cent of the labor force is engaged in manufacturing. The industrial growth rate can hardly keep up with a 3.2 annual increase in population.

Malaysia, one of the richest countries in the area with a per capita income of about $300 a year, gets its wealth mainly from the basic tin and rubber industries.

A $146 million campaign has begun to boost the average farm income from $20 a month to $100.

But much of the present industry is of the light variety.

Newly independent Singapore is expected to be the chief seat of heavy industrialization, with the area of Prai, opposite Penang Island in the federation, growing as an industrial site. Both Malaysia and Singapore are seeking foreign technical know how and investments.

Low Income

The Laotian per capita income is $70 a year and the divided little kingdom has no industry except a cigarette factory, an American licensed soft drink plant and a few sawmills. There is no industrial working class.

Fifty per cent of Cambodia is virgin forest and the main industries are timber, fishing and agriculture. The developing industries are textiles, paper and plywood.

Thailand's major industries are the tobacco monopoly, the railways and the power system — all government owned. Most other industries are of the assemblying or packing variety.

The country's per capita income is $90, with the average dropping to $60 per a year in the underdeveloped northeast provinces.

Industry has been neglected in Burma for the past three years as General Ne Win concentrated on agriculture. The country's 300 rice mills need new machinery and oil exploration, mining and home industries suffer from a shortage of investment.

The human side of the picture is even bleaker than the industrial.

The per capita income for most of the area is less than $100 a year. The high is Malaysia's $300. Endemic diseases are cholera, malaria, dysentery, tuberculosis, gastro enteritis, snail fever, influenza and hemorrhagic fever. The 20th century plague — the disease of the Middle Ages of Europe — periodically ravages Viet Nam.

Population is growing at an alarming rate and little attempt at birth control is made. The result is that humans are out stripping the food supply.

Malnutrition is common. Recently some 20,000 infants died in the Philippines partly from this blight.

Few Doctors

Doctors are scarce. There is one for a quarter million people in one sector of Viet Nam.

Educational opportunity for the poor is almost non - existent. Ignorance and resistance to change are the result. Another is gullibility, a proneness to accept Communist slogans without questioning their deeper meaning.

Sutomo, the Indonesian worker, lives with his wife and four children in a one room slum in Jakarta. He has no electricity or water and his monthly salary is 7,000 rupiahs, $1 on the black market.

He doesn't blame Sukarno for his woes. It is easier - and simplier - to shout himself hoarse in one of the many anti-American rallies sponsored by his union.

Santiago Polo, the 42 - year - old Filipino farmer, earns $400 a year, much higher than the national average of $131. But 50 per cent of his crop goes to an absentee landlord. He doesn't drink or gamble and smokes moderately. Each Holy Week as a flagellant he submits to whipping to fulfill a vow he made when he was sick. He attributes his good luck to all these virtues.

Jantan Bin Ismail, who has worked 22 years for the Malaysian railways as a fitter, gets $67 a month to feed a wife and 10 children. The government provided housing he inhabits is barely big enough to lie down in. He has seen one movie in five years.

Burmese farmer U Pho Choe, 53, tills 2 acres of land which yields him $330 a year to feed his wife, four children and an aunt.

Of all the little people of Southeast Asia, the widow of Chang Yau Ping of Hong Kong lives a life whose poverty and pain are the plane of Greek tragedy. At 65, she lives in a 65 square foot wooden hut without water or toilet facilities for her or the six other persons she supports by cleaning used paper cement bags.

Each day she trudges two hours up and down hill to get fresh water from a public hydrant. A 36 - year - old son, who used to be her chief support, is ill in a charity hospital with tuberculosis.

There are four grandchildren, ranging in age from one month to 10 years. All share the same bed.

The widow's income is $14 a month.

Chang Yau Ping lives out her life of squalor and hopelessness five minutes away from the epicurean restaurants of Hong Kong where more favored humans eat plump duck washed down with wine then go on to the ultra modern hotels for an evening of drink and dancing.

In more ways than one this contrast between the very rich and the very poor sums up the central drama of Southeast Asia, a region of dazzling wealth and crushing poverty.

"I hope," says the widow Chang with a tired sigh, "that God will help us."

WITH A WIFE and nine children and prices going up, Thao Qua, a middle class Laotian peasant, has to supplement the 150,000 kip ($300) a year income from his rice paddy. He earns $20 a month as a mechanic in the dry season. Here he repairs his plow in his home in the village of Ban Houa Khoua. The Laotian per capita income is $70 a year. It is to counter the appeal of Communism under such conditions that the U. S. is launching a billion dollar Southeast Asian aid program. (AP Newsfeatures Photos)

INDUSTRY is developing fast in the Philippines, but the population increase is at a higher rate, and 60 per cent of the people are farmers. The average income is $131 a year. Sharecropper Santiago Polo, seen here with his five-year-old twin sons, earns $400 a year, but half his crop goes to an absentee landlord. Polo is seen at his home 30 miles from Manila. In front of him are his plow, rope, and bolo (heavy knife).

BETTER OFF than most of Southeast Asia's 222 million people, Praphai Maisithong of Bangkok, Thailand, earns 950 baht ($47.50) a month. He is shown here at home with his wife and two of their five children. Rent is only $2.50 a month on the house supplied by the foreign oil company which owns the factory where Praphai is a machine operator. The company also pays school tuitions. Praphai supplements his income by selling fish he catches in Bangkok's canals.

FIVE MINUTES from Hong Kong's luxury restaurants and hotels, the widow Chang Yau Ping lives and works in poverty and hopelessness. At 65, she cleans used paper cement bags outside her tiny wood hut, where she lives with her son's wife and four children. On her earnings of HK $80 a month (U.S. $14), the widow Chang supports the family. The 36-year-old son is in a charity hospital with tuberculosis.

Top Draftman Optimistic About Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, who will be 72 years old Monday thinks young.

Not for him are the traditional old fogey complaints that American's young people aren't what they used to be.

Hershey has had the top hand in drafting more than 13 million young men for military service, an experience qualifying him for comment on what to expect from youth. He put his feelings this way in a pre-birthday interview:

"I do not agree with those who say our kids are different than those of past years, except of course they lead a different sort of life.

"I believe kids will respond about as they always did. They have the capacity to do right if well led."

Long Service

Hershey, now a lieutenant general, has headed a federal agency longer than any other man except FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. The general figures he has put in more than 54 years of government service altogether, since his military career began.

He has no plans to retire. He retired from the Army Dec. 31, 1946 and was ordered back to active duty effective the next day. His status is unusual, if not unique. The 70 year retirement rule that applies to civilians in government service does not apply to him.

Right now Hershey is busy with plans for his Selective Service System to provide what ever additional manpower the nation may need in its current and potential crises.

Calls Increased

President Lyndon B. Johnson has announced that draft calls would be increased to about 35,000 a month, nearly six times what they were in 1963, to help meet the demands growing from the war in Viet Nam.

Hershey said the system wouldn't have any trouble doing what Johnson asked. For the foreseeable future, he added:

"I am convinced we need the draft and will continue it. Look at the world. The world is in revolt. We can't get along without some compulsion for service."

Today's increased reliance on the draft has centered new interest on the Selective Service System, and on the qualities of modern youth.

Hershey, asked to discuss these points, noted that it was difficult to compare one generation with another — like trying to answer the question of whether an old time prize fighter could whip a modern one.

But, he said, "Fundamentally, I'm an optimist" and he accordingly believes today's youth will measure up, when called on.

He contrasted the quiet back water life of his youth in Indiana with that of his grandchildren. These range in age from 8 to 20 years. Some of them have lived in as many as four states and one has crossed the Atlantic by air and by ship. . .

"They have all been more places than I'd been when I was 25, or maybe even 40," Hershey continued. "I was a college basketball player when I first ate in a dining car on a train. I was 23 years old and a National Guard officer on the way to the Mexican border when I first was inside a Pullman sleeping car.

"How can you compare my approach to things with theirs?

"The kids today are softer when they are young but develop later, while the pioneer had to develop early."

He added: "Maybe I'm reading the signs wrong, but I believe the story is going to be of the government more and more taking control of training of people. Somehow or other we are going to have to move more and more toward giving proper training to our youth.

Difficulties

"The schools have had trouble trying to teach control—trying to teach a person so that he can become a member of society and be a minimum care of the police, sheriff, and so forth."

Hershey said he sees no current need for any change in the deferment policies in order to meet the anticipated draft calls. But he thinks the groundwork should be laid now regarding how to tighten deferments.

Local draft boards throughout the country have been instructed to review the records of all married men classified as 1A and bring them up to date.

Should any within the ages of 19 and 26 be found no longer to be married, they face action by their local boards. Should any be found to have become fathers they are to be given deferments even though they may not have previously notified their boards.

In another action, President Johnson signed an order that men between the ages of 19 and 26 who marry after midnight Aug. 26 will be subject to the draft on the same basis as single men.

The local boards also have been reminded that they have authority to seek transcripts of the school records of all students holding deferments to ascertain if the youths are carrying on their education in a manner satisfactory to the local board. Indications are that many local boards which have been granting deferments to part time students may discontinue the practice.

Research Institute

Few projects in the history of Louisiana have ever received more general moral support or less opposition than the Gulf South Research Institute for which funds are now being raised. Much of Louisiana's future prosperity may depend on the potentialities developed through this institute.

As pointed out in articles carried in the newspapers here, nature has been extraordinarily kind and, in some instances lavish, with the state of Louisiana.

On a per square mile basis, few, if any, other areas of the world of a comparable size have been so richly endowed with such a wide variety of natural resources.

A super - abundance of natural resources, with no other organization perfected for bringing their potentialities to full reality, means that the Gulf South Research Center can fill a wide gap that has long existed and, undoubtedly, can bring this state's economic positive to ever-higher levels well into the next century, despite predictions of a doubled population not only in Louisiana but in the nation as a whole before this century ends.

In this state, there are vast deposits of mineral wealth, a great variety of rich, productive soils and numerous sources of large quantities of usable water.

Originally, Louisiana was largely agricultural and it was a project somewhat similar in nature to the proposed research center that agriculture developed a mighty rate. Louisiana agricultural agents, partly supported by the federal government, in what was then a non - political farm development program taught the farmers the science of farming, making it possible for them to produce vastly greater crops on less land.

Now, manufacturing has become the leading industry in the state and great strides have been made in developing various industries, it is believed that a research center could do for industry and manufacturing what agricultural science did for farming. In accomplishing this, it will open huge new outlets for the uses of farm and forest products.

Crude petroleum is the most important among Louisiana's mineral reserves. Although enormous quantities of crude oil have been extracted, the state's proven reserves today are higher than ever. Louisiana has 16.2 per cent of the United States' proven crude oil reserves and ranks second only to Texas.

Louisiana is also second only to Texas in total proven natural gas reserves. These two states have more than 65 per cent of the nation's proven reserve.

On the basis of proven petroleum reserves per square mile, Louisiana ranks first in the nation.

Proven reserves of sulphur in the state alone are sufficient to support the needs of the entire United States in the foreseeable future.

This state has proven reserves of sand and gravel in quantities sufficient to justify excavation. Limited quantities of clays, iron ore and other minerals also are found.

Fifty - one per cent of the land area of Louisiana is devoted to use as commercial forests and the state ranks in the top 10 in the nation in standing live saw-timber, and ranks second in the South.

It is also one of the leading agricultural states, with 33 per cent of its total land area in farms. High productivity of this land is indicated by the high average value of $171 an acre. Only three other Southern states have a higher average land value per acre.

With all these great natural resources, Louisiana has barely scratched its full potential along many lines. The abundance of natural resources no longer guarantees economic prosperity.

Full use of the state's human talents and abilities is needed to keep Louisiana abreast of the revolution in science that has occurred in the last decade and to assure the state of its share in the future of the nation.

It was determined that the pressing need for adequate solutions to Louisiana's economic problems requires that government, industry and education combine their efforts and strength to advance the best qualities of the state.

After extensive study, it was decided the best solution would be a science - economics research institute in Louisiana. This establishment would be devoted to the development and growth of the state.

As the first giant step, the Gulf South Research Institute was chartered in May 1964 under the trusteeship of about 100 leaders in the fields of business, industry, education and labor. The institute is a private, non - profit organization.

A total of $3,510,000 for the 1964-66 biennium was appropriated by the legislature for the Louisiana State Science Foundation to begin the research program. The legislature anticipates these funds will be spent in the following manner:

1. $725,000 for contract research on behalf of the state.
2. $1,250,000 for construction and equipment of a building which would be leased by the foundation to the Gulf South Research Institute.
3. $1,500,000 for investment in bonds of the G. S. R. I. to provide the institute with working capital and funds to meet start-up costs.
4. $35,000 for operating expenses of the Foundation.

The Twin Cities and the Fifth Congressional District have the opportunity to participate in this vital proposal and thus provide its share in promoting the future of Louisiana. Business leaders of this area are joining with the rest of the state to raise $1 million for the institute. The goal set for this district is $105,000.

Local and area businesses are being invited to pledge gifts to the institute over a three-year period.

The institute has been endorsed by Governor John J. McKeithen. State business and industry has been asked to contribute the $1 million additional in private capital.

Opportunities for making greater use of Louisiana's vast natural resources are unlimited — and the Gulf South Research Institute can play a mighty part by showing the way. It deserves fullest support.

Until 'The Snow Falls'

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has declared that if President Johnson insists on bringing to a vote the proposed repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley labor law this year the present session of Congress will not end with a bang in the fall but with a whimper when "the snow falls." We hope the fiery, energetic minority leader is right and that when the snow does fall the nation's "right-to-work" laws will still be on the books.

At the White House, Bill D. Moyers, President Johnson's press secretary, said Johnson's position favoring repeal of 14(b) was unchanged.

During the time Johnson served in the United States Senate he was opposed to repeal of Section 14(b), taking the position that every free man in the United States has the right to decide whether or not he wants to join a union. If Section 14(b), which permits states to enact laws prohibiting forced unionism, were repealed, all those who refused to join the union in union shops would lose their jobs and their right to work.

Johnson is bound by a proposal to the unions to back repeal to the limit, but his true convictions still probably are against repeal.

Two School Systems

West Monroe, La.
To The Editors:

Thanks for your fairness in news coverage of the two School Systems in Ouachita Parish. Your generous paper is placing the issue before the people and giving both sides an opportunity to speak their minds.

Mr. Editor, I was in the meeting of the West Monroe Board of Directors when President Bert Hatten asked for the committee to make a study of the two educational systems of the parish. Then I heard him make statements later in meetings that greatly impressed me.

The substance of Mr. Hatten's statements went something like this - We believe there should be a thorough study and survey made of the two systems. The facts should be found and brought before the people, and the citizens of the parish will be willing to make whatever changes should be made.

He further stated, we did not and must not deal in personalities, ugly name calling or mud slinging. Too much of this has gone on in the past by people on both sides, and now let's stick to facts and figures.

Ralph Reed, now president of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce has urged we follow the precedent set by Mr. Hatten.

I agree with statements made, Supt. of Parish Schools Mr. Hall and Supt. of City Schools Mr. Van Odom are qualified and capable men for their jobs. They are some of the best in the world.

But you can limit and shackle the talents of the best of men by giving them serious problems to deal with. This dual School System in Ouachita Parish is the most un - democratic setup I have ever known a parish to have.

One dear Brother said some people in Monroe own property out of Monroe, in the parish, and pay taxes on it. Yes, some West Monroe people own property in Monroe and pay taxes on it, therefore we should have some Board Members on the City School System Of Monroe.

The facts are - not any property in Monroe is assessed for the Parish School Sytsems. They pay their assessments to the City School System, yet they have eight men on the Parish School Board.

Ouachita Parish outside of Monroe has floated millions of dollars in bonds. Future generations outside of Monroe will have to pay these bonds along with the present generation. Yet we have eight men living in Monroe helping call the plays to spend these millions.

Mr. Editor, I appreciate the fine people across the river in Monroe, but right is right and wrong is wrong. I know it is not right to have members from Monroe on the Parish School Board.

American Democracy

Baton Rouge, La.
To the Editor:

It was reported over the air from Washington Sunday morning, August 29, 1965, that a newspaper was shown President Johnson at about 6:00 o'clock in the morning in which appeared the statement of an American soldier that had been captured by the North Vietnamese but had in some manner escaped from prison and found his way back to his home in Fort Worth, Texas. He was quoted as saying that anyone criticizing the administration of Johnson because he had sent American troops to Southeast Asia was giving support and comfort to our enemies and that Johnson shed tears over the statement of the young soldier.

It is unlikely that Johnson had shed tears at all unless they were crocodile tears for he is too icily cold to be affected by sentiment considering how he had manipulated the federal government to secure dictatorial powers. It is unthinkable that he has any spot so soft as to cause him to weep.

An English critic of Napoleon Bonaparte said in the House of Parliament that Napoleon worshipped no god but ambition. In our opinion we place Lyndon Baines Johnson in the same category. He is the purest example of a man driven by ambition and a sense of his own ego and that stands out like Pike's Peak on the horizon.

At the beginning of World War I, Lord Grey, the ambassador to Germany, was in conference with the German Premier Bethmann-Holweg. Lord Grey called attention to the fact that England, France, and Germany had signed a treaty to respect the integrity of Belgium and that on account of this treaty, Belgium had no army and no weapons. She was helpless and to violate a country so helpless would be inhumane. Holweg said a treaty is a scrap of paper and dropped a piece of paper in the waste basket to emphasize what he meant. This breach of the plighted faith of a nation shocked the entire world, and demonstrated how base a country could be. The government at Washington has torn the Constitution to shreds. We have as callous a government as the Germany that violated the treaty. The government at Washington has not kept faith with the American people. The Civil War ended an argument over whether a state could withdraw from the Union but the authorities of that day intended to preserve the American democracy. The present government at Washington does not respect any right at all but only its will to use power as needed. We, therefore, stand before the world with a government that does not keep faith with any principle but one guided only by the selfish will of a ruler.

Until the present time, America has stood for the ultimate in democracy of the modern world and if, a change should not soon occur, "the world's best hope" for the triumph of democracy will fade into history.

Anti-Poverty

West Monroe, La.
To the Editor:

Watching TV August 20 I heard President Johnson speaking about riots in Los Angeles. He said that it could not be "Civil Rights" and sarcastically called attention to the Ku Klux Klan with their robes and hoods on their heads.

I don't belong to K.K.K. but could anything be more devasting to the country than NAACP, CORE or Martin Luther King's "Christian Leadership Conference?" I ask a question — who has ever heard of a Christian movement of any kind that caused so much evil as what King is doing. He goes in an area and sets the bomb to explode at a given time then he leaves — but he always returns to make peace. Peace, did I say? That reminds me of the scripture that says "Sweet and bitter water cannot come from the same fountain." He has attached "Reverend" to his name, but (quoting from Councilor) he told a group in Chicago Jesus and his early disciples lied when they said Jesus was born of a virgin. Is it possible for a wee bit of a Christian to tell such an untruth.

When I see Mr. Johnson and Martin L. King on TV, I wonder if they're trying to win a beauty contest or maybe a popularity contest. I could be mistaken — could be a fool's contest — which one can fool the people the most.

The anti-poverty programs in parts of Tennessee seem to have the wrong effect. On the first day of school where my grandchildren attend, the teacher asked all children whose dads were working to bring money to buy the poor children boots. The story is the poor kids' dads were receiving anti-poverty money.

My son-in-law who is working on construction of a turnpike says when the night shift comes home the main street is so full of staggering and driving drunks that they could hardly get home. But these workers and thousands of others, pay taxes of all kinds to send to Washington to give to the "have-nots" so they can stay in beer joints day and night.

Anti-poverty is a crime program — a disgrace to man and God. Mr. Johnson should be reminded that "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." (Gal. 6:7)

God is a God of peace, love, happiness and would never create hate between countries, nations and people.

The old adage is "You kill my dog, I kill your cat," when a leader of a country, state or city produces a law for revenge that says "because you don't agree with me I'll put you in a squeeze that you will always remember."

"Vengeance is mine saith the Lord."

A story I've heard goes like this — "A mule that kicks in Texas will kick in Louisiana;' People — good, honest, blue blooded Americans better beware of those that create trouble.

Can it be possible for a person to speak of prayer when every day there is killing, beating and hatred. And, who stands at the head of the class?

Work On Holidays

West Monroe, La.
To the Editor:

For some time now I have been made aware of the vast number of people who have to work on holidays.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to this vast force of people who have to work on holidays so that you and I may have more life and enjoyment.

If you were to just sit down and think of all the people that you personally come in contact with who have to work on holidays, this list would be enormous.

This list would consist of doctors, nurses, hospital personnel, firemen, policemen, newpaper-personnel, Olin Mathieson personnel, Commercial Solvents personnel, certain postmen, pharmacists, restaurants, telephone personnel, Louisiana Power and Light personnel, Tennessee Gas Transmission personnel, transportation personnel, service station personnel.

This I am sure is just a small cross-section of people who have to work on holidays. These people have to work for you and me. The next time you have a holiday such as Christmas or Thanksgiving pause for a moment and think of what you are doing and the people that, who, I am sure, would like to be right where you are enjoying Christmas and or Thanksgiving with your family.

Gronouski Shift Reason Is Given

The Post Office Department is not regarded here as much of a source of news. Its public relations specialists try hard enough, but even the ZIP code which most letter conscious people found hard enough to understand in the beginning, soon became just a string of numerals.

Complaints about postal service are so routine that the President of the United States seldom pays any attention to them. Most Presidents leave their Postmasters General to carry the load, including the use of post office appointments as political patronage.

That stirs up trouble occasionally, usually when a postmaster is fired in a city where he is a leading citizen. The politically adroit Postmaster General usually handles the matter of riddance without undue clamor, and sometimes the change is made in routine fashion.

Observers here were not surprised when President Johnson moved Postmaster General John Gronouski to the diplomatic service as ambassador to Poland, but they had not expected that he would move Lawrence F. O'Brien one of his most valued White House staff members into the Postmaster Generalship. O'Brien's political experience made nim a logical choice, but the question asked was why the change was made before the end of the year, inasmuch as the Massachusetts Democrat was giving indispensable help in keeping members of Congress in line on the President's legislative program.

Since the President expects his directions to be obeyed, the Gronouski - O'Brien shifts became more clear when it became known that Gronouski, who supposedly had no particular political bent, had OKed the appointment to post office summer jobs in several States of youths handpicked by Senators and House members.

The jobs paid $2.29 an hour, and the President had intended they should go to economically and educationally disadvantaged youths, under the President's Youth Opportunity campaign. Although the U.S. Civil Service Commission had followed up the Johnson directive, the Post Office Department under Gronouski had distributed at least 3500 of 8600 jobs as congressional patronage.

The failure to abide by the White House directive was revealed after Gronouski had been moved out of the post office job, and his efforts to explain his course displayed his lack of political shrewdness, as well as understanding of the President's intentions to help boys who lacked political backing.

Under O'Brien, there is expectation that every effort will be made to help Democratic members of Congress in the 1966 campaign, but the opportunity for post office patronage is limited, as O'Brien knows. Postmasters are under civil service, and while politics figures in their appointments, they cannot be removed except for cause. In the first year of the Kennedy Administration, but 70 of 35,000 postmasters were removed.

Though Democratic Congressmen frequently press for removal of postmasters appointed under the previous Republican Administration, it is unlikely that O'Brien will employ any hatchet tactics to provide vacancies for patronages purposes. The unfavorable publicity which that would provoke would hardly be worth any political advantage which might accrue.

O'Brien undoubtedly recalls that the old system of removing postmasters for political purposes, and replacing them with Democratic politicians, reached a climax in the first Cleveland administration, when the assistant postmaster general was known as "the Headsman." His name was Adlai Stevenson, and his late grandson was twice the Democratic nominee for President of the United States, who exhibited an idealism his grandsire lacked.

ZIP mail, intended to speed deliveries locally and over long distances, involves a succession of numerals, each of which stands for one step in the delivery process so that trained postal employees may follow through at top speed, using automated machines, to eliminate much of the delay caused by poor handwriting, mistaken addresses, transfers between offices and slow delivery service.

Congressmen are more interested in free mailing privileges than ZIP mail, and Representatives are keener about them than Senators. A few years ago, in fact the Senate and House fought bitterly over the issue, with the Senate demanding that free mailing privileges be curtailed, while House members, all of whom were running for office that year and wanted to reach their constituents without mail costs, held up important bills and attacked the Senate for its refusal to go along.

Finally the House tacked the free mail authorization onto an appropriation bill and adjourned for the year. The Senate had to concur. The next year the Senate again blocked the free mail provision for months but finally the House won out. Since then the free mail challenge has not been repeated.

So a postmaster general has other problems besides politics.

Physician Lists Coronary Axioms

IT HAS BEEN quite some time since I have talked about coronary disease. I think the reason is that it is a compensatory reaction to the many weeks I have filled columns in discussing coronary disease to the apparent exclusion of everything else. But some readers are becoming restive at my apparent lack of interest in Killer No. 1.

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Don't you think coronary trouble is important anymore? You haven't written about it in weeks. I'll guess there's hardly a family among your readers which isn't involved directly or indirectly with someone who has had a coronary attack. How about it? At least say Boo. — Mr. D.

Comment: I'll say Boo. But not Boo Hoo. I won't cry about it. Nevertheless I'll agree.

As you say, it is important enough to discuss quite frequently. In fact, I'll probably be so interested in writing future columns on coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris that readers' letters will soon be alerting me to the fact that all I do is discuss coronary problems. However, as of now, suppose we do with a few axioms.

As in any other serious illness, earliest possible diagnosis is imperative. In most cases electrocardiograms alert us to the danger. But even when these are negative in the early stages of a coronary thrombosis attack, proper history, physical examination and consideration of symptoms are often sufficient.

Electrocardiograms may be negative in a patient who has angina pectoris.

The severe chest pain is not always present during an attack of coronary thrombosis. It is for this reason that what passes for the discomfort of indigestion often masks an attack.

A FEW WEEKS of complete rest is imperative after the attack. Whether "blood - thinner drugs" be used in treatment will depend upon the severity of the attack and other factors which the physician will sift and weigh.

Coronary thrombosis is a serious illness but many patients have survived more than one attack and have lived as long as 20 years after the original seizure.

If patients are not left with complications like congestive heart failure or frequent attacks of angina pectoris, they may usually return to work and live lives filled with pleasure and fulfillment.

Enough about coronary disease for one day. If you'd like more information, send for my booklet, "22 Ways to Prevent and Treat Coronary Disease." Write to me at this newspaper enclosing 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: What is meant by "walking pneumonia?" Can a person have it without many symptoms and still be seriously ill?—Mrs. S.

Comment: A simple way to put it is that walking penumonia is undiagnosed pneumonia. The patient, unaware he has it, keeps on his feet.

Pneumonia may occasionally be overlooked in the very young and in the very old. Careful examination and X rays clinch the diagnosis. This is one good reason why any cold or severe infection which "hangs on" should be suspect. In some cases an elderly patient may have little or no fever and still have pneumonia.

Dr. Steincrohn is sorry he cannot answer readers' letters. Nevertheless, all questions of general interest are answered in later columns.

Editor's LAGNIAPPE

With Jack Gates

Dangerous thought — A brave husband described his wife as a woman with a Sunday School face and a Saturday night spirit . . .

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Major Whitlow, head of the Monroe police department's traffic bureau, gave out a number of interesting facts the past week in a speech before the Monroe Lion's Club.

For example an average of 3,000 automobiles pass through the Sterlington Road - Highway 80 intersection in Monroe every hour, he said, just in case you didn't realize how heavy the traffic was on Louisville.

During the same period of time, 1800 cars travel through the Louisville and 18th street intersection.

And, just for good measure, Louisville is one of the heaviest, if not the heaviest, traveled street of any city in the state.

The major, who incidentally is an interesting and entertaining speaker, came up with this gem:

Seems a husband became so angry when his wife came home with a fender bent on the couple's new car he wouldn't even give her a chance to explain how it happened. Every time she tried to say anything, he would cut her off with a piece of his own mind.

Finally, when he ran out of words, the wife was so dumbfounded she couldn't say a word. Then the man walked out to his car, looked at the bent fender, thought about how he had silenced his wife, and said to the damaged car: "Maybe it was worth it."

SUNDAY POEM

I never knew a night so black,
Light failed to follow on its track.
I never knew a storm so gray
It failed to have its clearing way.
I never knew such bleak despair
That there was not a rift, somewhere.
I never knew an hour so drear,
Love could not fill it full of cheer.

TWIN CITIES POLITICS

With several elections scheduled in the Twin Cities within the next year, politics is beginning to crop up in many gatherings.

Scheduled for attention will be the Monroe City Judge race, the Ouachita Parish District Attorney's election and the West Monroe City elections — all next spring and summer.

Monroe City Judge William Harper who will be 73½ years old when his term expires December 31, 1966, will not run for reelection. He pointed out that he would have to step aside when he reached the age of 75, which would be June 26, 1968, in the event he was reelected.

"I feel that I cannot ask the people to reelect me to an office in which I could only serve a year and a half," he said. "So for this reason alone I will not seek reelection."

Although only one person has indicated he plans to seek the office — and that is Attorney Bill Crow — a number of candidates are anticipated before the qualifying deadline passes.

So far the only candidate in the district attorney's race, which will come off next August, is Incumbent Albin Lassiter. A couple of other names have been mentioned around town, but odds are they won't enter. If opposition does materialize, it could develop into an interesting race, with the major issues already decided on for the campaign.

Across the river, the West Monroe City election, which will include a race for mayor and five aldermen, among others, should provide a lot of candidates and a lot of fireworks.

Bert Hatten, West Monroe insurance man, already has indicated he will be a candidate for mayor. A number of others, including City Clerk Harold Hill, have indicated interest. At last report, Mayor Allan Norris has not indicated if he will be a candidate for reelection.

POVERTY WASTE

Talking of waste in the Great Society's so-called poverty program, we are told that it is conceivable that a man with a home, four children and making $10,000 a year could actually participate in the program. It is possible, it was said, that the children could draw as much as $160 per week among them from the plan, adding that much to family finances.

FROM Kate Meador of Olla, we have this short verse called "Our Three Selves:"

We have three selves:
The one we would like to be,
The one others see,
The one our Creator knows as we,
These all taken together,
Make one personality.

WEEKLY NOTES

THIS HAPPENED at a recent board meeting of a business concern. As the auditor droned on in a lengthy recitation of minor budget discrepancies, one member impatiently broke in: "Since time is at a premium, I suggest we ignore the small errors and sweep swiftly on to the grand fallacy."

A DOOR in a government building in Washington bears this inscription: "4156. General Services Administration, Region 3. Public Building Service, management division, Utility Room, Custodial." Behind the door is a broom closet.

THE THEME of the 1965 conference of the East Coast Homophile Organization is "The Homosexual Citizen in the Great Society."

THE PUBLIC relations chief for the Association of American Railroads, in his travels back and forth across the U.S. making speeches and promoting the railroads, always goes by plane. His explanation: "Since railroads lose money on every passenger I've decided to fly and not complicate things."

AIN'T IT SO — Picketing the White House has now become such an established business that pickets are now carrying lightweight durable metal frames to which their protest signs are attached by string so they can easily be replaced when one cause gives away to another. . .

DRAFT CONTROL

Memo to the young — If you didn't make it to the Las Vegas wedding bureau last month in time to beat the draft deadline for married men, you still have one sure out. A man married after the August 26 deadline will be deferred indefinitely if he can provide his draft board with a physician's certificate that his wife is pregnant, even though the child has not yet been born.

Incidentally, officials say President Johnson sowed unnecessary confusion at home and damaged prestige abroad with his handling of the announcement that new husbands face the draft. Red-faced administration officials now admit privately that the executive order should have been made retroactive to spare the world the sight of American youths queuing up at the Las Vegas marriage bureau to beat the draft.

It seems Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey tried to repair the damage — and only created new confusion — when he suggested a few days later that local boards may soon have to call up all available childless married men in the 19-26 age group, regardless of when they got married. Other officials say it will be some time before the boards exhaust their growing pool of single men down through age 19.

DOUBLE STANDARDS

The irony of life . . .

When it approved the 1964 Civil Rights Act, Congress outlawed discrimination in employment because of color race, religion, and sex. It is ironic, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, that after banning so many grounds for discrimination a majority of the members of the House have approved discrimination based on non - union membership. They, of course, accomplished this when they voted 221 to 203 to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, the section which permits state right-to-work laws. These laws forbid discrimination because of non-union membership.

The only reason we can see is that President Johnson wanted it that way.

NOTE TO DRIVERS

The American Insurance Institute emphasizes with figures there is something, after all, in the old saying that speed kills. Your chances of survival in automobile accident drop off quickly the harder you step on the accelerator.

It points out that at 25 m.p.h. you have only one chance in 167 of dying; at 45 m.p.h. you have one chance in 67; at 75, one in eight; over 80 practically no chance of survival if you crash.

FOR DROPOUTS

"Long Lines," an employe publication of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., reports an engineering newsletter containing the following help wanted ad: "Wanted: Man to work on nuclear fissionable isotope molecular reactive counters and three-phase cyclotronic uranium photo-synthesizers. No experience necessary."

Broad - shouldered, brawling and unladylike as she was, it was plainly bad-tempered Betsy that became last week's prima donna of the printed page.

The season's second gulf-spawned hurricane and the first such high-powered visitor to the Twin Cities since her equally uninhibited sister — tempestuous, homicidal Audrey — came a-calling in mid - summer of 1957, Betsy was, as the worldly - wise say, a Lulu.

TYLER

Of course, to the quaking satisfaction of this observer, the full force of her predicted violence never materialized in northeast Louisiana. But even the angry howls of fast-dwindling fury emitted in a brushing passage proved awesome enough a display of the power inherent in elements unbridled.

At a second peak of destructive capability, after cutting a bloody swath across the Florida peninsula, Betsy drew her fill of warm gulf air and other natural propellants and veered inland, attacking Louisiana, on Thursday. From there the tangled path to the Twin Cities, discernible in the scrap of twisted wreckage, fallen foliage and uprooted human lives, was top news nationwide.

The wind was rising and rain falling in Monroe by 1 a.m. Friday, with anxious locals huddled over battery-operated radio sets, awaiting and map-tracing what appeared to be the worst. Some sources forecast wind billows of 75 to 80 m.p.h. — several hundred miles inland and still representative of hurricanic maturity.

The maximum blasts, when they slammed home around 8 a.m. registered 61 m.p.h. — sufficient, amid several inches of driving rain, to snap branches the size of a man's body, physically lift shed roofs and fling shingles like rifle shots.

Flooding, power failures and fallen utility lines were a commonplace, though public crews worked with heroic zeal. Nearly every thoroughfare remained open throughout the stress, and by nightfall an uneasy normalcy reigned, despite Betsy's backwash which continued to rattle branches and worry windows with thumping puffs of wind.

In passing to subjects more varied in appeal, we should note, with Uncle Remus, that it is, indeed, an uncommonly ill wind that blows no good. Even Betsy, best known in the masque of Hyde, had her humane, almost inspirational aspects.

Farmers, not the cotton and corn growers, found worth in her role as bearer of needed rain, but it was as a common nemesis, welding intelligent humanity in its own defense, that the value was most apparent. Friday morning saw a massive meeting of civil defense, law enforcement, fire department, civic, fraternal, National Guard, education and charitable agency officials at Red Cross headquarters, each pledging his best in help to meet the storm's fury, to aid and care for its refugees.

Nine shelters and emergency centers were established, while other havens were thrown open to travellers and special communications networks plotted in a practical pre-mobilization of manpower and material.

Briefly, the Twin Cities were better looked-after than many residents realized, in addition to which the time could come when the teamwork training gained will stand the area in good stead.

Other Storms

Barring Betsy's advent and prior to it, the week already had produced other storms worth mentioning — storms of controversy, disagreement and disputation, any adequately detailed account of which would fill several times over the allotted space.

The squall line of commentary on Ouachita Parish's dual school system, for example, lingered in the area. Dual taxation entered the picture, bringing with it apparently at least partial refutation of charges brought the week before in a critical West Monroe Chamber of Commerce "special report."

The disclosure was made that 1,314 Monroe taxpayers pay parish school taxes amounting to $55,685.76. The Chamber study had deplored the situation on the parish school board of eight Monroyans, maintaining that the parish bill was footed by dwellers outside city limits.

Chamber spokesmen said the referred taxpayers were recent annexees into Monroe, who bear payments to both school systems, noting at the same time that it was "unfortunate we did not include mention of their problem in our report." A little later, the organization expressed appreciation for the "widespread favorable public response" to the report, and passed a resolution commending Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe for his support.

High velocity discussions during the week also included that at the Ouachita board meeting, when members finally went along with a parents delegation and restored bus service to the Calhoun and West Monroe High Schools to former patterns. A boundary approved two weeks before was rescinded. It would have provided transportation for some 30 West Monroe students only to Calhoun High.

Several issues came to a head, according to participants — among them facilities at Calhoun and "allowing citizens to run the board."

Not so stormy was the City School Board meeting the same Tuesday. Three promotions were announced — B. A. Petterson, from administrative assistant to Supt. Van D Odom to assistant superintendent; Sidney Seegers from Neville High principal to director of testing, guidance and curriculum; and Jerald Lee, from Neville teacher to principal.

Storms or the threat of other natural calamities that might push the Ouachita River out of her banks were uppermost in mind, meanwhile, at meetings Wednesday of federal, state and local officials considering the floodwall gap at Monroe. A brains-trust of top men from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers outlined two alternative proposals for plugging the gap along South Grand at gatherings hosted by the Tensas Basin Levee Board, which would share costs with the federal government in the project. Next step, at this point, depends largely on congressional action.

Changes Of Pace

Of what pretentiously wordy columnists call changes of pace, there were three last week. We'll begin with same and end this Sunday's conversation with the usual rapid-fire sampler of events at large. In this manner:

The change of pace at Tuesday's Monroe City Council meeting to hear protests against street assessments was downright radical. There were no protests. "It's not like some we've had," commented Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez resignedly.

Probably radically changed too was the pace of the Southern Airlines pilot who reported on arriving in Monroe that his plane had been fired on Monday night near Greenville, Miss. And with no ordinary bullets. Tracers were whizzing around his craft, he reported.

Our final item of rare interest takes the form of congratulations to one Dee Strickland, 17, of Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee A. Strickland. As the dummy who could never finish that toy bunny in sandbox class, it chagrins us to report that young Dee built his own harpsichord.

Swimming for shore now, here are the other items promised:

Two organizations last week endorsed the coming vote on expansion of the Ouachita courthouse — being the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce and the Ouachita Parish Bar Association. Likewise two went on record favoring rural fire protection — the selfsame bar group and the board of the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau. Both issues will be settled Sept. 28 and energetic backers, fulfilling numerous speaking engagements, continue available to appear before any interested body.

In another vote, residents in Ouachita's ward seven balloted themselves convincingly dry. Totals on all three propositions in the liquor referendum were heavily weighted against the sale of beer or whiskey.

Northeast Louisiana Shriners announced their recurring sponsorship of the annual circus, set for Tuesday and Wednesday, two performances each day.

Teachers in the Ouachita Parish system held their yearly Professional Day program Saturday at Sterlington High School. A highlight was the presentation by Supt. Milton C. Hall of a Freedoms Foundation Classroom Teacher Award to Mrs. Helen LeFevre, American history instructor at West Monroe High School.

The Fifth District's bureaucracy - hating U.S. Rep. Otto E. Passman denied persistent rumors he might resign his congressional seat.

The Monroe League of Women Voters began a survey to determine the number of local eligible but unregistered voters, and issued an appeal for help in conducting the study. Needed are block researchers.

Ouachita Parish Heart Council members met to firm plans for a 1965 campaign which hopefully will raise just over $11,000.

Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen endorsed United Givers Fund efforts in the state as the proper approach to community self-help. The parish UGF drive kicks off soon, despite the unfortunate loss of this year's president, J. H. "Slim" Scogin. City of Monroe school board president as well, Scogin, moving to Winnsboro, resigned both key posts, to the very vocal regret of many.

The annual homebuilders' Parade of Homes display was set for the Sundays of Sept. 19 and 26, 2 until 6 p.m. each day.

The West Monroe Riding Club's special three-day rodeo for wee-type wranglers drew to a close, with the first-place "Little Britches" being Joe Beck Payne of Monroe.

The World's Week In Focus

'Escalation' To Rousing Finale

By Oland Silk

AS THE WEEK came to a rousing finale, one word could describe the feelings of two quite disparate peoples. The word was "anxiety" and those so afflicted were residents of Florida and Louisiana who feared and finally fled from Hurricane Betsy; others suffering from jangled nerves were U.S. and world diplomats who had another war on their hands in Kashmir. In fact, "escalation" was the watch-word on both war and weather fronts, as Pakistan and India fought fiercely for the prize of Kashmir, and Betsy's winds increased to 150 miles per hour on their inexorable march from the Bahamas, across parts of Florida, and on to North Louisiana.

History repeated itself, as Betsy, a capricous monster that began as a fitful blob in the Atlantic last week, played out its dance of destruction across Monroe. Relatives before her had done the same.

Striking New Orleans and Baton Rouge Thursday night, turning both cities into shambles, Betsy began weakening into a tropical storm as she whistled and moaned into the Monroe area.

Wind gusts of 61 mph hit the city Friday morning, accompanied by driving rains. Power lines and trees were blown down, some streets flooded. Debris was scattered over wide sections.

Two deaths, not directly connected with the storm, occurred in the area. Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Reed of Foreman, Ark., were killed in a two-car collision near Dunn. Injured were Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley, reportedly of Dallas.

At least 18 others were known or believed dead in the state. The toll was expected to rise.

Two Negro fishermen were missing Thursday in Black Bayou during the height of Betsy's winds. The men, James Lewis and Earl Mitchell, were found late in the afternoon, sitting out the storm in a duck blind. They had resumed fishing.

Over four inches of rain fell in the Twin Cities, and at noon Friday winds were still clocked at 45 mph.

Scurry To Sheler

Losses were inflicted on the cotton crop, with some fields stripped. Other crops hard hit were corn and soybeans, although Betsy brought badly needed rainfall to pastureland.

In South Louisiana the picture was totally different — and infinitely worse. Fresh in from her rampages across the Bahamas and Southern Florida, Betsy made a wreck of historic New Orleans, snapping trees like matchsticks, shattering dozens of store windows, stranding 3,000 in five feet of water, and sending 150,000 scurrying inland to shelter. The situation was the same in Baton Rouge, where 50,000 persons fled wind and water. The high tides washed over roads throughout South Louisiana. Some were closed. Virtually all of Cameron Parish evacuated. Hurricane Audrey killed 500 persons in that parish in 1957. En route to shelter, some Cameron refugees paused briefly at a shrine erected in commemoration of the Audrey dead.

In Baton Rouge, most of the buildings were left intact, but hundred-year-old trees were downed and light poles hung crazily throughout the city.

As the storm depleted, refugees began packing for home. But all the trouble wasn't over. Tornado warnings were issued for a four-state area of Arkansas, Tennessee, and Mississippi.

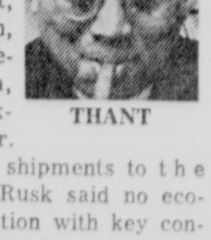
President Johnson declared the state a disaster area late Friday. Flying to New Orleans with the Louisiana congressional delegation, he pledged the full force of the federal government behind the state in its recovery efforts.

Betsy's damage was in the millions. She left 24 dead.

Policy Built On Fear

FROM A BORDER dispute to full-fledged war, that was the story from Kashmir. Indians and Pakistani, who hate each other with unbelievable intensity, threw tanks and planes into the battle, which shifted late in the week from the Kashmir border to Pakistan and India proper. Both sides took turns claiming victories.

A history of the Kashmir conflict reads like a family feud between Asian "Martins and McCoys". Its origins are steeped in religious and cultural history. The causes of the current Kashmir conflict goes back 16 years when the United Nations drew a cease-fire line across the country during one of the several wars in that area. Pakistan had part of the Himalayan state, India the rest. The frontier of hate has been a trouble spot ever since. One correspondent described the fear and distrust Pakistani and Indians have for one another as incredible. Quoting one Pakistani: "Ever since Pakistan came into being as a nation, its foreign policy has been built on fear of India. There is no other basis." Indians feel the same way. Battles raging in East and West Pakistan later in the week were direct results of that hatred.



THANT

Meanwhile, U.N. Secretary Thant was in the area trying for a peaceful settlement.

In Washington, officials and congressmen wrestled with their Kashmir problems, too. U.S. aid, military and economic, has gone to both disputants in the conflict, about $1.2 million in military to Pakistan, and $200 million to India. Pakistan has received $4 billion in economic aid and India, $6 billion. In effect, the U.S. is in the awkward spot of indirectly financing the war. The U.S. banged the lid on further arms shipments to the warring nations, and Secretary of State Rusk said no economic aid would be sent without consultation with key congressmen. He said this to the House where the Administration's $4-billion foreign aid bill passed. Republicans wanted to amend the bill to halt aid to India and Pakistan now, but none other than Congressman Otto Passman helped fight them off. Passman said the situation might change at any time, requiring resumption of aid to both nations. The 5th District congressman made no secret of his dislike for the bill, but rather than step aside and turn control of the bill over to a fellow member of the Foreign Operations Appropriations Subcommittee, chose to ride along, taking pot-shots at waste as he did so.

American action isn't likely to make more friends in India or Pakistan. It will cause the greatest reaction in Pakistan where Anti-Americanism has been on the increase in recent months. Pakistan may look to Communist China for help.

Near the week's end, the U.S. declared itself neutral in the conflict and put all its eggs in the U.N. basket and hoped for a cease-fire.

Other Victories

MUCH EARLIER on the Washington scene, the President got the steel strike ended and went on to other victories by signing into law legislation creating a new Department c Housing and Urban Affairs. He called it a "rational respons to the pressing challenge of urban life." Johnson delayed ar nouncement of his choice to head the 11th cabinet post.

He and Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois did a little bai tering, too with the latter coming out second best. The Presi dent got Senate Judiciary approval of a House-passed bil that will abolish over the next three years the 41-year-old na tional origins system of immigration. In return Dirksen got proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportion ment. Dirksen's friends shook their heads in disappointment

Even though the amendment is on the calendar, he can' bring it up for a year and by that time so many states wil have been reapportioned on a population basis that few o them will likely be interested in ratifying a constitutiona amendment on the question, it being: to permit state voter to determine whether one house of their legislature shoul be apportioned on other than a population basis. Dirksen wil have to get two-thirds approval of both houses and ratification by three fourths of the states legislatures.

DIRKSEN

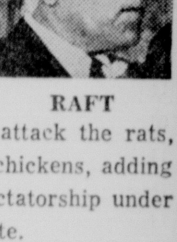
On another front, 'General' Dirksen marshaled his troops for an 'extended discussion' of 14(b), the Taft-Hartley provision that allows states to have right-to-work laws and which Johnson wants to abolish. The law stipulates that a worker doesn't have to join a union. There are 19 right-to-work states.

The Dirksen filibuster will be patterned after the Souther fight against the Civil Rights Bill. Sen. Ervin of North Carolina and other Democrats will join Dirksen's army.

Consultant Sounds Warning

Lewis Dexter, a political consultant, sounded a warnin in the capital. He said Congress may become as powerles as Great Britain's House of Lords. Many Americans, he contends, are beginning to view Congress as "an obstacle t what they want," particularly many poor people and Negroes Dexter told a panel session of the American Political Science Association changes that now would seem incredible may come to pass in Congress within the next few years. This may be so, particularly if "The next few presidents resemble Lyndon Johnson." He said Congress may become more of a ratifying agency, occasionally capable of engaging in vetoes with about as much importance in the American system as the House of Lords. Debate ranged around the question of executive, legislative initiative.

In South Viet Nam the war raged on with U. S. Marines keeping the pressure on the Viet Cong, killing 167 on the Batanga peninsula in a three-day period. American bombers kept up their raids near Hanoi and the Red Chinese border.



RAFT

Other people were having their troubles. George Raft, the one-time hoofer and movie badman, pleaded guilty in Los Angeles to one of six counts of income tax evasion. He will be sentenced September 28 when the remainder of the counts are disposed of.

From Haiti came word that rats are taking over, despite $100 million in foreign aid, most of it from the U.S. Rats infest roofs of peasant huts and feed on his crops. They seem to own the countryside. The U.S. once shipped mongooses there to attack the rats, but instead the mongooses ate the peasant's chickens, adding to his burden. Despite the aid, the Negro dictatorship under 'Papa Doc' Duvalier, continues to deteriorate.

In New Orleans a special three-judge federal court ordered a Ku Klux Klan leader, Saxon Farmer, grand titan of Bogalusa, to produce records of the secret organization or go to jail. Farmer and Charles H. Christmas of Amite, claim the records have been destroyed. The hearing, first of its kind under the Civil Rights Act, is on a Justice Department suit for an injunction against the Klan and several 'front' groups in Bogalusa forbidding attacks or harassment on citizens who disagree with Klan policy. The judges sitting are Robert Ainsworth, Herbert Christenberry, and John Minor Wisdom.

Pot Kept Boiling

The civil rights pot kept boiling in other areas. Senator John Stennis will question Sergeant Shriver about the Mt. Beulah, Miss. Head Start project and its alleged civil rights ties. The senator claims to have found irregular use of some of the $1,260,000 in federal money in the project. Also of particular concern to Stennis was the make-up of the Head Start staff, mostly New Yorkers with civil rights backgrounds.

In Boston, Negro parents used chartered buses and private cars to transport their children to schools in predominantly white neighborhoods as a protest against crowded conditions. Some 300 Negro children were involved. About 100 were enrolled. The parents have estimated the program would cost them $1,500 per week.

Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church rejected heresy charges against Bishop James A. Pike of California. At the same time, they refused to allow him to ordain a woman deacon, which would have been the first in the 3-million-member church.

In Brief: Prentiss, Miss. residents filed suit against the federal government for confiscating units of their motel for voter registration. They're asking $600,000 . . . The U. N. World Health Organization reported an 'alarming increase' in deaths from lung cancer in Europe and North America. New evidence of cigarette causes were claimed. The report noted the death rate was highest among the 65-75 age group . . . Gen. Elias Wessen y Wessin, militant anti-Communist leader, was taken into custody and deported from the Dominican Republic. Wessin's ouster from his post as head of the Armed Forces Training Center had been demanded by the rebels as part of the peace settlement.

Wessin led the 1963 coup which overthrew President Juan Bosch and also led resistance to the pro-Bosch revolt in April. The provisional government wanted Wessin out of the way as the first step toward disarming the civilians. Rebel leaders said they could not disarm their side until he left.

President Charles de Gaulle continued his role of Chief Anti-American ally. He served notice the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must drop its integrated command structure by 1969. The French Premier said 'We will remain allies of our allies as long as we judge necessary the solidarity of the Western powers for the defense of Europe, but at the expiration of our NATO engagements that is to say in 1969, will be the end of France's subordination to integration.' He also ruled out France as a mediator in the Viet Nam War. . .Pope Paul VI will journey to the United Nations on Oct. 4, the longest trip from Rome by a Roman Catholic Pope. The journey will be brief — only 24 hours — but will include a speech at the U.N.

The Shrine Clubs' Gift To Crippled Children

Since establishment, the Shriner's hospitals for crippled children have treated more than a quarter million boys and girls who otherwise were doomed to a life of disappointment, pain and isolation, and restored them to health and well-being or materially aided them. Happiness has been brought to many thousands of parents who otherwise would daily witness suffering and affliction of their little ones.

The Shrine prospered and enjoyed the confidence of the public and those interested in the tremendous success they had built up in their charity program. In 1958, the leaders of the Shrine Clubs took stock of the past history of the work of Shriners hospitals for crippled children and the vast number of underprivileged crippled children who had been put back in the race of life with an equal chance with others more fortunate, by the interest, love and help of the red fez wearers of the Shrine. The Shrine realized that their many friends who had contributed of their time and talents, and of their fortunes as well, to help supply funds with which to carry on their work, were actually legion and would continue to grow as long as the Shrine remained out in front in ideas and service for crippled children.

The Shrine has made the world crippled-children conscious, and while no organization other than the Shrine was helping with orthopedic troubles in children at the time, the Shrine went into the hospital business, yet at the present time many organizations are lending their help to crippled children in the Shrine's chosen field of work. The Shrine expanded their service through further study of service to children in the problem of disaster burns which could later result in orthopedic problems.

They felt that such work could very well be named preventative work to eliminate the orthopedic trouble later.

The American Medical Association estimates that some 4,000 hospital beds are occupied daily by children with third degree burns. This is a 33 per cent increase over 1954. Such figures have led many authorities to classify burns as the single greatest hazard of childhood. But even more important, medical men rate children's burns as one of the most poorly treated conditions in medicine. Usual inadequate treatment is due to the enormous expense associated with complicated burn care. In cases where 40 per cent of the body surface is burned, treatment usually costs more than $10,000 per patient.

The Shrine found in its study of burns work that this was a field of service that was by-passed as only one such center had been established in the United States and that by the government—the Brooks Army Medical Center at San Antonio, Tex. They received encouragement in their plans from military leaders since they were well aware of the great need for burns services and research, as well as education in the treatment of burns. Countries behind the Iron Curtain were also interested in burns work and had sent teams to this country to learn all they could of our treatment of this problem. They returned to their countries and opened several burns centers in their countries.

But to help solve the problem, the ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine allocated $10 million in 1962 to build three Shriners burns institutes of the Shriners hospitals for crippled children. The burns institutes are an extension of the organization's philanthropic work in the field of orthopedics, where it operates 17 hospitals.

The Shrine is at this date in the same position in relation to the burns work for crippled children as they were in 1922 in orthopedic work for crippled children when they opened their first hospital.

The First Ever Opened — Shreveport

The first of the 17 Shriners hospitals for crippled children devoted to orthopedics was opened Sept. 16, 1922, in Shreveport. Other locations are: Minneapolis, San Francisco, Portland, St. Louis, Spokane, Salt Lake City, Springfield, Mass., Chicago, Philadelphia, Lexington, Greenville, S.C., Los Angeles, Houston two in Canada, one in Hawaii and one in Mexico. They represent an investment of some $26 million dollars and are operated on an annual budget of $9.5 million.

The three Shrine hospitals for burns are: the Galveston unit of the Shriners Burns Institute, scheduled to open this fall; Shriners Burns Institute, Cincinnati, Ohio, to open in 1966, and Shriners Burns Institute, Boston, Mass., to open late in 1966 or 1967.

Just this year, the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club, headed by Leslie G. Hamm, sent the first child from Louisiana to the Shriners Burns Institute at Galveston. Little Linda Gay Hamilton, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton of West Monroe, who had received third degree burns in a January fire, was treated and returned home and walks again.

Second West Monroe Child

Another youngster sent to Galveston and now returned is three and one-half-year old Edward Kirk Knowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. H. Knowles of West Monroe.

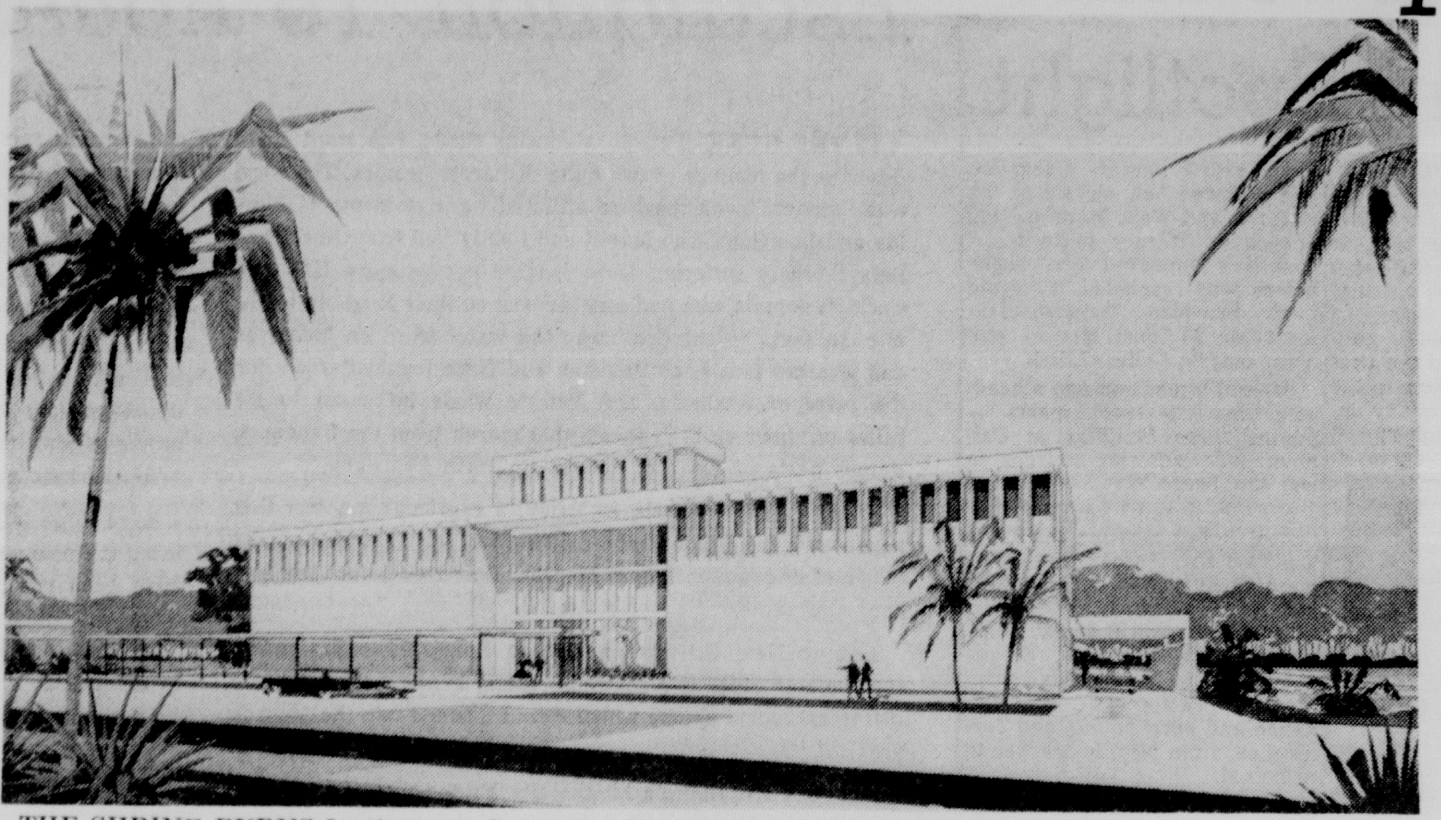
Edward was burned over 35 per cent his body with second and third degree burns on May 22. He was standing near a barbecue pit when the flames flared up. These two local youngsters are walking today as a result of our Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club. Children walk away from all 17 Shrine hospitals for crippled children and three burns institutes. The hospitals are open to all children under 15 years of age regardless of race, color or creed whose parents are unable to pay for the needed surgical, medical and hospital facilities.

Shrine Circus

To further the work of the Shrine, the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Circus, featuring Clyde Brothers Circus, will be held in Monroe Sept. 14 and 15, with two performances daily. Tickets are available from any Shriner. John W. Morton, chairman and Mel Cook, co-chairman of the circus committee have assured a "fun-filled Shrine circus" this season with a new array of "big top" talent in a fast moving two-hour performance; one at 3 P.M. and 8 P.M.

Hamm, president of the club, stated that all proceeds of this Shrine circus go to the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children in Shreveport.

Serving with Hamm this year are five vice presidents, M. J. Cook, Monroe; John W. Morton, West Monroe; A. J. Allen, Tallulah; Robert F. Mulhearn, Winnsboro; and W. H. Roach, Winnsboro. Treasurer is W. C. Sullivan, Monroe. The club secretary is James A. Daniel, who is recognized as one of the most efficient club secretaries in Shrinedom, having served the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club for the past 15 years. Club directors are: Luther T. Harper, M. Reid Heflin, Nick L. Lassiter, E. A. Porter Jr., Fred Salley, M. Earl Smith and Carl H. Thomson, all of Monroe; Gerald R. York, Fairbanks; A. P. Burkett, Harold Hill, Donald E. Logan and E. B. Scott, West Monroe; Earl M. Albritton, Winnsboro; Jack Farmer, Ruston; J. M. Gustafson, Tallulah; Robert F. Polk, Winnsboro, Will Rasbury, Ruston, and Jesse C. Slade of Baskin.



THE SHRINE BURNS Institute at Galveston, Tex., is pictured here. This is one of the 17 Shrine Club hospitals around the country and it specializes in treatment and research on burns.

American Indian Fights Last Battle – This Time Red Man Is Against Self

By SID MOODY
Associated Press Writer

The American Indian may be fighting his last battle. It is against himself.

He knows what he was and is proud of it: The first American, who owned this land from coast to coast. He knows his empire has shrunk to the meager world of the reservation where the culture he stubbornly clings to is kept alive only at the tolerance of another culture alien to his own.

His problem: He tried once to lick that alien culture and failed. Must he now join it? Can he stay Indian? Or can he have it both ways?

Lloyd House's father, a Navajo, has been grappling with that problem most of his life. Years ago President Theodore Roosevelt decided that by God, if we made these treaties with the Indians, we better live up to them. One day when House's father was 15 and herding sheep on the reservation, a black car stopped and the driver waved him over and told him to get in. He obeyed. The car stopped other places picking up young Indians. The car became so full House had to get out and run behind it as the auto rolled off towards Gallup, N.M.

There the children were put in "long black things" House's father came to learn were railroad cars and taken to Phoenix and put in Indian boarding schools. Ten years later the father came back to the reservation to put his white man's education to work.

But there was no work, only the same pastoral life the Navajos had lived for as long as any one could remember.

"My father had enough education so he couldn't go back to eating mutton every day with his fingers," said his son, "and get by in the white man's world. So he's lived in the hobo jungles ever since getting odd jobs. He's been an alcoholic for 55 years."

There are thousands of Indians like Lloyd's father. They are in tribe after tribe among the 365,000 who populate the nation's reservations. They are also among the 185,000 who have integrated into the white man's society. For the reservation Indians particularly, their stories and the outcomes may not be the same as with House's father. But the position is: Culturally uprooted, caught between two worlds, victims of the Indian's dilemma of today.

It might be thought the Indian's problem is analagous to that of the other dark skinned American, the Negro. It is not. To be sure, the Indian has been a victim of discrimination. As recently as four years ago Llewelyn Kingsley, superintendent of the Pine Ridge, S.D., Sioux reservation and an Indian himself, recalled seeing a sign in a store in Nebraska saying "No dogs or Indians allowed."

But the Indian has rarely had the trouble with acceptance the Negro has had, in part because the Indian has not had the same urge to belong to the white man's world. The Negro was carried off from his home, and the white culture is the only one he knows. The Indian still has preserved some of his. And some of his land.

The two are intimately interwoven. It was the land and its fruit and its game that gave the Indian his living. He reveres it.

Now he is too many. The land reserved for him can no longer support him. Must he leave it, the only home he knows? Survival says yes. His heart says not yet.

His deep and justifiable pride also fights the change.

"Many forget the fact that Indians did not come to this country seeking freedom or a better life," said Frank George, a Nez Perce. "They were here first. They were free. They had a good life. For that reason I am proud of being an Indian."

I asked John Artichoker, a Sioux, how strong Indian identity was. "There was a poll once in South Dakota," he said. "It asked a sampling of Indian and white children the question 'Who am I?' The white child would answer 'My name is John Doe, I live at such and such and my parents are so and so.' The Indian would answer simply 'I am a Sioux.' "

The Indian has traditionally felt identity not only to his immediate family but to his tribe or clan. From these ties sprang a tradition of communal sharing which has been a major impediment in adapting to the white culture.

Chief Crazy Horse, one of the great Sioux chieftains, was as admired for his generosity as for his leadership in the Custer massacre. But this pattern is gradually changing.

"Before the war," said House, "Navajos always left their hogans stocked if they were away for any passerby who might spend the night. Now you see locks on the door."

"You take an Indian who has a steady job and is joining the middle class," said Emil Redifh who manages a small fishhook plant in Pine Ridge. "At night his relatives come over and help themselves at the ice box or borrow his car. He begins to wonder why he should feed these people who've been lying in the shade in front of the agency all day while he's been working. They think he's ungrateful. He's acting like a white man."

The friction sometimes becomes so heated some Indians leave the reservation rather than bear the scorn of their less well-to-do kin. Others, closer to the Indian culture, don't even make the attempt at self-betterment. It is alien to their cultural pattern of living only for today, not tomorrow, of acquiring only enough food and clothing for immediate needs. Time means nothing. In fact, there is no word for time in Sioux. If a Sioux wants to tell you he will meet you at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, he has to say it in English.

Paradoxically, for all their cohesion within the tribe, Indians have little solidarity outside it.

"Indians are like crabs in a bucket," said Adam Nordwall, a Chippewa who is head of an intertribal group in the San Francisco area. "As soon as one seems to be crawling out, the others grab him and pull him back. They all want to be chiefs."

Even within tribes there is sometimes rancor between full and mixed blood members. This is noticeably true among the Colville Indians in Washington where the mixed bloods, whose Indian ties have been diluted by intermarriage, want to sell off the reservation while the full bloods want to preserve it.

There is also a profound psychological gap between the Indian's mentality and the white man's. The white man is dynamic, restless. If he comes to a river, he will bridge it. The Indian more likely would search for a shallow and ford it.

The Indian has an almost Oriental respect for an individual's privacy. Confronted with a new situation, he will stand back and study it to determine what is the "right" way for him to act. An Indian who has had little meeting with the white man shakes hands limply and avoids his eye. He simply doesn't want to get involved in a strange situation. It might embarrass you — or him.

Two sociologists, Rosalie Wax and Robert Thomas, noted that an Indian riding in a car would never back seat drive, even to warn of imminent danger. It would be interference in the driver's way of doing things.

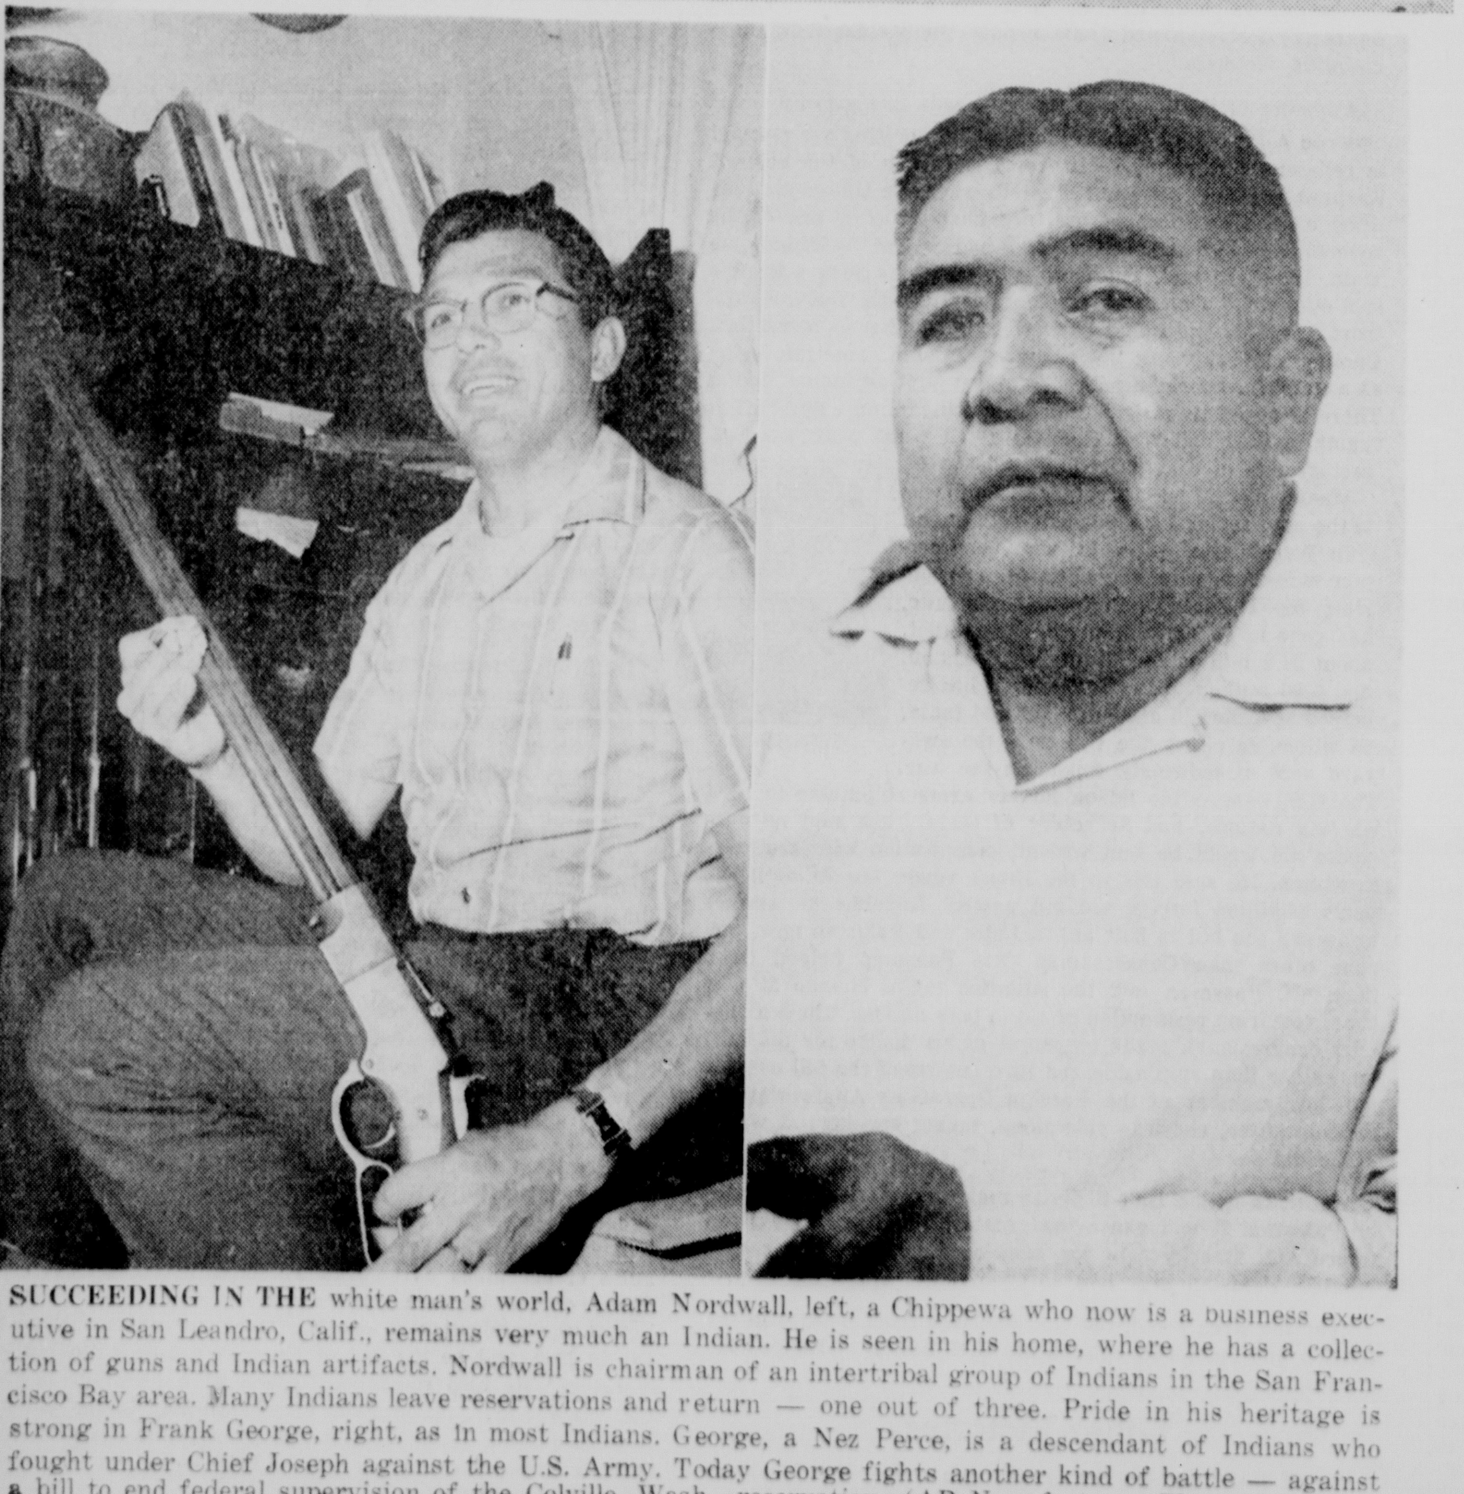
As a result, said Dr. Charles Ellis who works among the Navajos, "the Indian is as continually amazed at the white man as we are of him."

And how does the Indian, who could have good cause for hate, view the white man who drove him onto the reservation and whom he now may have to join? There is some hate. And mistrust. Nordwall recalled the vigor with which the Sioux unhorsed the white cavalryman during this year's reenactment of the Custer massacre in Montana.

"I hope," said a Pueblo Indian in New Mexico, "the white man succeeds in reaching the moon. And stays there. All of them."

A Navajo nurse with whom he had worked closely for years confided to Dr. Ellis once that she knew that some day he was going to betray her in some meaningful way, "that he would finally show he was a white man."

And yet the Indian has a deep patriotism for this country. Thousands have volunteered for military service. "I drove through Omaha on Flag Day recently," said Kingsley. "I saw one American flag. On this reservation even the smallest community will have a flag flying when they have their ceremonies."



SUCCEEDING IN THE white man's world, Adam Nordwall, left, a Chippewa who now is a business executive in San Leandro, Calif., remains very much an Indian. He is seen in his home, where he has a collection of guns and Indian artifacts. Nordwall is chairman of an intertribal group of Indians in the San Francisco Bay area. Many Indians leave reservations and return — one out of three. Pride in his heritage is strong in Frank George, right, as in most Indians. George, a Nez Perce, is a descendant of Indians who fought under Chief Joseph against the U.S. Army. Today George fights another kind of battle — against a bill to end federal supervision of the Colville, Wash., reservation. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

BOOKS

Guide To Good Reading

Many New Books Now Available

By FRANCES FLANDERS,
Ouachita Parish Librarian

There are several interesting new books available at the Ouachita Parish Public Library this week, but only two of them are books of fiction. "The Man Who Loved Children" by Christine Stead is a reissue of a book which was first published in 1940. It is a character study of a very possessive and overbearing father. It is not a pleasant book, but is extremely well-written. "The Mustang Trail" by Leonard L. Foreman is a new Double D Western and will interest readers who enjoy this type of book.

A very useful book for parents and teachers of retarded children is "Guiding the Retarded Child" by Bernice B. Baumgartner. The author has taken the total approach toward helping the retarded child and the book will be useful to many different people. "How to Beat the High Cost of College" by Claire Cox was ordered in March, but it did not arrive until last week, almost too late to help the entering college student. However, it is a book which contains much pertinent advice and I hope that there are people who need it. "Doctors of the American Frontier" by Richare Dunlop is a fascinating story of medicine in early America. The author secured his stories from journals, letters and diaries of the frontier doctors who used ingenuity, when all else failed them. This is a book which Doctors will enjoy and it will also be eagerly read by the many readers who enjoy doctor stories.

A very lovely series of book is called "Pleasures and Treasures Series" and is published by Putman. The latest book in this series is "Ivory" by Oliver Beigbeder. The author gives the history of ivory through the ages and the book is profusely illustrated as are the other volumes in this series.

Margaret Cabell Self is a recognized authority on the subject of horsemanship and riding and a new book by her is always welcome. This week we have "Riding Step by Step" which should be useful to the beginner as well as the experienced horseman. "World Aflame" is the title of Billy Graham's new book in which he takes a hard look at the Twentieth Century and attempts to define the causes of unrest. "Second Spring and Two Potatoes" by LLka Chase is an account of a round-the-world trip. Beginning in New York she flew to Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, Australia and on to Africa. Her books are light, but interesting and she has an assured readership.

"The Great War, 1914-1918" by John Terraine is a very fine pictorial history of this conflict and contributes much to our knowledge of the subject. "The Liberal Establishment" by M. Stanton Evans is a frightening book about the power structure in America. It is a book to make one stop, think and wonder what he can do to reverse the trend toward total government. Books about the French and Indian War of the 18th Century are not plentiful and a new book on this subject should be useful to history students. We have such a book this week written by Robert C. Alberts and called "The Most Extraordinary Adventures of Major Robert Stobo."

There are several additions to the reference collection. A beautiful and useful book is "Larouse Gastronomique, the encyclopedia of Food, Wine and Cookery". A book which many people will use is "The Encyclopedia of U. S. Government Benefits" edited by R. A. Grisham Jr., In addition to the benefits, it gives much valuable information about government organization. There are three useful additions to the genealogy section. "Records of Washington Parish, Louisiana Volume 2" by E. Russ Williams contains much useful information. "How to Read the Handwriting and Records of Early America" by E. Kay Kirkham will be a boon to those who have tried to interpret old documents. We also have three volumes of the National Genelogical Society Quarterly covering the years 1962-1964.

Sea Beauties Demonstrate Love Of Sea

SPRING TIDES. By Samuel Eliot Morison. Houghton Mifflin. $4.

In historian Morson's currently, and deservedly, popular "Oxford History of the American People," as well as in his naval histories and his book on Columbus, his love for the sea has been demonstrated many times.

It shines even more affectionately in this small book, which contains a half dozen varied sketches of his saltwater adventures, written over a stretch of many years.

He opens with a reflective piece on the nature of tides, and three specific cruises are described in the book.

One tells of an August day's happiness along the Maine coast; a small gem of nature writing. Another is a humorous account of some mishaps during a voyage that he and his wife made along the same coast. The other is an account of a summer cruise in the Aegean, back in the summer of 1934, a highly entertaining blend of tourism and Greek history.

In "A Yacht's Cabin," the author chats amiably about the designing of small sailing yachts, and the pleasures of living aboard them.

In "The Ancients and the Sea," Morison roams through classical literature from Sappho and Hesoid to Dante, enjoying himself immensely as he searches out passages of poetry on the winedark sea.

Even for us landlubbers, sharing Morison's keen enthusiasm for sailing and the beauties of the sea becomes a dulcet joy.

Writer Would Have Picked U.S. Raccoon

Raccoons and Eagles, by Polly Redford (Dutton, $4.95): The raccoon could have been chosen for our national symbol rather than the eagle, this conservationist writes. He is truly an American animal, whereas the eagle has European cousins. But his real meaning as a symbol of America is his adaptability to the changing character of this country's natural surroundings.

Urbanization is not hurting the raccoon. He can live in junkyards and eat out of garbage cans. This is comforting, but here we come to the real conservationist message of the book. The eagle is a bird of prey, and must have a large area of wilderness to support the animals he lives on. Thus, as the wilderness shrinks, the eagle vanishes; already most bald eagles have been driven to the Florida swamps and the Michigan and Alaska woods.

The march of civilization cannot be stopped, but measures can be taken to save our national symbol, foremost among them being preserving large tracts in their wild state. If this is not done, we might better get used to the idea of the adaptable, suburbanite raccoon on our Great Seal.

Scuba divers uncover secrets of lost civilizations

Mexico is blessed with a rich heritage. Its history includes advanced civilizations that predated the arrival of the Spaniards. Ancient Mexicans created corn by hybridizing tasty but scrawny weeds. They studied the stars, developed a calendar and plotted the movements of the stars, galaxies and planets.

A heritage like this—one that is known to date back to the dawn of time—is a serious responsibility. Mexico spends millions of dollars each year to dig, excavate, restore and study its many ancient ruins, lost cities and long-buried historical landmarks.

Whether unearthed by pick and shovel or found by scuba-wearing skindivers, these discoveries are adding much to the entire world's understanding of the earth and its peoples in pre-historic times.

If you want to study some interesting things about Mexico—free—send for a free illustrated booklet. Write "Know Mexico," Box 1900, New York 10019.

Square Level Trap Is Clever

SQUARE'S PROGRESS. By Wilfrid Sheed. Farrar, Straus. $4.94.

Dreadfully clever, this Sheed. He has a real knack with words. Trouble is, he becomes so engrossed in demonstrating his skill that whatever small social satire might be swathed in his novel gets obscured by the cleverness.

The story is in the category of suburbia's marital disintegration, which isn't exactly a fresh theme. Possibly for the sake of variety, Sheed has set his suburbia in New Jersey, which is an odd choice. Certainly he must know that the formula specifies either Westchester or Fairfield County.

Anyway, there is this kind of stupid commuter named Fred Cope, who isn't very fice. And there's his wife Alison, who at least has the grace to know that Fred is a creep. But she goes into the cliche of trotting home to mamma.

So bumbling Fred stumbles around looking for her in Greenwich Village, of all places, and by accident winds up in Spain. It seems they have beatniks in Iberia, too, and square Fred doesn't dig the stereotyped beats.

Come to think of it, Sheed might be one up on us readers. Is he really making another suburban satire? Or is he burlesquing all the other thousands of same? Could an author with such a facile skill in word-slinging give us a straight sell? Shucks, does it matter?

Rod Levitt's Orchestra is fairly well known around New York and Newport for the excellence of its jazz music and it is hoped the musicians soon will have a countrywide following.

Levitt was heard hitherto on the Riverside label, which no longer is in existence.

Now Levitt and his small but highly skillful band of musicians will get adequate exposure with "Insight" (RCA Victor LSP-3372). Victor has recorded nine of the Rod Levitt's Orchestra's numbers in its Dynagroove system, which means excellent jazz music may be heard in near-perfect sound reproduction.

Levitt's jazz is in the so-called mainstream but he and his combo have limitless imagination. This LP should please the modern jazz crowd.

"Solo Monk" (Columbia CS 9149) is another in the seemingly endless jazz successes recorded by Thelonious Monk. Again Monk shows his complete command of the keyboard but on this occasion he is not so moody. Most of the numbers are familiar tunes, such as "Dinah" and "These Foolish Things," which will enable those who are listening to Monk for the first time to appreciate his work even though they may not completely comprehend it.

"Ray Brown—Milt Jackson" (Verve V—V6-8615) is big band jazz and makes an interesting contrast with the small combo of Rod Levitt. The sound is big. Jackson on vibes and Brown on bass are outstanding. high in the pecking order at his desk in the insurance of-

Borge To Star In Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Borge plans to shelve his one-man comedy activities for appearance in a Broadway musical comedy.

The project engaging his interest is "The Great Adventure," based upon a play and novel by Arnold Bennett. The role: an artist who assumes the identity of his valet when the servant dies. Signed as leading lady of the show is Geraldine Page. The production is planned by the Theater Guild for early 1966.

Journey Of Magi Comes Alive Here

HOW FAR TO BETHLEHEM? By Norah Lofts. Doubleday. $4.95.

A highly imaginative story of the Three Wise Men who followed the star to Bethlehem, this moving novel gives an unusual interpretation to an age-old theme.

Miss Lofts has assumed that Melchior, Gaspar and Balthazar were thoroughly mortal men; not kings, nor very wise, nor inspired from on high. They were unwittingly actors in a great drama they did not understand; mundanely motivated, God's unanointed tools.

In part, this is a sensitive story of Mary, Joseph and the Child, but its narrative is keyed to the three who make the journey.

It begins at the time of the Annunciation. Melchior, an aging astronomer-astrologer in Pyongyang, Korea (1,600 miles from the manager) finds in the stars an urgent reason to set forth blindly to some unknown destination, carrying a warning.

In mid - journey, there comes to his aid Gaspar, a bandy-legged, rough riding warrior of desert heritage, who has conquered Jexal (700 miles from Bethlehem) and now is curious about a King named Herod and the eastward advance of the Romans. He is no theologian, but a ruler wanting to learn about other rulers.

At a nameless village 300 miles from Bethlehem they are joined by someone who can speak the languages they need — the scribe and black eunuch Balthazar, fleeing from slavery.

Frantic Search For Self

THE DEATH OF WILLIAM POSTERS. By Alan Sillitoe. Knopf. $4.95.

A great many authors have written on the theme of the Man Who Has To Find Himself. In Sillitoe's novel the man is an English factory worker.

Frank Dawley feels that he is not participating in life and that modern pressures toward conformity are too suffocating. The latter element is expressed in a pun —Frank has a great sympathy for the common man who continually is faced with the warning that "bill posters will be prosecuted."

So Frank leaves his job, his wife and two children — his wife suffers no great pain at his departure — and becomes a wanderer. He has an affair with a nurse, Pat, who is separated from her husband. But the affair breaks up and Frank feels he has been very noble in letting Pat rebuild her life with her small son.

In London, Frank falls in with a former friend, Albert, an obscure primitive painter who suddenly has been discovered by the fashionable set.

Soviet Writer Was Critical Of Death Reign

The War, 1941-1945, by Ilya Ehrenburg (World $5.95): The third volume of Ehrenburg's memoirs in which events are sketched rather than dealt with in detail. He depicts vividly the horror, tragedy and final glory of what to the Russians, communist or not, was a truly patriotic war.

Ehrenburg was a reporter for Red Star during the war and also wrote for the American press. Just before the tide turned against the Nazis he wrote for Red Star: "Who can put into words what the men at the front are thinking? They are thinking about the present and the past. They are thinking why yesterday's operation was unsuccessful and why there are so many things they had not been taught in the ten - year school.

REV. GROVER P. BROWN

Rev. Brown Evangelist For Revival

The Rev. Grover Preston Brown, who assumed duties Sept. 1 as pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, will serve as evangelist for a revival series starting Sunday, Sept. 19, at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Selman and Blanks.

The revival will continue through Thursday, Sept. 23, with services being held daily at 7:30 p.m. A nursery will be open during the services.

Rev. Brown was born in Winnsboro, South Carolina in 1921. He graduated from Erskine College in 1950, and Columbia Seminary in 1954. He also took special courses at Union Seminary.

Background

He is married and has three daughters aged 17, 15, and 12, and a son, 14. He served as pastor of the Belcher and Dixie, La. Presbyterian Churches before coming to his present post. He previously served several churches in South Carolina and Georgia.

Rev. Brown is presently chairman of the Inter Agency Committee of Red River Presbytery. He worked as an electrician before finishing seminary studies, and served 3½ years as a bombardier in World War Two.

5th Anniversary Observance Is Scheduled Here

Special services will be conducted today at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., as the North Monroe Baptist Church observes its fifth anniversary.

The work was started five years ago by the College Place Baptist Church, as the pastor, the Rev. T. Earl Ogg, preached a revival meeting in the newly completed building which had been constructed by the mother church.

Sixty eight members united with the Chapel during the week of revival. Dr. Albert H. Cullen served as interm - pastor until the chapel called a pastor, the Rev. Glenn Pippens, who has served there for four and one-half years.

An all-church fellowship will be held at 7:30 p.m., and refreshments will be served.

Luna Assembly Revival Planned

The evangelist for a series of revival services starting Tuesday at Luna Assembly of God Church, will be the Rev. J. C. Nichols of Leland, Miss.

Services will be held daily at 7:15 p.m. through Sunday Sept. 26, it was announced by the Rev. D. C. Hicks, pastor.

The church is located on Red Cut Road, about 11 miles south of West Monroe.

Vatican Council 4th Session Due

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The fourth and final session of the Vatican Council will convene in Rome next Tuesday (Sept. 14).

Like the three previous sessions (in 1962, 1963 and 1964), it will deal with matters of far-reaching importance to the internal life of the Catholic church and its relations with the rest of the world.

Eleven items are on the agenda for the windup session.

The first order of business is of particular interest to Protestants. It is a declaration on religious liberty. It affirms that no government, and no state church, has the right to dictate what a man shall believe, or how he shall worship. It recognizes that human freedom is a gift of God, to be respected even when it involves man in error and evil.

Repudiate Doctrine

The declaration would flatly repudiate the doctrine that "error has no rights," which has been used in Spain and other Catholic countries to justify suppression of Protestant worship. (Spain recently has relaxed its restrictions, but Protestants still live under numerous legal handicaps.)

American bishops fought valiantly for the religious liberty declaration at earlier council sessions. It was supposed to be voted upon at both the second and the third sessions, but each time was sidetracked at the last minute as a result of backstage power plays by conservative opponents.

This time it is at the head of the agenda, and the American bishops — who have learned a great deal about the ways of Rome during three council sessions—will be alert for any hanky-panky.

Another document which has been the target of mysterious maneuvers in the past also will be up for final approval. This is the statement on the Jews, which says that responsibility for the Crucifixion of Christ cannot rightly be attributed to all of the Jews of first century Palestine, "much less to those of today."

School Season Ministry Starts With Open House

The ministry of the Episcopal Diocese of Louisiana for this school year to the students and faculty of Northeast State College here will get under way Wednesday evening with an open house to be held in the Parish Hall of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 1308 Filhiol Ave. starting at 7 o'clock.

The Very Rev. R. W. Wilson, chaplain at the college, invited all Episcopal students and faculty members, their families and friends to attend the informal gathering. The women of St. Thomas will serve as hostesses for this event.

A welcome banquet for Episcopal students and faculty members will be held at St. Thomas Church Wednesday, Sept. 22 at 6 p.m., following a 5:30 p.m. celebration of the holy eucharist. The women of St. Alban's Church, Crescent Drive, will serve as hostesses. The formal program of the Episcopal Canterbury Society will begin with this event.

Rev. K. L. Henson Evangelist For Claiborne Meet

Revival services will start Monday at Claiborne Baptist Church and continue through Sunday, Sept. 19, it was announced by the Rev. Andrew Johnson, pastor.

Evangelist will be the Rev. Kenneth L. Henson, pastor of Westview Baptist Church, Sylacauga, Alabama. Song leader will be Harold Griggs, new minister of music at Claiborne Church.

Morning services Tuesday through Friday will be held at 10, and evening services Monday through Sunday will be at 7. The Sunday morning service will be at 11 o'clock.

A nursery will be open during all services. The church is located on Nelson Defreese Road off of Highway 80, west of West Monroe.

Revival Services Is Scheduled At Good Hope

A series of revival services will start Monday and continue through Sunday, Sept. 19, at Good Hope Baptist Church, West Monroe, it was announced by the Rev. John Tucker, pastor.

Serving as evangelist for the services which will be held daily at 7:30 p.m., will be the Rev. Roy Myers, pastor of Faith Baptist Church in Monroe. Services on Sunday, Sept. 19 will be at 11 a.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Song leader will be Larry Kulcke, minister of music at Good Hope Church. A nursery will be open during services.

REV. A. C. CANTRELL, who accepted the call of New Chapel Hill Baptist Church, will assume duties as pastor today. He formerly was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bethany, La., where he served for the past seven years. His father, the Rev. D. D. Cantrell, was formerly pastor of Central Baptist Church of Monroe.

McGuire Church Is Location Of Workshop Meet

The Monroe District-Woman's Society of Christian Service - will meet at McGuire Methodist Church in West Monroe for a fall workshop, Thursday. Mrs. S. A. Seegers of Columbia is district president.

The Session will open at 9:30 A.M., preceded by a coffee hour at 9. Mrs. H. B. Wiggers Sr., Winnsboro, vice president and program chairman, and Mrs. Thomas Guthrie, Jr., Bastrop, missionary education and service secretary, will present the program. This will include the study of the Mission Study books for the coming year and the new terminology of the Society.

District officers who will assist in the planning and arrangements of the workshop are Mrs. R. O. Slay, Winnsboro; Mrs. Don Elliott, Mrs. Lucille Goodwin, and Mrs. W. R. Olsen, West Monroe; Mrs. R. F. Stephenson, Sterlington; Mrs. E. N. Jackson, Monroe, and Mrs. W. P. Morrow, president of the Woman's Society of McGuire.

A literature room and a room of special worship settings will be featured. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. by the hostess church.

Rev. R. Raddin Revival Speaker For New Light

A revival will start today at New Light Baptist Church and continue through Sunday, Sept. 19.

The schedule of services includes: Sundays, Bible School 10 a.m., Baptist Training Union 6:15 p.m., and worship services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Weekday services will be at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with only one service on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Ray Paul Raddin, of the First Baptist Church of Sterlington will be the evangelist.

Darryl Washam, minister of music for the Cherry Ridge Baptist Church of Bastrop will direct the revival music. Miss Pat Guraedy of West Monroe will serve as piano accompanist. Special music will be featured throughout the week, said the Rev. Paul McComb, pastor. Nurseries will be staffed during all services.

Preparation

In preparation for the revival campaign, men of the church were hosts for prayer meetings led by the following men: Ray Adcock, Art Finley, Morrell Lee, Bill Beavers, Archie Smith, Arthur L. Finley, Lawrence Walker, Lincoln Telano, Clayton Scott, and Wayne Wible.

Special attention will be given to the youth of the church during the week's activities. A special youth fellowship has been planned for Saturday night at the church. Young people also will serve in the choir during the revival.

The church is located on Prairie Road about five miles south of Highway 15, which is about four miles east of Highway 165 at the end of the Harmon-Johnson Road where it joins the Prairie Road.

DARYL HEATH

Daryl Heath Of Nashville Speaker Here

A consultant of the associational unit, Sunday school department, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Daryl Heath, will deliver the inspirational message for the Ouachita Parish Baptist Association Sunday School "Action Night" service at the College Place Baptist Church, Monday at 7:22 p.m.

This special meeting of Sunday school workers from the Baptist churches is the "kick-off" meeting for the Bible teaching program for the new church year which begins October 1. The three-fold emphasis in Baptist Sunday schools for next year will be "Reaching, Teaching, Witnessing."

Conferences

An important feature of the program will be department conferences for Sunday school officers and teachers led by the following: Daryl Heath, Mrs. Marguerite Headrick, Mrs. Leon Ivey, Mrs. L. L. Morris, Mrs. A. R. DeLand, Mrs. Edna Lee Rogers, Mrs. Martha Pippins, and Mrs. Julius Nelson. The host church nurseries will be in operation and programs will be provided for other persons — 4 years of age through 24.

Various Posts

A native of Missouri, Heath joined the Board's Sunday school department staff September 1 of this year. Since January, 1963, he had served as associational missionary for the Delta Valley and East Contra Costa associations near Stockton, Calif. Prior to this he was pastor of Faith Baptist Church in Antioch, Calif. Earlier, he held a number of pastorates in Missouri.

A graduate of Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, Mo., Heath also has a bachelor of arts degree from William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo. He earned his bachelor of divinity degree at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Mill Valley, California.

Rally Day Set At St. Thomas Episcopal Today

The annual September Rally Day will be held today at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 1308 Filhiol Ave. The 10 a.m. service will consist of the holy eucharist, followed by a brief congregational meeting at which Father R. W. Wilson, vicar, will outline the program and special events for the fall months.

The church school will start at 10 a.m., with the young people reporting to their classes for registration and orientation. The members of the faculty include: Senior High, Mrs. Rusty Hemphill, Mrs. Neil Covington; junior high, Mrs. Diana Wilson, Mrs. Harold Odom; juniors, Mrs. Mike Covington, Mrs. Lula Gay; primary, Mrs. Boyce Gibson, Mrs. Dorolyn Luce; kindergarten, Mrs. Pud Harris, Mrs. Elsie John; beginners, Mrs. Audrey Phelps, Mrs. Jean Johnson. A nursery is open every week during the 10 a.m. services.

Teacher training assistance will be provided for the church school staff later this week.

The Archdeacon Willis Henton, of the Episcopal Diocese of Louisiana will provide a program of teacher training for the church school staff starting Thursday and concluding Saturday.

He will meet separately with each grade group of teachers in order to review the course of instruction and to plan in detail for the most effective presentation of the study materials.

He will celebrate the holy eucharist Sunday, Sept. 19, at 8 a.m. and will deliver the sermon at the 10 a.m. service.

White's Ferry Road Church Of Christ Conducts Many Activities, Services

White's Ferry Road Church Of Christ, 3201 North 7th St., West Monroe

Early in 1957, a group of businessmen, who were worshipping with the Slack Street Church of Christ in West Monroe, began to lay plans for the establishment of a new congregation on a lot located at 3201 North 7th Street in West Monroe. Among these men of vision were Alton Howard, Leo Walsworth, Tommy Goyne, R. F. Downey, Clinton Hollis, and a score of others.

The first worship service was held in March of 1958 with about 70 present. Dewey McDowell was one of the early ministers. Brother McDowell was followed by several other talented evangelists, such as Sterl Watson and Albert Fleetwood. William H. Smith, the present evangelist is in his third year with the congregation.

The White's Ferry Road congregation under the oversight of its six bishops, M. A. Smith, Tommy Goyne, Walter Ware, H. V. Antley, Harvil Hollis, and Alton Howard, has a varied and active program of evangelism, exhortation, and benevolence. The bishops have five deacons, four evangelists, and two full-time secretaries whose services they use to help accomplish these planned ministries.

Local Program

In the local program of evangelism, two ministers are giving their full efforts toward locating and saving those who are without Jesus Christ. Evangelist Smith has been assigned the responsibility of the pulpit while William E. DeLoach administers the education work. Mrs. Margaret Majors assists both evangelists as the church secretary.

Education

In the education field, the congregation has made great strides. A two - hour teacher training program has been inaugurated. This course is equivalent to a six-hour college level class. The subject matter is divided into two sections. One section deals with methods of teaching, while the other deals with a basic knowledge of the Bible. Mr. DeLoach plans to have every teacher participate in this school. All teachers in the near future must be graduates in order to serve on a regular basis.

The Bible School includes classes beginning with the cradle role group and progresses through eight adult classes. The planned cirriculum is designed to take one completely through the entire Bible more than four times, assuming work begins with the first grade and continues regularly through grade twelve. The adult classes are set up on a textual, doctrinal, devotional, and practical quarterly rotation basis. Several special classes are also provided: Music, Personal Evangelism, and Men's Training Class. A number of activities are provided for the youth. Plans are also being formulated toward developing a program which will utilize more fully senior members in really meaningful service.

Benevolence

In the area of benevolence, two important avenues are being pursued. The first is that of supplying immediate relief in food and clothing for families of all faiths in emergency conditions due to some unexpected disaster. Also continued help is given to those meriting such because of age or physical handicap. While the church's basic goal is to save souls, it seeks also to relieve those in physical need when it can.

Child Care

Growing out of the Benevolent Program is the Child Care Program. The first of a number of foster homes has been initiated. The bishops select qualified house parents who desire this ministry and then furnish them with living quarters and financial help in relation to the need of each group. This concept furnishes a real home situation for the children. Long-range plans call for 20 such domiciles. These homes will receive no state aid, but are to be supported by the White's Ferry Road congregation. Also worthy individual families are being encouraged to work in cooperation with the State Bureau of Child Welfare and similar parish programs of public welfare to help relieve orphans as the Bible commands. Some four families have already done so and a number of children are now being provided for on this individual basis.

Personal Evangelism

Another vital local consideration is the Personal Evangelism Program which has about 10 trained men now working with it. The congregation has several thousands of dollars worth of visual aid equipment which is employed in teaching the Bible to anyone who wishes to gain a deeper and more thorough knowledge of the inspired scriptures. Working in conjunction with the Personal Evangelism group is the Bible Correspondence School, which offers free of charge a graded 12 lesson Bible correspondence course.

Missions

The Missions Program is the most extensive single project of the congregation. The major portion of the Mission Program is World Radio, which is an international radio mission effort under the oversight of White's Ferry Road elders. Plans call for utilizing of a number of intercontinental short wave transmitters and AM stations for the purpose of preaching Jesus Christ to every man in his own language.

World Radio has been functioning for some time. Already this effort is covering the United States, Canada, and Mexico over 12 powerful stations and a number of smaller local stations. Three of these stations can be heard in this locality each Sunday: KUZN, a West Monroe station, carries World Radio every Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m.; KWKH in Shreveport also carries the program at 7:30 a.m. each Sunday morning. Then XEG, one hundred and fifty thousand watt Mexican station, beams its World Radio message over this area at 1050 kilocycles every Sunday night at 9:15 to 9:45 local time.

World Radio is also beaming the message of Christ in five foreign languages at this time, including French, German, Spanish, and the Tagalog dialect which is the major dialect in the Philippine Islands. The schedule calls for an Italian broadcast to begin October 19 of this year.

The ultimate goal of this mission effort is to preach the gospel "to every man in his own language" in our generation, said Evangelist Smith. To help this dream to be realized, two full - time evangelist are actively engaged in the World Radio work. Hal Frazier, ten years a missionary in France, has returned from France to be announcer and program director of the English - speaking broadcasts. Also working with Hal Frazier is Don Starks who travels across the United States speaking in behalf of world evangelism via World Radio among the churches of Christ. These two men are assisted by Mrs. Lynda Wright who serves as full-time secretary for the work.

World Radio is a mission thrust supported by cooperating sister congregations of the Churches of Christ. (The Church of Christ is not a part of, or is not affiliated with the National Council of the Churches of Christ).

Expansion

The congregation has experienced a good growth pattern which has resulted in two building projects in less than 24 months. The congregation, growing from the approximate 70 who met for the first worship service, has now reached an attendance of about 250 for Bible School each Lord's day morning. Therefore a third expansion program should be under way some time after the first of the year to help accommodate the increasing numbers, said the evangelist. This will include enlarging the present auditorium and adding more educational facilities. A 10 year expansion plan has been outlined by the elders of the congregation.

Many other programs are engaged in by the congregation. "Basically, however, their goal is to preach Christ to this community, state, nation, and world, with the help of Almighty God," said Evangelist Smith. "All are invited to attend every service of the Church of Christ. Bible classes begin at 9:30 each Sunday morning. Worship is at 10:30 a.m. Evening service time is 6:00 and Wednesday Bible study is held at 7:30 p.m.

The Pastor's Corner

WHO IS A CHRISTIAN?
A Christian is one who believes in the divinity of Christ.

Mr. Smith, Evangelist
White's Ferry Road
Church of Christ,
West Monroe

Is a man an American citizen just because he claims to be?

Or is a man a general in the United States Army simply because he says so?

Should a man who claims to be a doctor of medicine be respected as such purely on the basis of his claim?

Does a man's claim to be a Rotarian make him one? Ridiculous questions, you say? You are right.

These are foolish questions because all recognize that it takes more — much more than one's personal claim to make him an American citizen or a United States Army general or a medical doctor or a member of the Rotary Club. Fulfillment of certain standards, which involve definite and specific obligations, determines who is an American or a general or a doctor or a Rotarian.

The principle of employing standards is accepted universally except in religion. Strangely, it is only in religion that men have come to feel that standards are meaningless and may vary according to a man's wishes.

Many Variations

Take the question "Who is a Christian?", for example. Since there are so many variations among the doctrines that men advance in the name of Christianity, it has almost come to pass that the only definition that many would accept is this: "A Christian is one who says he is a Christian."

While Christendom may endorse this broad, tolerant definition of a Christian, Jesus would not. He said: "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 7:21). Simply calling upon Christ Jesus as Lord does not make one a Christian. Jesus also asked: "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Luke 6:46).

A Christian is one who believes something — not just anything, but one who believes in the divinity of Christ.

Jesus stated this requirement clearly: "For if ye believe not that I am He, ye shall die in your sins" (John 8:24). Christ made it plain that men must believe that He is the Messiah, the only begotten and divine Son of God. A man may believe truly in Christ's goodness and His great character and still not believe that necessary to keep him from dying in his sins. A Christian, then, believes that Christ is the divine Son of God; one who does not believe this is not truly a Christian — according to the standard of Christ.

A Christian is one who does something — not just anything, but one who does the will of God.

Will of God

That which one does in order to become a Christian is the will of God. The will of God which one does in becoming a Christian is revealed in the gospel (II Thessalonians 1:7-9). The gospel is something to be obeyed, not just believed (Hebrews 5:8,9). A Christian is one who has complied with the terms of the gospel by obeying "from the heart that form of doctrine" (Romans 6:17). A Christian, then, is one who does the will of God as revealed in the gospel; one who does not do the will of God as revealed in the gospel is not truly a Christian — according to the standard of Christ.

A Christian is one who abides in a relationship with God — not just any relationship, but one who abides in a definite and specific relationship made possible by Christ.

Apart from this relationship there is no approach to the Heavenly Father (John 14:6). One enters this specific relationship when he enters Christ (II Corinthians 5:17), and one enters Christ in baptism (Romans 6:3-5; Galatians 3:27). One must abide faithfully in this relationship, walking "in the light" (II John 1:7), unto death (Revelation 2:10). A Christian, then, is one who abides in this specific relationship with God; one who does not abide in this specific relationship is not truly a Christian according to the standard of Christ.

In order to become a Christian, then, one's faith in the Divine Son leads to a search for a God - man relationship made available by the Christ through birth — not just any birth, but the new birth.

Jesus said, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:3) When Nicodemus expressed astonishment at this demand of the Lord, Jesus explained by adding, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God . . . Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3:5,7).

Universal Command

This universal command of the Savior applies today. It is still true that men and women must be born again. It is the requirement Jesus made for entering the God-man relationship.

Do you wonder how it is possible to be born again? Nicodemus thought Jesus was speaking of a second physical birth, and could not understand how such a thing could be accomplished. Jesus was, of course, speaking of a spiritual birth: "That which is born of the Spirit is Spirit." (John 3:6).

REV. R. A. HOLLOWAY

Rev. R. Holloway Starts Duties As Pastor Here

Assuming duties as pastor of Riverview Baptist Church, Austin Ave., West Monroe, this morning will be the Rev. R. A. Holloway, 26, who for the past four years has been minister at Bethel Baptist Church of Rayville.

In the ministry for eight years, Rev. Holloway studied at Northeast State College here, and at Mississippi Baptist College, Clinton, Miss. Prior to the Rayville assignment he served in pastorates at Mineral Springs Baptist Church, Ruston, and at Cartwright Baptist near Choudrant.

He is a native of the West Monroe area. He is married and has three children, two sons, Ralph, 4, and Ted Allen, one, and a daughter, Lorri, two.

MISS NETA STEWART, a children's consultant with the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn., will lead conferences for workers with children ages 9 through 12 during the Louisiana Baptist State Sunday School Clinic, September 27 through October 1, at the First Baptist Church of Monroe. Sunday School specialists from five states have been given, program assignments during the clinic.

Away From Home

The Surf Route

The lemon trees move in a strong breeze, and below, as far as the eyes can see, is the golden California shore. White gulls swoop, and far out to sea is a sailboat which slowly disappears over the horizon. The blue Pacific is covered with fleecy whitecaps, and the spray blows against the cliff in an ethereal mist. There is a road which is bronze in the sunlight, and the teenagers call it "Surf Route 101." The Surf Route hugs the coast from the Mexican border in the south to the Oregon line. Sometimes it's U.S. 101, and often as not, it's California Number 1. It passes through storied and beautiful cities, palm-lined towns, and clings stubbornly to the cliff side as it winds northward.

The Surf Route runs through a different way of life. Some call it "relaxed speed," but whatever it is, it's worth living, and those who have touched the cool sands, felt the wind on the Point at Big Sur, listened to the quiet majesty of the sequoias, and romped through golden fields of poppy, seldom venture away again.

The Surf Route really begins north of San Diego in the semi-tropics. It cleaves up the coast through Solana Beach, Carlsbad, and Oceanside. It rushes by Camp Pendleton, and soon there is the mission at San Juan Capistrano. At Laguna, the mist blows, and out to sea, some twenty miles, is Catalina Island. There is a picture postcard harbor on the island at Avalon, and in the glass bottom boats you can see the fish lazily swimming along fifty feet beneath the glassy surface.

The Surf Route is impatient, and soon there are the sun-washed and immaculate seaside towns of Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. At Long Beach there is a crystal blue sky, and even at noon, the salt breeze is cool and crisp and blows through a shiny spotless city. As one peers through orange trees laden with fruit, an oil well seems to pop out of the ground. There are homes clinging to the side of the high hill overlooking the vast panorama of the great Pacific.

The Surf Route is in the greater Los Angeles area now, and on the beach side of California 1, one can almost go into the sea on breathtaking Palos Verdes Drive. Northward is Redondo Beach, El Segundo, Ocean Park, and Santa Monica. At Oxnard, the Surf Route again meets 101, and they pass through Ventura and into beautiful Santa Barbara. The blue - gray Santa Barbara mountains on which seem painted golden splotches are in the background. The mission is quiet now; in the old days, it was a restful spot for weary travelers on the El Camino Real. The good Franciscan Brothers founded some forty-six missions, each within a day's walk of each other.

There are rocks on the shore, and the high graceful combers batter their way past as they throw themselves at the beach. At St. Louis Obispo, one leaves 101 again, and follows California 1 along a hundred miles of what is possibly the most beautiful drive in the western hemisphere, if not the world. Several hundred feet below is the ocean, and the breeze is strong and cool. As far as one can see, there is the strip of beach, and the mountains seem to drop into the Pacific. Almost as if on a canvas, the painted coast is tiny matchbox houses near the beach far below; then, the high mountains leap out of the sea again and reach for the sky. At Bald Top, one is actually two thousand thrilling feet above the Pacific. Point Sur intrudes far out into the ocean, and soon there is Carmel - by - the - Sea. The Surf Route has visited picture card towns and cities, each more immaculate, beautiful, and restful than the other, but Carmel — one wonders if there can be anymore. At Pebble Beach is possibly the world's most spectacular golf course, so beautiful it is difficult to concentrate on the game.

The coast is craggy now, and in the morning, the fog seems to climb out of the sea and up the mountain side. Suddenly, there is San Francisco. Farther north the Surf Route goes. It leaves the happy cable cars and fishing boats of the Bay area, crosses the Golden Gate, and winds into beautiful Marin County. On and on it goes, up this marvelous coast until it's difficult to assimilate the continuing wonder and matchless beauty which is California.

In the gathering twilight, night seems to rush in from the Pacific. Past Pelican Point is Oregon, and the drive is over. Below, on the sands, are twinklinng campfires of a summer beachparty, and in the early night, there is a sign near the highway — "Follow 101 South — The Surf Route."

Raise Is Given To Principals

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Franklin Parish School Board at its regular meeting Friday voted to give a $100 a year raise to principals of all of the white schools and to principals of the three Negro high schools.

The board voted to authorize employing an additional fourth grade teacher at Wisner High School and employed Mrs. Gloria Etheridge as half-time secretary at Ward 3 Junior High School. They also approved Mrs. Margie C. Holloway as a physical education teacher at Crowville High School.

Brush and Palette

by Jan Bank

Today begins a new season of shows at the Masur Museum of Art, 1400 South Grand in Monroe. For the exhibit the Art Center Inc. selected the works of the Contemporary Art Group of Shreveport, La. Since this is a first show of the season it will no doubt attract many new visitors to the museum, both the new resident variety, and also people who may not have gotten around to seeing the gallery last year.

Excellent

The choice of show was an excellent one on two counts, first of all because the forty eight paintings comprise a variety of techniques and good balance of subject and second because it exhibits the work being done in our own immediate area. It would not be fair to most of us to bring in some of the more startling exhibitions, the new wave type of things being shown in the larger art centers of the nation, such as the massive electrical sign pop art, or the moving sculptures that look to the untrained eye like a refuse pile gone astray, when we are really just in the process of learning to accept the newer methods of painting. For the years before the museum opened we had to depend on what paintings we may have seen in our travels if we were interested enough to look for that kind of thing, or what we absorbed from books. Now we have a city owned gallery that has brought art as well as a place of interest to everyone. A place where we can learn by viewing without any knowledge of the subject, a place to enjoy ourselves or to meditate and that is how we should go to the museum, not with an attitude of straining to know the inner meaning of each painting, that is the artists own heart and soul, but rather to enjoy each painting for what it means to us, whether it be a scene that reminds us of someplace we've been or would like to go or just a mass of pleasing color combinations applied with unusual technique. Jasmine Morelock has expressed the theory of contemporary art in this manner "For art to communicate, it must first be personal. In painting the visual response is secondary to our sensitivity of feeling for the picture. Our scientific age causes us to be as analytical as machines, and we find ourselves looking for facts by test tube methods, without heart and soul. The visual experience of gallery looking becomes cold, examining each work with an attitude of "What is it: What is its function? It's usefulness? You see if it shows us what something looks like it has a degree of usefulness.

Real Objects

"Paintings have moved from the representation of real objects to nonobjects. It's almost as if artists rebel against becoming a machine that produces "things" and say 'No, you must see that here is more to life. There is a reality in things of life not visible, not tangible things. The good, the true, the beautiful are not found in materialism. Look deeper, these truths must felt by the heart' There is great sincerity in contemporary painting."

Leo Askew of the L. A. Art Gallery in Shreveport will give a gallery talk today at 3 p.m. There is no admission and it is open to the public. Just so there will be no misunderstanding this is NOT going to be a dry lecture, Mr. Askew is noted for his great sense of humor. His witty talks are a delight as all who have heard him speak will attest to.

Artists whose work will be on exhibit are, Clyde Connell, Willard Cooper, Flo Duval, Elizabeth Freidenberg, Beverly Jackson Huddleston, Phyllis Levy, David Middleton, Jasmine Morelock, Lucille Reed, Ruth Andress Stone and Jerry Wray. The museum will be open daily except Monday between the hours of 2 to 5 p.m.

SUED FOR DIVORCE

LONDON (UPI) — Australian actor Peter Finch, 49, was sued for divorce Saturday by his 29-year-old South African wife, actress Yolande Turner.

Finch is not defending the case, which is to be heard by a judge here later in the year.

The couple married in 1959 and have two children, a daughter, Samantha and a 2-year-old son, Charles.

Bolton Powers Way To Win Over Ouachita's Lions, 21-6

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

ALEXANDRIA — Bolton's Bears, hampered by six fumbles, erupted for two touchdowns in the final half and toppled the Ouachita Lions, 21-6, in the opening triple-A contest for each at Bolton Stadium here Saturday night.

The loss was the first defeat for Mark Boatright, new Ouachita head coach and athletic director for the school with which he spent his prep days.

	Bolton	Ouachita
First downs	8	5
Net yards rushing	155	36
Net yards passing	49	25
Passes at'pted, completed	9-3	12-4
Interceptions	0	0
Punts, average	2-22	7-29.8
Funbles, lost	6-4	3-2
Penalties, yardage	2-20	1-5

After being held to a 7-6 advantage at the half, Bolton tallied and late in the third period and closed out the game scoring early in the fourth.

Ouachita took the second half kickoff but ended up punting from its own 44. Three plays later, on his own 42, Bolton's Johnny Carter swept around left end, picked up a key block from quarterback Dudley Williamson at the 20, and eluded three other would-be Lion tacklers on his way to a 58-yard touchdown run. With 4:19 remaining in the third quarter, Buddy Joseph booted his second of three extra points, making the score read 13-6.

On the first play of the fourth period, Buddy Barwick recovered Dickie McNair's fumble and the Bears set up operations on the Ouachita 20.

With a second and goal situation on the 12, Williamson went off right tackle and on into the endzone for the final tally. After Joseph's PAT the score reach 21-6 with nine minutes and four seconds remaining in the game.

Bolton scored the first touchdown late in the first quarter. The Bears were forced to punt after taking the opening kickoff, but on the first offensive play by the Lions, McNair fumbled, and Steve Grantham recovered on the 43.

Bolton was set back five yards, but Williamson found Grantham on the next play, hitting him with a 29-yard pass. Six plays later Darald Smith plunged into the endzone from one yard out with four minutes and three seconds to go in the quarter. Joseph added the PAT a 7-0 margin.

Ouachita's lone tally came late in the first half. Being forced to punt from their own 44, the Lions' Charles Carlisle fell on the loose ball after Carter dropped it on Bolton's 14. Lion quarterback Ronnie McCain then hit Johnny Knighten on the one to set up a first and goal play. McCain hit gold dust on the next play on a quarterback sneak.

James Hale's boot for the PAT was low.

The Bears, aided by Carter's 58-yard touchdown run, romped from 155 yards rushing while holding the Lions to 36 yards.

Carter led the Bears' backfield with 59 yards while Joseph had 30. Williamson ended the night with 27 yards, and wingback Bob Noel added 24.

Knighten totalled 53 yards rushing for the Lions on 16 carries. Quarterback McCain was thrown for minus 28 yards.

In the air, Bolton completed three of nine passes for 49 yards, McCain completed four of 12 for 25 yards for Ouachita.

Bolton, while accumulating eight first downs, held Ouachita to five.

Bolton, not having to punt in the second half, booted twice for 22-yard average.

The Lions punted seven times for a 29.8 average.

Ouachita travels to Jonesboro-Hodge, who defeated West Monroe Saturday night, in its next encounter Friday night.

Jonesboro Spills Rebels

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

Jonesboro put together three substained drives for scores and made them stand up with a tight defense in a 20-0 victory over West Monroe at Rebel Stadium Saturday night.

A crowd numbering close to 5,000 saw the Tigers hold the potentially dangerous offense of Rebel head coach Walter Brister to 44 yards on the ground and 60 yards through the air.

	West Monroe	Jonesboro
First Downs	5	8
Net Yds. Rush	44	130
Net Yds. Pass	60	10
Passes (A-C)	14-6	2-1
Had Intercepted	0	0
Fumbles Lost	0	2
Penalties Lost	4-40	4-40

The Tigers exchanged two punts with the Rebels in the opening quarter before scoring on a drive that covered 41 yards.

Jonesboro halfback Rodney Mize picked up 29 yards on two carries in the drive that ended when James Earley scored from six yards out after taking a pitchout from quarterback Randy Phillips.

Randy Toms kicked the extra point as the Tigers jumped off to a 7-0 lead.

The Tigers blocked a Rebel punt and recovered it on the West Monroe 45 yard line in the second stanza, and took advantage of the break with a drive down to paydirt that took only five plays.

Bobby Earle, a fast reserve fullback, scampered the final 25 yards for the score on a quick-opener up the middle. The extra point attempt failed but the Tigers took a 13-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

The final tally came after a 55 yard drive in the fourth quarter, following a scoreless third period.

The Tigers expended 13 plays on the thrust to the end zone. Mize picked up the six points on a three yard run around left end without being touched.

Toms kicked the final point of the night to make the score 20-0.

The usually explosive Rebel offense, which was slowed considerably by the Tiger defensive squad, showed only sparks of scoring threats.

Ronnie Wiggins, spearhead of the Rebel attack, was apparently slowed by a throat infection he picked up earlier in the week. Wiggins played only part of the third quarter and sat out in the last frame.

The senior quarterback was pushed for a -13 yards rushing by the Tiger defense. Wiggins managed to complete four of nine pass attempts for 41 yards.

Several perfect or near perfect passes by Wiggins were dropped by his receivers.

Brister used 160-pound Mike Riley at the quarterback position during the fourth quarter. Riley completed two of five pass attempts for 10 yards.

Fullback Richard Ware picked up over half of West Monroe's rushing yardage as he gained 23 yards on four carries. Mike McGee managed seven yards rushing while Pete Lea and Mike Riley each added five yards. Doyle Reynolds carried once for four yards.

Earle was top ground gainer of the night with 41 yards followed by Mize with 33 yards. Each of the two Tiger backs scored.

The Tigers gained 130 yards on the ground to nearly triple the Rebel's ground gain.

Tiger quarterback Phillips completed one of two pass attempts for ten yards.

Steve Randall, a 200 pound Rebel tackle, was taken to the hospital at halftime for a check of an injury.

Score by quarters:

Jonesboro	7	6	0	7	—20

Scoring summary:
Jon — James Earley, 6 yard run. Randy Toms kick.
Jon—Bobby Earle, 25 yard run. PAT no good.
Jon—Rodney Mize, 3 yard run. Toms kick.

Jim Maloney Stars In Cincinnati Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fire-balling Jim Maloney singled in the winning run and pitched a five-hitter as the Cincinnati Reds came from behind and edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 Saturday.

The triumph kept the Reds 1½ games behind the National League-leading san Francisco Giants, who defeated Chicago 6-4. The fifth-place Pirates fell 5½ back.

Maloney's hit capped a three-run uprising in the sixth inning.

After the Pirates got a pair of runs in the third, Maloney got tough and retired 14 batters in a row before Bill Virden singled in the eighth. The victory was Maloney's 18th against seven losses.

Gordy Coleman reached first on a force play in the Cincinnati sixth and Frank Robinson singled. Then, after Deron Johnson advanced the runners on a ground out, John Edwards walked, loading the bases.

Leo Cardenas tied the game with a two-run single to left, sending Tommy Sisk, 6-3, to the showers and bringing on Joe Gibbon.

Maloney cracked a Gibbon pitch to left, and the Reds were in front. Cardenas went to third and Maloney to second on the play when left fielder Willie Stargell bobbled the ball. But Don Cardwell came on and got Tommy Harper on a grounder, ending the inning.

Stargell put the Pirates in front by singling home Bob Bailey and Bill Virdon in the third inning. Bailey had walked and Virdon had doubled. After Stargell's hit, Donn Clendenon walked, but Maloney retired the next two men, ending the inning.

The Pirates made another bid in the eighth. Virdon led off with his third hit, a single. Roberto Clemente then bounced to Maloney who turned toward second but did not throw, and both runners were safe.

Maloney then induced Stargell to fly out to left, got Donn Clendenon to foul out to first and threw out Bill Mazeroski.

Stargell's two RBI gave him 100 for the season, making him the first Pirate to reach that level since Dick Stuart, now with Philadelphia, drove in 117 in 1961.

Brown's Homer Sparks Triumph

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gates Brown's three-run homer in the third inning got the Detroit Tigers off to a lead they never gave up Saturday as they defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3.

Brown's home run, his seventh, came off starter and loser Luis Tiant, 11-10, with two out and Joe Sparma and Jerry Lumpe on base via singles.

The Tigers added two more runs before the third inning ended. After Al Kaline walked and Norm Cash singled, Floyd Weaver replaced Tiant and yielded run-producing singles to Don Wert and Bill Freehan.

Sparma, 13-7, shut out the Indians until the sixth when Max Alvis walked, Rocky Colavito doubled and both scored on Fred Whitfield's single.

Another double by Whitfield in the eighth, following a single by Colavito and a wild pitch, brought home another run and brought Orlando Pena to the mound. Pena retired Larry Brown on an infield pop, ending the inning.

McCovey Carries Giants Past Cubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie McCovey, with a three-run homer and a double, and Jim Hart sparked the National League - leading San Francisco Giants to their eighth straight victory Saturday, a 6-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The victory kept the Giants one-half game ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated Houston 8-3.

McCovey, who hit a grand slam homer Friday night, put the Giants ahead to stay with a three-run blast in the first inning off starter Bill Faul. The blow followed a walk to Jesus Alou and Willie Mays' single.

McCovey also led off the fourth inning with a double and came all the way home when Faul grabbed Hart's infield single and threw it past first. Hart reached third on the error and scored on Faul's wild pitch.

After Ron Santo made it close with a three-run homer in the sixth, the Giants added an insurance run in their half of the inning when Mays singled and Hart doubled him home.

The Cubs, hitless in the first three frames, put a single and double together in the fourth for their first run off starter Bob Shaw, now 16-8. Glenn Beckert singled, and Billy Williams doubled him home.

Then in the sixth, Beckert tripled with two out and Billy Williams walked. Santo followed with his 29th homer.

Giant relievers Masanori Murakami and Gaylord Perry pitched out of jams in the seventh and eighth innings.

The Cubs loaded the bases with two out in the seventh, but Murakami ended the threat by getting Beckert on a pop up.

Monroe Optimist Announce Plans For Gun Clinic

The Monroe Optimist Club announced plans Saturday for the Fourth Annual Gun Safety Clinic to be held at the Pine Hills Gun Club to be held September 25th co-sponsored by the Sterlington Optimist Club.

Gun safety will be featured for youngsters and adults attending. The public is invited.

Joe Ware, project chairman, said morning and afternoon sessions will be held under the supervision of Sheriff Bailey Grant and the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department. Grant will serve as clinic master.

Instructors from the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission will school youngsters in the proper methods of handling firearms. Youngsters will not handle loaded firearms.

The clinic program also will feature demonstrations on the power of firearms by Winchester - Western representatives, Jim Stotts and Art Hill, a poisonous snake demonstration by Kit Beecher, director of the Monroe zoo, and trap and skeet shooting by the Pine Hills Gun Club.

Ware explained the clinic would be conducted on the club grounds located at the Bancroft Camp. He said the Optimist Clubs also hoped to have William J. Jordan, an expert marksman from the National Rifle Association, to appear on the program.

The morning session will begin at 9:30 a.m. through noon with the afternoon session from 2-4:30 p.m., but youngsters need not attend both sessions.

Monroe city busses will provide transportation from City Hall at 8:15 a.m. and 1 p.m. while the Sterlington Optimist Club will provide bus transportation from the A. L. Smith School.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — X-rays showed Saturday that second baseman Cookie Rojas of the Philadelphia Phillies bruised his right heel in Friday night's game against St. Louis. Rojas is expected to be sidelined for a few days.

Ready For Banner Year

Wealth Of Talent Roams Down In Tigertown

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Charlie McClendon has such a wealth of football talent at Louisiana State this fall that he plans to shuffle eight players in and out of his backfield at random and he's using the quarterback who won 10 games for him over two years strictly on defense.

So, it's little wonder that the Bayou Bengals are picked to finish high in the Southeastern Conference race—and also in the nation—this fall.

COACH McCLENDON
. . . Bengal Bossman

But McClendon, a soft-spoken Arkansan who learned his football from Paul (Bear) Bryant, is constantly telling himself, his players and the world: "You don't win football games with talk. It's got to be done on the field with 60 minutes of hard work and no mistakes — or at least 10 fewer than the opponent."

Ask the tiger coach what he thinks his chances are in the SEC and he'll reply: "We have a real good chance. I'd say one in eleven."

There are eleven teams in the league.

In three years as bossman at tigertown, McClendon has won 24 games, while losing 7 and tying 2. He's visited the Cotton, Bluebonnet and Sugar bowls.

Much of the Tiger hopes this fall rest on Pat Screen, an extremely talented young man who can run and throw the ball with the best of them. The trouble is, however, that Screen has spent more time in the hospital than on the playing field for the past two years.

With Screen healthy, the Tigers stand much more of a chance of being a great football team this fall.

Billy Ezell, who took over for Screen in both 1963 and 1964 and earned praise from McClendon as "one of the best all around field generals I've ever coached," will operate strictly on defense this year as long as Screen stays off the injury list.

Nelson Stokley, a red-shirted sophomore who whips off passes like bullets, will alternate with Screen at quarterback.

Elsewhere in the talent-laden backfield, McClendon will have senior Joe LaBruzzo and sophomore Jim Dousay at tailback, juniors Gawain Dibetta and Billy Masters at strong back and seniors Don Schwab and Danny LeBlanc at fullback. Schwab was the top rusher in the SEC last fall.

"These boys are really so close that it's tough to decide who will actually start," said McClendon.

The LSU coach retooled his offense to a split-I for the coming campaign and sent Doug Moreau, a flanker last fall back to end.

Moreau was the SEC's leading scorer last fall and booted 13 field goals, equalling a national single season record.

Key man in the offensive line will be 6-foot-5 George Rice, a 255-pounder who was another all-conference choice at tackle last fall.

In addition to Ezell, the defensive corps will be headed by linebackers Mike Vincent, another all-conference player in 1964, and Bill Bass.

The Tigers open their campaign against Texas A&M Saturday night here and then take on Rice, Florida, Miami, Kentucky, South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Mississippi State and close with Tulane.

LSU athletic director Jim Corbett has already put McClendon on the spot, stating bluntly several weeks ago, "We'll be in a bowl."

STATE GRID ROUNDUP

Rams Clip Tigers

BASTROP (Special) — The Bastrop Rams displayed passing and running might, one big quarter and pleasure with their new quarterback Jimmy Gilbert as they marched over the Winnfield Tigers, 39-2, in a season football opener Saturday night.

Quarterback Gilbert, a Bossier High player a year ago, came to Bastrop when the Rams hired his dad, Jimmy Gilbert, away from Bossier as coach.

Young Gilbert passed for two touchdowns and otherwise distinguished himself in the Ram backfield.

Bastrop packed a four-touchdown wallop into the second quarter after Ronnie Grimmett had put the Rams ahead with a ten-yard touchdown dash to cap a 60-yard drive in the first period.

Gilbert passed to Grimmett on a 40-yard play for the first of the second period TDs.

The Tigers fumbled the following kickoff, Bastrop recovered deep in Tiger territory, and Gilbert promptly fired another touchdown pass, this time to Kenny Kelly.

Midway of the period Wain Reily intercepted a Tiger pass at mid-field and scored on a 50-yard scamper. Before the half ended Reily had scored again, this time on a 55-yard romp after taking a Tiger punt.

The Rams were scoreless in the third period and ended the night's scoring with a lone TD in the fourth quarter. A Bastrop punt was fumbled, covered by the Rams on the Tiger two, and Robert Defee immediately rammed over for the TD.

Bastrop points after touchdowns were scored by Gilbert, after the third TD, and Tommy Hebert, after both Reily TDs.

Winnfield got its two points on a safety in the third quarter.

Bastrop had the edge in first downs, 11 to 5.

Hornets 33-0

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville scored five times, all from the one-yard line, to defeat Holly Ridge, 33-0 for the first time in three years.

Fullback Don Cumpton barreled over for the first two scores. The first came after a 30 yard run in the opening quarter by halfback Darwin Peoples and the next came in the second period after a 40 yard pass play from quarterback Danny Sorey to end Larry Shoemaker. Cumpton then booted the PAT after failing in an attempted run after the first tally.

In the third Glenn Alexander recovered a Holly Ridge fumble on the 10 and returned to the four to set up a one yard scoring plunge by halfback Bob Taylor a few plays later. Cumpton booted again.

The Hornets tallied twice in the closing frame. Mike Cooper boomed over from the one with Cumpton again picking the PAT. Kenny Thames later scored from the first stripe after end Steve Grantham picked off the Eagle pass.

Rayville picked up 11 first downs during the contest with the Eagles grabbing only three.

Sicily Island Wins

SICILY ISLAND (Special) — The Sicily Island Tigers counted a touchdown in each of the first three quarters in marching to an 18-0 season opening football victory over the Farmerville Farmers here Saturday night. The game had been postponed from Friday because of Hurricane Betsy.

Jerry Watson went 13 yards on an end run for the first quarter touchdown.

Billy Ray McCarty scored the next two, getting his second period score on a 24-yard sprint after Watson had set it up with a 26-yard dash.

Jerry Zeagler recovered a Farmerville fumble at the Farmers' ten in the third period and McCarty ran it over on an end sweep.

The Islanders chalked up seven first downs against five for Farmerville.

Panthers Triumph

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — The Lake Providence Panthers piled up 11 first downs and a 371-yard total offense in driving to a 13-0 season opening football victory over Eudora, Ark., Saturday night.

After a scoreless first half David Shockley, Panther full back, crashed over from six yards out to send his team ahead after a 20 - yard drive. Gary Murray kicked the point after.

Quarterback Riley Brown passed to David Ivey on a 35-yard play for the final touchdown in the fourth period.

Ivey gained 97 yards on passes he caught, mostly from starting quarterback Freddy Fortenberry.

The Panthers rushed for 234 yards and completed seven of 16 passes for 137 yards. Two LP passes were intercepted. Panther marches were also stalled by penalty assessments totalling 143 yards. They fumbled four times.

Eudora's best play of the night was a 60-yard gain on a pass from Cliff Powell to end Tommy Lewis in the second quarter, but the Panthers denied the invaders a score.

Eudora, with only three first downs, rushed for 40 yards and completed two of eight passes for 74 yards. One Eudora pass was intercepted.

Block By 20-7

NEWELLTON (Special) — Block of Jonesville, defending 3-A champs, followed the running of fullback Darrell Taylor to a convincing 20-7 victory over Newellton here Saturday in the opening contest for both clubs.

Taylor, a 205-pound senior, got Block off to a quick start in the first quarter as he helped spark at 70 yard drive that reached paydirt in 11 plays. The TD came on a two yard plunge by Taylor and he also ran the extra point.

After a scoreless second period, Newellton fumbled a punt and Block recovered it on the Newellton 15. Taylor scored again in three plays, this one from a yard away. He again ran the PAT.

The Jonesville crew picked up their last tally later in the third frame when Block end Jerry McEntyre rushed Newellton's quarterback James Byrd, stole the ball from him and raced 18 yards to score. The point-after attempt failed.

In the fourth, Newellton got on the scoreboard when it recovered a Block fumble at the 10. Two plays later Byrd passed to end Bobby Lee who scored as time ran out. The extra point was run by Byrd.

Block's highly tauted quarterback Owen Holland was as effective as usual running with the ball against Newellton but the 1964 all-District performer failed to find the range through the air. He attempted four passes, completing none.

Vikings By 12

VIDALIA (Special) — The Vidalia Vikings scored in the opening and closing minutes of the game here Saturday night to defeat Cathedral of Natchez, 12-0 in the opening game of the season.

Shortly after the opening kickoff quarterback Johnny Fredricks put the capper on a 66 yard drive by dashing over the goal from the three yard line. The drive was highlighted by a 38 yard run by Fredricks.

The Vikings posed another threat in the third period by pushing to the 20 after both opponents went scoreless in the second frame, however it was not until late in the contest that Vidalia scored again.

Douglas Hebert swept around end for the score from two yards out to end a 44 yard drive. Pat Brailey attempted to kick both PAT's but failed.

The Vikings picked up 11 first downs and limited Cathedral to six while chalking up 181 yards on the ground and 27 through the air on one completion. Cathedral attempted 20 passes and completed only four and lost two to interceptions.

A pass interception by Vidalia's Tommy Lanius in the fourth stopped a Cathedral on the Viking 20 yard line.

Trojans Downed

TALLULAH (Special)—Cooper of Vicksburg turned three recovered fumbles into good use and tossed a long scoring pass to down the Tallulah Trojans, 27-7 here Saturday night in the Trojans' regular season opener.

Cooper got its first two tallies on recovered fumbles. In the first period Mike Ezell dashed around end for five yards and the score after Cooper recovered on the Trojan 15. He also kicked the point after. Cooper got its first score in the second frame after picking up a fumble on the Tallulah 19 yard line. Fullback David Theoble pushed over from the four but the kick failed.

Later in the second Ezell tossed a 47 yard pass to Jessie Williams to cap an 85 yard drive. Stern missed the PAT.

Tallulah got on the scoreboard in the third when Don Newmann hauled in a 37 yard pass from Don Williams with Gene Crawford kicking the PAT. The scoring drive covered 65 yards.

With two minutes left in the contest, the Vicksburgh based team jumped on another fumble, this one on the Cooper 30 and in three plays sent Ezell around end for 47 yards and the final score. Stern then kicked.

Tallulah's highly successful halfback Woody Cangolatti suffered a broken foot on the first play from scrimmage.

The Trojans bounced Cooper 22-6 in last year's opener.

Winnsboro Romps

MANGHAM (Special) — Winnsboro, the 2-A Wildcats who were picked for the second division in some preseason pools, set out early trying to prove the ratings wrong by pounding out a 26-12 victory over Mangham here Saturday night before a good crowd.

The Winnsboro club tallied in every quarter for the win, while holding Mangham scoreless in the first two periods before allowed single markers in each of the final quarters.

Winnsboro picked up its first touchdown on an eight yard run by Tommy Bankston but failed to convert the PAT.

In the second frame Ronnie Stephens worked his way open and hauled in a 36 yard TD pass from quarterback Lee Pankey. The extra point was successfully booted by Mike Livingston.

Ronnie Winborn got the Wildcat machine rolling again after intermission, breaking loose on a 45 yard scoring jaunt. Livingston again converted.

Mangham finally got on the scoreboard in the third when quarterback Newton Bruce capped a short drive to paydirt with a six yard scamper. The PAT failed.

The Dragons' first touchdown had been set up by a fumble recovery on the Winnsboro 23.

Fullback Mike Lord capped the Winnsboro scoring with a two yard plunge in the last quarter and an attempted kick for the extra point was no good by Winborn. Lord's touchdown capped a 63 yard drive.

Carl Pailette accounted for the second Mangham six-pointer on a 10 yard pass reception from Bruce with about two minutes left in the game. The point after failed.

Winnsboro finished with 232 yards rushing and 11 first downs while Mangham had 125 yards on the ground and six first downs.

Spartans Click

DELHI (Special) — The Caldwell Spartans, stymied on the ground by a sturdy Delhi defense, turned to the air lanes in the last quarter to fight from behind and defeat the Black Bears, 13-7, in a district 2-A conference opener here Saturday night.

Trailing 7-0 at the start of the final period, the Spartans called on the throwing arm of Duane Wilks to change the tune of the game.

Ronnie Darden, Jeff Floyd and Van Tarver were Wilks' main targets with Tarver taking the first Spartan touchdown pass from Wilks after an 80-yard drive following interception of a Delhi pass, and Darden grabbing the next pitch on a 29-yard play to top a 61-yard drive.

Caldwell made all its fourth quarter yardage, except five yards, by passing.

Jim Thomas scored Delhi's touchdown on a 16-yard run in the second quarter to end a 41-yard drive after interception of a Caldwell pass. Thomas ran for the point. Caldwell's lone conversion was counted by Darden after the Tarver TD.

Delhi dominated the first half of play, the third quarter was a standoff, and the fourth period was all Caldwell. Delhi got six first downs, four in the first half; Caldwell totalled 11 firsts, nine in the last half.

Caldwell completed 18 of 30 passes and had two intercepted. Delhi threw seven passes without a completion and one was intercepted.

Defensive standouts were David Cooksey and Mike Jones, Delhi linebackers, and Sonny Payne, Caldwell halfback.

Holland Stars

ARCADIA (Special) — Ronnie Holland, in his first varsity football game, turned into a one-man gang for Arcadia Saturday night as the Hornets floored Bernice 26-6.

Holland, a tailback in the Norte Dame box formation, ran for 212 yards and did all the passing as Arcadia ran up an amazing 551 yards total offense in Coach Jimmy Harrison's debute.

The Hornets racked up 19 points in the opening quarter.

Curtis Bowman' two-time all district back, climaxed a 70 yard march for the first score. Gerald McGuire, shifted from end to wingback this season, sprinted 70 yards for the second.

Holland passed 64 yards to Johnny Durrett for another and then ran five for the final.

Mickey Green got a one yard score for Bernice. Harrison, former La. Tech standout, took over this year for Mal Sistrunk, who became an assistant at Louisiana College.

Knights Roll

VIVIAN (Special) — The Knights of Woodlawn smashed Class AA North Caddo Saturday night 59-0 in the first game for both teams.

Led By quarterback Terry Bradshaw and featuring scatbacks Tom Hagin, Russel Evans and Bobby Brown, the Knights rolled up 16 first downs, 239 on the ground and 89 through the air, and set a new school scoring record.

It was the worst defeat for the Rebels in their 10 year history.

Woodlawn's old scoring record was 47 points set last year against the same team.

Six Knights made it to paydirt in the touchdown parade with Evans, Tommy Spinks and Mike Turner getting two each.

Giants Rumble

JENA (Special) — Quarterback Chris Tarver threw three touchdown passes, ran for another and generally destroyed the LaSalle defense with his play selection here Saturday as Jena's Giants became giants again with a 57-0 white-washing over the visiting Tigers.

Tarver, a 150 pound senior, passed to Colin Cannon for a 20-yard tally and to Bill Williams for 15 yards and a tally in the first period, then hit Cannon again in the third frame on a play that covered 46 yards. He tallied himself in the third period on a one yard sneak.

Juney Fowler accounted for all three of the extra points that Jena picked up, booting three of five tries.

Jena's other TD in the opening period, aside from Tarver's passes, was scored by halfback Raymond Nicholson on a two yard scamper.

In the second quarter fullback Gene Wilbanks collected the only score on a one yard run.

Halfback Gary Don Moseley intercepted a LaSalle pass in the third period and scooted 37 yards to score. Tarver's run and pass to Cannon accounted for the other two third-period touchdowns.

Reserve signal caller Skipper Buckhalter got into the act in the last period, rambling 12 yards to score and halfback Mack Fowler capped the big night for Jena with a 43 yard burst late in the game.

Panthers Popped

STERLINGTON (Special) — District 3-B Wisner exploded for 21 points in the third quarter here Saturday night to hand 2-B Sterlington a 27-7 setback riding mostly on the merits of the Darrell Beach to Gary Hoggatt passing combination.

The Panthers' David Stuart blasted over from the one in the first quarter after Sterlington recovered a fumble on its own 31 and pushed downfield in 14 plays. The PAT was good.

Wisner came back to move within a point of the Panthers in the second period when Beach tossed a 25 yard pass to Hoggatt after a fumble recovery on the Sterlington 10 yard line.

In the third Beach again tossed to Hoggatt for 22 yards and the score with the senior quarterback running over the PAT. The drive covered 65 yards and took only eight plays.

Later Beach pitched a 20 yard scoring pass to the sophomore halfback with halfback Lynn Walters converting.

Tackle Henry Beach recovered a Sterlington fumble on the Panthers' 1 yard line with fullback Bobby Danpier carrying to the one in the next play and blasting over on the next. Walters ran the PAT.

Wisner rushed for 161 yards and passed for 110 in taking 14 first downs with Sterlington taking 10 on 152 yards rushing and 15 passing.

Dodgers Top Houston For 8th Straight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, staked to three unearned runs in the first inning, capitalized on five Houston errors and beat the Astros for the seventh straight time Saturday night, 8-3.

The victory kept the Dodgers one-half game behind the National League leading San Francisco Giants.

The victory went to Claude Osteen, who was shelled for 12 hits and finally driven from the mound after he squandered part of an 8-1 advantage. Ron Perranoski finished up.

Ford Wins 3-1, Ties All-Time Yankee Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran southpaw Whitey Ford tied Red Ruffing as the New York Yankees' all-time winning pitcher Saturday night with a 3-1 victory over the skidding Chicago White Sox, who lost their fifth in a row.

The defeat dropped the White Sox nine games behind American League leading Minnesota.

The victory was the 15th of the season for Ford and the 231st of his 14-year major league career, all with the Yankees. Ruffing also won 231 games as a Yankee.

Rhome Sparkles

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Rookie quarterback Jerry Rhome, returning to the field where he starred as a collegian, fired three touchdown passes Saturday night, leading the Dallas Cowboys to a 34-21 victory over the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game.

Rhome, playing only the second and fourth quarters, hit on scoring tosses of six, 56 and 26 yards.

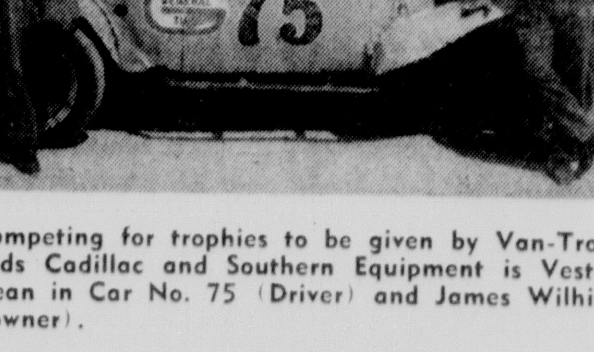
The final touchdown pass, to speedster Bob Hayes, came with less than two minutes left and ended all hopes for the Bears, who had rallied for two fourth quarter touchdowns.

A crowd of 33,525, largest ever to witness a football game in Tulsa, gave Rhome, former Tulsa University passing star, a standing ovation when he took the field.

Rhome, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 142 yards, hit Perry Lee Dunn from six yards out for the first score and came back 19 seconds before halftime with a TD toss to Frank Clarke.

Veteran Don Meredith scored Dallas' first touchdown on a two-yard keeper and Danny Villanueva kicked field goals of 42 and 24 yards in the first half.

Chicago, trailing 27-7 going into the final quarter, rallied as Rudy Bukich hit Jimmy Jones on a pair of scoring passes. But, after the second tally moved the Bears within six points with four minutes left, Hayes returned the kickoff to the Dallas 48 to set up Rhome's final touchdown pass.



Competing for trophies to be given by Van-Trow Olds Cadillac and Southern Equipment is Vester Dean in Car No. 75 (Driver) and James Wilhite (owner).

Minnesota 'Express' Picks Up Steam, Pascual Returns

BOSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins' pennant-bound express picked up added steam Saturday as Camilo Pascual turned in a strong pitching performance in an 8-4 romp over the Boston Red Sox.

The Twins' fourth straight victory boosted their American League lead to nine games over Baltimore and Chicago and reduced their magic pennant-clinching number to 10.

Any combination of Minnesota victories and losses by the other contenders totaling 10 will give the Twins the pennant.

Pascual, a 31-year-old righthander, served notice he is returning to form in his second start since undergoing surgery for torn muscles near his right shoulder Aug. 2. He went 7 1-3 innings, allowing five hits.

Relying as usual on his sharp-breaking curve and using his fast ball sparingly, Pascual pitched hitless ball until Carl Yastrzemski homered with one out in the fourth.

The Twins, feasting on their Boston cousins in chummy Fenway Park, raked four Red Sox pitchers for 17 hits, including four by Jimmie Hall and three each by Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles.

Minnesota added insult to injury by stealing five bases, including a pair apiece by Hall and Versalles. However, the Twins' dash on the basepaths cost them a chance for a big uprising in the fifth.

In that weird inning, Minnesota collected three walks and two singles but managed only one run. Bob Allison walked and Don Mincher singled. Mincher took a wide turn at first and was run down for one out.

Allison then was tagged out at the plate as Earl Battey missed an attempted bunt on a suicide squeeze play. Battey and Rich Rollins then walked. Jerry Kindall singled across Battey, but took a turn at first, which Boston turned into a rundown that ended with Rollins being thrown out at the plate.

Pascual boosted his record to 9-3 with his first victory since June 8. Boston rookie Jim Lonborg took the loss, and is 9-16.

Tony Cloninger Is Whole Show In Braves' Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Cloninger allowed only one hit — Cleon Jones' pinch hit single in the fifth inning — and drove in three runs as the Milwaukee Braves handed the New York Mets their eighth straight defeat 9-0 Saturday.

The victory kept the fourth-place Braves 2½ games behind the National League-leading San Francisco Giants, who defeated Chicago 6-4.

Cloninger gained his 21st victory against nine defeats in pitching the Braves' second one-hitter against the Mets in less than 24 hours. In Milwaukee's 3-1 triumph Friday night, Wade Blasingame, Billy O'Dell and Phil Niekro combined to hold New York to one hit.

Winnfield Bears Kickoff Second Season Monday

WINNFIELD (Special) — An undefeated Winnfield Junior High School football team puts its record on the line Monday night when the Bears meet the Many Junior High School Tigers at Winnfield.

The Bears ripped through a nine game schedule last year without a defeat and captured the Junior High School Bowl Championship.

Winnfield powered its way to 334 points while holding its opponents to 56 during the 1964 season.

Coach Tommy Straughan has only one regular Bear back from last year's team.

The probable starting lineup for the Bears will be: ends — Phil Harrington (143), David Procell (135); tackles — Charles Eagles (215), John Lowery (185); guards — Doug Allen (140), Joe Stewart (140); center — Kerry Etheridge (140); quarterback — Tommy Tinnerello (145); halfbacks — Glenn Stewart (145), Randy Poisso (1440); fullback — Hershell Long (155).

Tarkenton Sparks Vikings By Giants

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Fran Tarkenton sat out the first half, then threw three touchdown passes to bring the Minnesota Vikings a 24-9 victory over the New York Giants Saturday in a National Football League exhibition game before 14,250.

The victory was the Vikings' fifth in an unbeaten pre-season schedule. It was New York's third loss against one victory and a tie.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Statistics of the New York-Minnesota National Football League exhibition game:

	Vikings	Giants
Score	24	9

Yards penalized	69	83

Tarkenton pitched two quick passes for a score at the start of the third quarter to break a 3-3 tie after Coach Norm Van Brocklin had given rookie Bob Berry his first professional game experience in the first half.

Berry, yearling quarterback from Oregon, connected on only three of nine pass attempts for a total of 39 yards, as defenses for both teams dominated first half play.

Earl Morrall, acquired by the Giants recently from Detroit, suffered also at the hands of a charging defense. He gained 105 yards on 11 completions in 31 tries.

Gary Wood took over as Giant quarterback with 7½ minutes to go. He threw 12 yards to Bob Crespino for New York's only touchdown with 3:24 to play and had moved the Giants close to the goal once more when the gun sounded.

Tarkenton quickly put the Vikings in front when he entered the game. He pitched 19 yards to halfback Bill Brown, another star who rested the first half, then lofted one to Paul Flatley, who outran Dick Lynch to complete a 61-yard scoring play with 4:26 gone in the third period.

Browns Top Steelers

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown plunged for two touchdowns and Ernie Green raced 50 yards for another as the Cleveland Browns came from behind to beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 28-16 Saturday night in the Akron Rubber Bowl.

Green took a pitchout from quarterback Frank Ryan and raced down the left sideline untouched, giving the Browns a 14-13 edge early in the third quarter.

Brown, who drove over from the one-yard line in the first quarter, circled left end for a four-yard touchdown in the third period before a crowd of 23,162 in the final National Football League exhibition game for both teams.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Statistics of the Cleveland Browns-Pittsburgh Steelers NFL exhibition:

Rookie quarterback Bill Nelsen tossed a 17-yard touchdown pass to Gary Ballman and Mike Clark booted field goals of 14, 19 and 21 yards in the Steelers' first game under new coach Mike Nixon.

Ryan connected on a 43-yard touchdown pass to little Walter Roberts with 58 seconds left in the game.

The Browns, who finished the exhibition season with a 5-1 record, gave up the ball six times — four times on fumbles and twice on interceptions by Jim Bradshaw.

LeRoy Kelly fumbled twice in the second quarter, the first time on the Browns' 18-yard line. Nelsen then connected to Ballman for the touchdown. Kelly fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Ed Pine recovered for Pittsburgh on the 20. Clark booted a field goal from the 14.

Bradshaw made his first interception in the second quarter to set up Clark's 19-yarder, then picked off another in the final quarter.

The Steelers, who finished the pre-season schedule with a 0-5 record, put a strong rush on Ryan in the first half. Their defense held Cleveland to minus 10 yards passing and only 12 yards rushing.

Green Bay, 31-13

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bart Starr and Paul Hornung provided the offensive thrust as the Green Bay Packers won their fourth National Football League exhibition in five outings, downing the St. Louis Cardinals 31-13 before a record home crowd of 50,858 Saturday night.

Starr passed for three touchdowns, one of them to Hornung, who also threw a touchdown strike. Don Chandler added a 15-yard field goal for the Packers.

Meanwhile, the Packer defense held the Cardinals without a touchdown until the final period when Charley Johnson hit Sonny Randle on a 19-yard scoring pass. Jim Bakken contributed the other Cardinal scores with two 15-yard field goals.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Statistics of the St. Louis-Green Bay NFL exhibition:

The Cardinals, who won one and tied one in five exhibitions, took a 3-0 lead on Bakken's field goal midway through the first period, but the Packers quickly tied it on a Chandler field goal.

Exactly one minute later the Packers scored their first touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Hornung to Marv Fleming. A fumble by the Cardinals' Bill Triplett on his own 30-yard line set up the play.

Starr threw eight yards to Boyd Dowler, five to Hornung and 17 to Max McGee for Packer touchdowns in each of the three remaining periods.

Unitas Stars

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, riding the arm of quarterback Johnny Unitas, defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, 33-14, Saturday night and finished their National Football League exhibition schedule with a 5-0 pre-season record.

Unitas didn't throw a touchdown pass but accounted for 285 yards in the air, hitting on 18 for 30 and setting up all the Colt scoring. The Colts gained a total of 335 yards passing.

It was also the last pre-season game for the Eagles, who wound up with a 2-4 record.

Lenny Moore started off the scoring for the Western Division champions, bucking over from the one-yard line midway through the second quarter. Lenny Lyles added another TD for the Colts, with a 26-yard runback of an intercepted King Hill pass, before the Eagles were able to score.

Hill, who replaced starting quarterback Jack Concannon early in the game, scored for the Eagles from the one after a recovered fumble.

Lou Michaels hit on a 49-yard field goal and Jerry Hill plunged over from the one for the Colts' third-quarter scoring while the Eagles tallied on a short pass from Hill to Glenn Glass.

Tom Matte tossed a four-yard scoring pass to Willie Richardson and the Colts added a safety when Hill ran out of the end zone attempting to pass.

Defending AFL Champs Crush Patriots, 24-7

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills raised their 1964 American Football League championship pennant Saturday night, then thrilled a record home crowd of 45,502 by crushing the Boston Patriots, 24-7 in the season opener for both teams.

Buffalo's powerful defensive unit provided the Bills with their winning margin.

Charley Warner, lightest man on the field at 170 pounds, came up from his defensive back position after five minutes of play in the third period, intercepted Babe Parilli's pass on the Boston 22 and raced into the end zone for the touchdown that snapped a 7-7 tie.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Statistics of the Boston Patriots-Buffalo Bills AFL game:

	Patriots	Bills
Score	7	24
First downs	13	17
Rushing yardage	104	77
Passing yardage	111	271
Passes	10-35	19-42
Passes intercepted by	2	5
Punts	8-42	8-41
Yards penalized	97	51

On the first play after the kickoff, Buffalo safety George Saimes grabbed another of Parilli passes on the Patriots' 29. The Bills picked up one yard on the ground, missed on two passes and then Pete Gogolak booted a 36-yard field goal.

Buffalo, which won two of three games from Boston a year ago, including the Eastern Division playoff contest, iced its 1965 opener less than six minutes before the final gun. The Bills moved 76 yards in seven plays and scored on a one-yard smash through the middle by quarterback Jack Kemp.

Parilli, 35, had trouble finding his receivers in the first half, repeatedly overthrowing them by two to three yards. But in the second period, when Boston began its scoring drive, Parilli found Art Graham with a 33-yard pass that carried the Patriots to the Buffalo 31.

White Airs Three-Unit Team

A three-unit lineup—courtesy of 1965's liberalized substitution rules —for game against Southeast Missouri has been announced by Northeast State Coach Dixie White.

Northeast will play a defensive team, an offensive team and an eleven that can go both ways in the opener at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

On the defensive unit will be ends Don McCrary (185) and Charles Rohner (195), tackles Preston Hollier (212) and Ronnie Sumter (220), guards Wayne Cunningham (185) and Andy Mapp (210), center Mike Shepherd (208), quarterback Larry Johnson (165), halfbacks Thomas Eddleman (168), Alton Thomas (170) and fullback Bobby Scafidel (192).

The offensive lineup will be Kenneth Holland (185) and Mickey Cleveland (182) at ends, Wayne Clement (219) and Charles Rogers (230) at tackles, Steve Hidalgo (185) and Raymond Taylor (211) at guards, James Kirkendall (223) at center, Melvin Shows (170), Garrison (152) and Chick Whistler (165) at halfback and Charles Bailey (185) at fullback.

Tommy Lewis (198) and Al Douroux (185) will be the ends on the two-way unit,

SUMTER HOLLIER KIRKENDALL ROHNER

Laird Evans (198) and Norman Spinks (200) the tackles, Greg Jubert (190) and Joe Bondurant (188) the guards, Wayne Armbrester (186) the center, Steve Mansur (170) the quarterback, Lynn Mitchell (163) and David Elkin (188) the halfbacks and Nic LaBarbera (171), a former guard, the fullback.

The two-way team will be used both as a unit and to provide substitutes for the other two clubs.

There are only two players on the three teams which did not participate in spring practice. They are Whistler and Mansur, a couple of freshmen.

Northeast's 19 lettermen are spread fairly evenly throughout three units. There are seven monogram winners and one 1964 squadman each of the offensive and defensive teams and five lettermen on the two way club.

Six members of the defensive unit ended last season as offensive starters or defensive specialists. Three offensive team players were 1964 regulars and one was a regular in 1963. Three members of the two - way year.

Biggest of the three lines is that of the offensive team, which averages 205 pounds. The defensive line averages 202 and the two-way line 192. The defensive backs average 174 pounds, the offensive backs 168 and the two-way runners 173. For the entire eleven, the offensive team and the defensive unit average 92 pounds a man and the two-way club 185.

The Indians have ended their two-a-day workouts and will practice once a day this week with registration and the beginning of classes scheduled at the College. The squad will leave for Cape Girardeau by bus Friday morning.

Northeast will play its first home game Sept. 25 in Ouachita Stadium here against Delta State.

Junior High League Opens Competition

The Northeast Louisiana Junior High football league swings into action for the current season Tuesday night with three games on tap.

Riser, under Coach C. L. Wink, plays host to Sterlington with Southside, coached by Robert McGowan hosting Bastrop and Ouachita traveling to Oak Grove.

Six teams comprise the league with all games to be played on Tuesday nights with all games starting at 7 p.m.

Riser plays the heaviest schedule, a nine game stand including two games against Good Shepherd. Three schools Ouachita, Lee, and West Monroe play a six game slate with Bastrop playing seven and Southside undertaking eight.

Other coaches in the league include: Cecil Thurman, Ouachita; Ray Gambino, Bastrop; Ken Bates, West Monroe; and Van Leigh, Lee.

With the exception of Riser and Ouachita, which opens and closes with Oak Grove, all other squads meet their opponents only once during the season.

A team trophy will be awarded at the end of the season.

Fregosi Leads Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Fregosi drove in two runs with an opposite-field double in the eighth inning and scored the winning run on a fielder's choice as the California Angels nipped the Washington Senators 6-5 Saturday.

Pinch hitter Al Spangler beat out an infield hit, opening the eighth and Charley Dees singled down the third-base line. Fregosi scored both with a double to second, tying the game 5-5. He moved to third on the throw to the plate and scored on Willie Smith's infield out.

Jim King had put the Senators ahead 5-3, in the seventh with a three-run pinch homer, scoring behind Don Lock, who singled, and Ed Brinkman, who walked.

Aubrey Gatewood was the winner and Jim Hannan, recalled from Hawaii this week, was the loser.

Gary Player Captures Lead In First Round Of 'Series'

Akron, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player, the well-rested U. S. Open champion, put on a late charge Saturday to grab the first round lead in the $77,500 World Series of Golf.

Player, who hasn't played competitive golf for three weeks, fell behind Masters champion Jack Nicklaus in the early going, pulled into a tie with a birdie on No. 12 and took the lead with another birdie on No. 17 when he dropped a three-foot putt and finished with a 37-33—70 to match par.

Nicklaus was one stroke behind the black-clad South African with a 36-35—71. British Open champion Peter Thomson collected successive birdies on the 16th and 7th holes to remain in contention with a 38-35—73, and PGA titlist Dave Marr, hampered by erratic play, had a 38-36—74, four shots off the lead.

The chase for the top prize of $50,000 ends with a second and final round today with the final six holes being televised from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. EDT over NBC-TV. The runner-up will receive $15,000 with $7,500 for third place and $5,000 for fourth.

Player carded only two bogeys, and both came on the first nine. He hit a four wood into the trap on the 230-yard No. 5, blasted out and missed an 11-foot putt. On the 450-yard No. 8, Player's second shot landed in the left trap. He blasted out within five feet but missed the putt for another bogey.

Player's birdie on the 180-yard par 3 No. 12 game on an eight-foot putt after he put a five-iron on the green. Another brilliant iron shot on No. 17 enabled him to wrest the lead from Nicklaus.

Player's drive went 263 yards into the center of the fairway. He then put a seven-iron right next to the pin and holed out.

Nicklaus flirted with disaster on both the first and third holes while salvaging pars. But on the 500-yard No. 2, he amazed the galleries with a 335-yard drive on his way to his first and only birdie of the round.

On No. 3, Nicklaus drove into the trees to the left. He came out with a low five-iron shot through the woods, put it on the green and got down in two putts.

Thomson, who was tied with Nicklaus after two holes, had a perfect drive on the third hole but his second shot went into the water, and he finished with a double bogey 6.

Despite back-to-back bogeys on the eighth and ninth holes, Nicklaus kept his lead until the 12th when Player dropped his eight-footer for a birdie 2 to pull into the tie.

Player was certain his rest did him a lot of good.

"Anytime you can get away it's good," said Player. "But mind you, you can't take off for too long a stretch."

Nicklaus wasn't especially satisfied with his game "although I thought I played the back nine rather well." The Columbus blaster had pars all through the final nine holes.

Bulldogs' Offense Improves Steadily

RUSTON (Special) — While not showing up spectacularly during intrasquad scrimmages, Louisiana Tech's offense is steadily improving, according to Coach Joe Aillet who sends his Bulldogs against Rice University Saturday night in Houston.

"The interior line is tremendously important in our offense and the improvement this past week in that area has been notable," Aillet said.

He cited the work of the two offensive centers, junior Paul Clark of Shreveport Woodlawn and sophomore Jim Willis of Neville of Monroe. The tackle performances have also improved, including the work of Wayne Mathews of Springhill, a junior, and Claude Carrigan of Shreveport Woodlawn, a senior. Second unit operatives Bill McBunch and Gene Smith provide depth at that spot.

Developing at guard are Corkey Cassity, a junior, and Dick Walden, a senior, both from Shreveport Fair Park. Aillet also hopes to get valuable aid from guards Jesse Carrigan of Shreveport Fair Park and Glenn Murphy. They are both freshmen and handicapped by lack of game experience.

Senior Wayne Davis of Shreveport Woodlawn, best known for his pass catching talent, has been doing a superb job at end. "I doubt if there is a better blocking end in the conference," Aillet said in noting that Davis will play tight and split end. Jim Jones, the soph letterman of 1963 at flankerback, has been converted to split end. Jones is having some success but is handicapped by lack of experience at the position and the many things he is required to do. Second unit terminals will be Maurice Greer of Vidalia and Ed Walker of Shreveport Woodlawn.

Halfbacks are meager in numbers but have been doing an excellent job. Soph Robert Brunet was thrust into the starting role when two-year lettermen Alden Reeves and John Wurzburger were lost in pre-practice mishaps. He has been outstanding. Eddie Taylor, Ruston soph, was looking good until hampered by illness this past week. Buzz Clark of Lake Charles, a freshman, is a good prospect but is learning the system.

Richie Golmon is a talented soph fullback who poses a constant threat with his speed but has limited experience and is adjusting to his duties. Junior Tom Linder is a solid performer in a back up role. Lynn Cavanaugh of Pineville is a frosh working into the Tech system.

Billy Laird has a thorough knowledge of the Tech system at quarterback and understudy Phil Robertson, a freshman, has been making rapid progress.

Offensive - wise, Aillet said the line blocking is steadily improving and the backs are doing a better job every day.

Wes Covington's Home Run Leads Phillies By Birds

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wes Covington's 14th homer capped a three-run sixth inning as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated St. Louis 3-1 Saturday night behind the seven-hit pitching of Chris Short.

Covington's blast over the right field wall also scored Johnny Callison, whose double had brought home Rich Allen with the Phils' first run.

Tulsa Follows New Passer To Easy Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bill Anderson, a former defensive halfback, threw two touchdown passes Saturday in leading the 1965 edition of the aerial minded Tulsa Hurricanes to a 14-0 victory over the University of Houston in the air conditioned Astrodome.

A crowd of 37,138 escaped 96-degree temperatures by moving indoors to witness the nationally televised game that brought football to the dusty turf of the $31.6 million domed structure.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Statistics of the Tulsa-Houston football game:

	Tulsa	Houston
First downs	15	11
Rushing yardage	91	111
Passing yardage	230	109
Passes	24-47	8-20
Passes intercepted by	1	0
Punts	8-36	7-40
Fumbles lost	1	4
Yards penalized	56	36

Houstin was a narrow favorite, but Anderson's passes, spectacular catches by Howard Twilley and Neal Sweeny, and a rugged Hurricane defense that caused four Houston fumbles permitted Tulsa domination most of the way.

Houston crossed midfield only three times—under its own power in the third and final periods and after a Tulsa punt traveled only 18 yards in the fourth. The Cougars got no deeper than the Tulsa 30.

Anderson specialized on defense last season while serving as a seldom used understudy to Jerry Rhome, the collegiate ebon champion, but his passes triggered every offensive threat as the Bluebonnet Bowl champions moved to their seventh consecutive victory.

Both of Anderson's touchdown passes came in the second period, a six-yarder to Twilley and an eight-yarder to Sweeny. The scoring drives were good for 87 and 42 yards with Anderson contributing 119 yards by completing 10 of 12 pass attempts.

Twilley was the favorite receiver as Anderson completed 25 of 47 passes for 230 yards. He had only one interception. Twilley's 11 receptions covered 111 yards.

Four first half Houston fumbles were charged to Warren McVea, a sophomore speedster who scored 591 points during his schoolboy career at San Antonio's Brackenridge High.

McVea carried 11 times for a net of 21 yards. Dick Post led Houston with 37 yards in 10 plays, while Ken Parsons led Tulsa with 34 yards in 10.

Visit By Betsy

Dove hunters no doubt are finding the going sticky this weekend after Hurricane Betsy's visit, but you can rest assured that the die-hards are out trying anyway.

Whether the hunting now is any good remains to be seen, because the weather has a great influence on migratory birds.

Opening weekend was a good one for dove hunters with an ample amount of birds to go around. Fortunately there weren't any gun accidents reported.

It's interesting to point out here that while accidental deaths in 1964 reached the highest level since 1936, firearms fatalities decreased 11 per cent in the same period.

This information came to us from the National Shooting Sports Foundation.

Statistics recently released by the National Safety Council show that firearms ranked last in the eight major causes of accidental death in 1964.

Improper use of firearms accounted for 2,400 of the 105,000 accidental deaths in 1964.

This compares with 47,700 people who died in motor vehicle accidents, 19,100 in falls, 7,700 in fires, 6,700 in drownings, 3,600 of all types of poisonings, 2,600 in railraod accidents and 16,800 in all other types of accidents, according to the Safety Council.

Surprisingly enough, most firearms accidents occur in the home, not on the range or in the field. In fact, statistics show that, despite a 50 per cent increase in the number of hunters and shooters since 1950, hunting and shooting accidents have decreased 13 per cent.

This, of course, speaks well for the people who go afield for sport, but it doesn't eliminate the danger of carelessly handling firearms. So be careful.

Another important factor brought out by the opening of dove season was the sportsman's relationship with the landowner. The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department received several complaints from landowners whose property — fences and cattle — had been damaged by hunters.

This happens annually, since so many people are so anxious to get out on opening day they forget to realize the importance of taking care of the landowner's property.

We can't overemphasize this, because the hunter is at the mercy of the man who owns the land. Without him, the hunter can put his gun away for keeps.

Incidentally, the Arkansas Game & Fish Commission has decided not to resume lease agreements on state refuges amounting to approximately 65,000 acres of land.

This means that new hunting territory will be open to Arkansas hunters this season. Refuges to be closed are located in the counties of Calhoun, Hot Springs, Bradley-Cleveland, Lincoln and Conway.

Louisiana hunters, on the other hand, are faced with a diminishing amount of property for hunting due to the clearing of woodlands for farming purposes.

That's another reason why hunters should take care of the other man's property now more than ever.

Then, if the weather and conditions cooperate, the hunter can enjoy his sport afield.

Rotenone Fish Tests

There's a way now to determine what kind of shape a lake is in regarding fish population. It's the rotenone test, which involves the killing of fish in areas of a lake to determine the population.

Several lakes and streams have undergone the rotenone test recently in Louisiana, including six in the Monroe area, but Cheniere Lake outside West Monroe came out with the darkest report.

The test showed Cheniere with a total fish population of 51 pounds per acre. Jim Davis says this was the lowest of any lake checked this year.

Cheniere had 39 per cent shad, 18 per cent bass and crappie and 26 per cent sunfish. The rest were commercial.

Since the lake is owned by Ouachita Parish, the Cheniere Lake Commission will ask the Police Jury to request a study by the Wild Life & Fisheries Commission. Purpose of the study is to find means to improve the lake.

For a comparsion, Black Bayou had 256 pounds per acre, including 44 per cent shad, 21 per cent bass and crappie, and Bayou DeSiard had 230 pounds per acre, including 58 per cent shad, 18½ per cent bass and crappie and 21 per cent sunfish.

D'Arbonne Lake at Farmerville had a low percentage per acre with only 73½ pounds per acre, but Jim says the lake is new and should improve. Shad amounted to about half of the fish with 12½ per cent bass and crappie, 31 per cent sunfish and the rest commerical.

Incidentially, the gates to the lake were opened Friday morning to drop the water level as recommended by the fisheries biologist. Jim was up for the opening despite the storm Friday.

While some lakes showed not enough fish. Bussey at Bastrop came up with an overpopulation, hitting 423 pounds per acre. That included 74 per cent shad, four per cent bass and crappie, 21 per cent sunfish and the remainder commercial.

Because the lake is obviously overpopulated, Jim Davis recommended that International Paper Co. take suitable action, including the possible drawdown of the lake.

Clear Lake at Start had 336 pounds per acre, including 44 per cent shad, 18 per cent bass and crappie, 31 per cent sunfish and the rest commercial. So it looks like Clear Lake is in good shape.

Little Man's Corner

It was a good time of the year for outdoors people and before Hurricane Betsy came calling the little men made news afield.

Fishing took a back seat to dove hunting, but the anglers still kept at it. Black Bayou paid for Paul Danna, who twice landed the limit of bass.

Others didn't do as well with the bass, including Frank Savana, who caught four and J. L. Doss, who also got four. Pete Shambro landed five.

Lee Hicks caught 43 big specs and 21 bream one day, but came back another day and landed 25 specs and 35 bream. A. W. Womack of Bastrop landed 90 specs. W. A. Stewart and his wife caught 80 white perch.

Matt Ard said one fisherman at Black Bayou landed a bream that had been partially swallowed by a bass.

Locally, dove hunters were numerous, including David K[illegible]hn and Ike McMullen who reported getting the limit at Delco. David's 8-year-old son, David Jr., bagged his first dove.

Iley Gaar of Newellton reported the dove hunting was good in the Newellton area on the first weekend. We joined Mike Tarver, William Rodriguez, Kenny Elliott, I. W. Rogers, Luke Brinson and M. A. Burson in Richalnd Parish for a nice shoot on opening day.

John Blanchard of Bastrop [illegible] his boys, Gregg and Jeb, [illegible] two good shoots in West Carroll and Morehouse. Norwood Harrison of Mer Rouge got the limit in Morehouse.

And in the Lake St. John area, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson got the limit of bass in Lake Concordia on the H&H. Reno Hall of Ferriday landed the limit of bass in St. John.

Dove hunting was good around St. John where John Lee, George Earl Lee and William Allen Butler got the limit. Also bagging the limit were Donald Lincecum, Huey Arthur, Bobby Arthur, J. B. Martin and George Chandler.

In the Lake Providence area, Mrs. Morris Coleman caught 37 white perch at the River Chute. Mrs. Sam Foutz got 23 and Claude Rinicker landed 35.

Mrs. Coleman and also Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bryan of Spearsville and Mrs. Mary Bryan of Epps caught a big string of cat and bream in the Old River Chute.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keller landed 58 white perch at the Stack Island Chute.

From Minden, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Koonce caught the limit of white perch in Saline Bayou. A. M. Vail of Jonesboro did too. Charley Speaks landed a fine catch of bass in Big Bayou.

Dove hunting apparently was good around the Ft. Necessity area. The Neil Buie party had a successful hunt, including Johnny Rau, well-known Monroe sportsman.

Prentice Grabs 2-Stroke Lead

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Jo Ann Prentice of Pensacola, Fla., became the first woman pro in three days to break Eugene Country Club's par, shooting a two-under 70 Saturday to take a two-stroke lead into the final round of the Pacific Ladies' Golf Classic.

Miss Prentice carded three birdies and a bogey over the par-72, 6,610-yard course, while second-round co-leaders Sandra Haynie of Longview, Tex., and Judy Torluemke of North Key Largo, Fla., were faltering with respective rounds of 77 and 80.

Tribe Grid Coaches

Hargon Is Lone NLSC Alumnus

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series on the football coaching staff of Northeast State College. The stories have been prepared to aid followers of Northeast in becoming acquainted with the men who will be trying to build a successful football program for Northeast during 1965 and the coming years.)

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

Wallace Hargon, offensive backfield coach and golf mentor, is the only Northeast alumnus on the Indian staff and also the youngest Tribe mentor.

The 32-year-old coach, who had a birthday Sept. 7, went to prep school in Tallulah where he played football, basketball and track. He accumlated 10 letters for the Trojans during his four-year stint there, winning four varsity letters in football as a halfback and three each in basketball and track.

WALLACE HARGON
. . . Guides Backfield

Coach Hargon spent his freshman, and half his sophomore year at LSU on a football scholarship. He played freshman football and redshirted in 1953, his sophomore season.

However, in the spring of 1953 Devone Payne, who had coached Hargon in high school, got the head coaching position at Louisiana College and Wallace transferred there. Incidentally, Northeast basketball coach Lenny Fant was La. College athletic director at that time.

But Hargon's stay was a short one at La. College. Coach Payne took over at Northeast in 1954 and Hargon came with him. Ineligible that fall (1954) because of the Gulf States Conference ruling concerning transfers, Wallace did run track in 1955 and played football for the Indians the next fall.

Although halfback was his position, Hargon was called on to play quarterback the first half of the 1955 season for Northeast when the Tribe's other three signal callers were out with injuries. He performed well enough for NLSC to win two of four games under his guidance.

After graduating from Northeast in 1956, he went to Waterproof where he and Bill Lansing served as "co-head coaches." Hargon points with pride to his one-year record there.

"We had nine boys out the first day of practice," Wallace quipped recently, "and I had to get out and recruit. We finished the season with 13 boys and had a 4-5-1 record. It was quite a season."

From here Hargon went to Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, Miss., and served three years as an assistant coach under A. J. Mangham, then three more as head coach.

Wallace took over as head coach in 1960 and had records of 1-9, then 5-5 and finally 6-4 in 1962. While there he tutored two all-America Junior College quarterbacks and one fullback who won the same honor. He also coached Ira Coates and Ralph Sanders who are both now members of the Ouachita High staff.

In the summer of 1963, Hargon accepted the position of principal and athletic director at Chamberlain-Hunt Military School in Port Gibson, Miss. He stayed there a year, during which time he did no coaching, then came to Northeast with Dixie White in 1964.

Coach Hargon is married to the former Ann McClure of Tallulah and they have two boys, Mike 6 and Mark 3.

NEXT: Ralph Lane, defensive backfield coach.

U.S. Bubble Bursts: Ashe Is Defeated

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Cagy Manuel Santana of Spain burst the latest American tennis bubble when he cut down sensational Arthur Ashe Jr., 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 Saturday and qualified to meet South African Cliff Drysdale for the 85th U. S. Men's Singles Championship.

Dark-horse Drysdale, seeded eighth, used a two-fisted backhand as a weapon of destruction in erasing an out-of-touch Rafael Osuna of Mexico 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In the 22-year-old Ashe, winner Friday over top-ranked Roy Emerson of Australia, Americans had begun to envision a new day in the game — reminiscent of the glory days of Bill Tilden, Don Budge and Jack Kramer — and the first American champion since Tony Trabert in 1955.

But Santana, the quick, heady court matador from Madrid who less than a month ago wrecked American Davis Cup hopes, used a sparkling shot variety to blunt Ashe's powerful serve and volley game.

Americans, however, got a lift when bespectacled Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., upset the two-time champion, Maria Bueno of Brazil, in the women's singles semifinals 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Moffitt faced a bleak prospect in today's finals, however, against the top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, holder of the Wimbledon crown, who crushed little Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 6-2.

The finals, starting at 1 p.m. EST, will be nationally televised over ABC-TV.

Should Santana beat Drysdale, as expected, he would become the first player from continental Europe to win the U.S Nationals since Henri Cochet of France did it in 1928. The last European in the finals was Germany's Baron Gottfried von Cramm in 1937.

Drysdale, a handsome, 24-year-old tournament regular with a classic game, is the second South African to gain the last round here. Eric Sturgess lost to Pancho Gonzales in 1948.

A whistling, cheering crowd of 14,000 saw Santana come from one set back and grit his way through a painful groin injury to take the vital match which again put a damper on American tennis hopes.

A disputed shot in the fourth set played a big role in Ashe's defeat. Trailing 3-4 after losing his service in the seventh game, Ashe was struggling for a rebreak in a long deuced game.

Finally with advantage against Ashe, Santana hit a blazing shot that seemed to nip the edge of the back line. The linesman yelled "out" and Santana had the game.

The crowd roared and whistled its disappointment but the die was cast. Santana held, yielded the ninth game to Ashe's service and won with a love game in the 10th.

Young Ashe, a player with unlimited promise, was not as effective as against Emerson the day before but he had a different opponent — a smart, tricky player who fed him an assortment of hots and kept him constantly off balance.

In the sixth game of the fourth set, Santana pulled a groin muscle reaching for a short shot but he tried to hide the pain. He held on to take the match.

Ashe played brilliantly in the first set, breaking Santana in the sixth and eighth games with slashing returns.

But in the second set volleying errors cost him his service in the third game, a loss he never recouped, and a double-fault in the fifth game of the third set and faulty volleying in the seventh cost him two more games on service.

Blancas Ahead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Homero Blancas, a rookie on the PGA tour, grabbed the third round lead in the Texas State Open golf tournament Saturday with a 3-under-par 68.

Arkansas Drills For First Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' varsity scrimmaged against reserves for an hour Saturday in the Razorbacks' last general practice before the season's opener with Oklahoma State.

Coach Frank Broyles said the Hogs will start working Monday on Oklahoma State defensive and offensive formations.

Arkansas meets OSU at Little Rock next Saturday night.

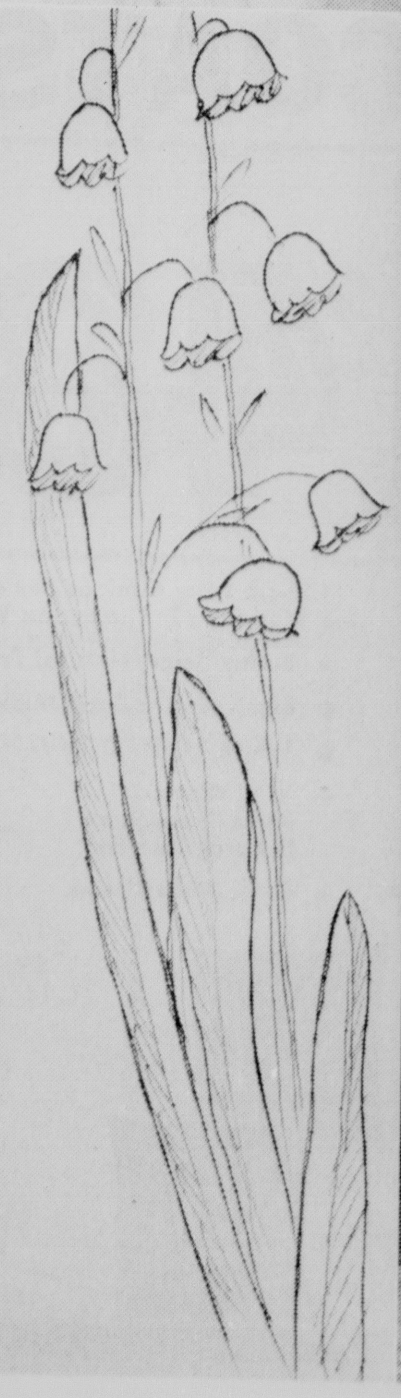
Following a wedding trip to Hot Springs the couple will be at home in Baton Rouge where both will graduate in January from Louisiana State University.



Newcomers To Northeast Faculty, Staff Feted At Patio Party On Bayou

The lawn of the W. J. Christmas home, 1514 Tidewater, overlooking the bayou was scene of an informal party given Saturday afternoon, September 11 by the Courtesy Committee of Northeast Louisiana State College Women's Club, assisted by the executive board, to entertain new faculty and staff wives.

Name tags in the shape of autumn leaves were presented arriving guests by Mrs. Buckley Qualls. Favors for each guest were bookmarks in the form of a pennant, inscribed NLSC.

Potted green plants provided a background setting for the sunken patio where the party was held. Refreshments were served from a redwood table, covered with a pale yellow linen cloth, where Mrs. Overton P. James served bottled drinks from an old-fashioned black iron wash pot.

Hanging from a tree directly over the refreshment table was a large wicker basket holding an arrangement of bronze and gold chrysanthemums with pennants inscribed "Welcome Newcomers" and "NLSC".

Boat rides up the bayou to view the Northeast Louisiana State College Campus from the water provided entertainment during the afternoon.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. J. F. Hawkins, chairman; Mrs. O. N. Walley, Mrs. Howard Morton, Mrs. Buckley Qualls, Mrs. Robert Holt, Mrs. Overton P. James, Mrs. Woodrow Flanary, Mrs. W. J. Christmas, Mrs. George T. Walker, Mrs. Dale Bedgood, Mrs. Neil Covington, Mrs. Neil Douglas, Mrs. E. H. Allen, Mrs. Jasper Hammonds, Mrs. Ralph Lane and Mrs. Dwight Vines.

Guests invited to attend included Miss Judy Snellgrove, Mrs. David Knight, Mrs. Donald Joyner, Mrs. Robert Dickie, Mrs. William Morgan, Miss Lottie Holbrook, Mrs. Daniel T. Fletcher, Mrs. John D. Upchurch, Mrs. John Burgin, Mrs. Bernard Shadoin, Mrs. Patrick McLane, Mrs. Richard D. Curry, Mrs. Lorraine Mixon, Mrs. Robert Traux, Mrs. B. L. Ricks, Mrs. Billy E. Letson, Miss Rita J. Stuart, Mrs. Robert Rickett.

Couple Wed In Clayton Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized September 4 in the Methodist Church at Clayton, Miss Ginny Bruce became the bride of Wayne Brown of Shreveport. Rev. L. W. Taylor performed the 6 p.m. nuptials in a setting of white candelabra holding white tapers and entwined by ivy, alternated with pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli.

The bride was escorted by her uncle, Dan Williams, who gave her in marriage. Her gown of white satin and Alencon lace was fashioned with moulded bodice, short sleeves and bell-shaped skirt. Her tiered veil of silk net cascaded shoulder length from a satin circlet. She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses encircled with gold rosebuds and a ruched edging of net and lace.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Moore of Baton Rouge, who wore a street length gown of gold tinted satin and headdress of gold net on a satin bandeau. She carried a nosegay of fall roses in the autumn gold motif. Renee Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Wilkins, dressed in gold, sprinkled rose petals in the path of the bride.

James King of Ferriday served as best man and ushers were Donald Moore of Baton Rouge and Mike Wells of Ferriday.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dan Williams, aunt and uncle of the bride, entertained at a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church with Mrs. Agnes Hutchinson, aunt of the bride and George Bruce, father of the bride, assisting in receiving a large number of guests. Another aunt, Mrs. A. B. Lafferty of Alexandria, also assisted. For the occasion Mrs. Williams wore a blue silk dress with lace trim, blue velvet hat and matching accessories with a gold-throated white orchid.

Mrs. A. Hubert Garner presided at the guest book and the bride's cake was served by Mrs. Polly Laffery. Alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. Eva Keenan and Mrs. W. Prentiss Carter Sr.

Following a wedding trip the couple will reside in Shreveport where Mr. Brown is employed. The bride is a graduate of Ferriday high school and attended Louisiana Tech. Mr. Brown was graduated from Springhill high school and attended Northwestern State College, Natchitoches.

Kathleen Cochran Weds James Taylor Horton Jr.

In an evening ceremony Friday, September 10 at First Baptist Church, Monroe, Miss Kathleen Nevitt Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nevitt Cochran, 1105 North Seventh, became the bride of James Taylor Horton Jr., son of Dr. James Taylor Horton and the late Mrs. Horton, 1303 Hilton.

Large standards of white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums with fern flanked the altar where a white grilled chancel rail, garlanded with southern smilax formed a background for the bridal party. Myriad white cathedral tapers in wrought iron candelabra, based with magnolia foliage and placed in graduated tiers illuminated the setting where the double ring ceremony was performed by the groom's father.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, organist, accompanied on the violin by Lane Allen. The Rev. Walter Mangham Jr., soloist, rendered two selections, accompanied by Mrs. Allbritton and concluded the ceremony with a wedding prayer.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was wearing a formal gown of silk organzine peau with moulded bodice of reembroidered Alencon lace, designed with scalloped bateau neckline and long sleeves scalloped at the wrists. Tiny seed pearls were sprinkled over the lace bodice. A self fabric bow defined the back waistline from which the bouffant skirt swept into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of pearls and small satin leaves. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal rosebuds and stephanotis with love knots in the white satin streamers.

Miss Susan Cochran, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a floor length sleeveless model of mint green crystal taffeta with bateau neckline, scooped in back. A self fabric bow accented the back of the fitted waistline and the skirt featured inverted pleats. Her headdress was a matching Dior bow atop a circular scalloped veil. She wore mint green slippers, short white gloves and carried a bouquet of Fuji chrysanthemums with English ivy cascading in white satin streamers.

Matron of honor, Mrs. William Ross Graves and the bridesmaids, Miss Shawn McBride, Miss Janet Lovelady and Miss Paula Bauer were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Dr. Paul Bergeron of Nashville, Tenn. Groomsmen were Earl Webb and Jerry Johnston, Monroe; Larry Kennedy, Jonesville and Norman Hoyt, Cheneyville. Ushers included William S. Nadler Jr., Plaquemine, cousin of the bride; James Williams III and William Matthews, Baton Rouge, cousins of the groom. Candlelighters were Greg Williams and Dale Matthews, Baton Rouge, also his cousins.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cochran wore a champagne silk pique model with small feathered hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was a green cymbidium orchid. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Williams of Baton Rouge, wore a silk dress in shades of blue with accessories to match and a white cymbidium orchid.

A reception followed in the Gold Room of the Hotel Frances, hosted by the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Neal W. McHenry. Assisting in extending courtesies were their daughters, Mrs. Tom Pete Godwin and Mrs. William S. Nadler, Plaquemine and Mrs. J. Bridger Thornhill.

The round bride's table, draped in white organza over taffeta held the tiered wedding cake, encircled with greenery. Punch was served from twin tables, covered in white, and holding identical flower arrangements flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra. In the background tall white Grecian pedestals held urns of chrysanthemums, stock and gladioli.

Presiding at the bride's guest book were Mrs. John Loftin, Miss Beverly Blackmon and Mrs. Hugh Glasgow. A memory candle, encircled with small white mums and fern, ornamented the white covered table. Alternating at the punch bowls were Mrs. John Matthews, Baton Rouge, aunt of the groom, Mrs. A. B. Myatt Jr., cousin of the bride and Mrs. A. Scott Hamilton. Cake was served by Miss Rosa Belle McDonald, Mrs. C. C. Shultz, Mrs. Frank Gordon and Mrs. W. Tom Davis. Tea girls were Miss Myla Lance, and cousins of the bride, Misses Leila and Margie Godwin and Genevieve Nadler of Plaquemine.

For travel the bride changed into a gold knit two-piece ensemble with gold suede and black accessories. The couple left immediately for Mount Olive, North Carolina where Mr. Horton has accepted a position as instructor in Mount Olive Junior College.

A graduate of Neville high school, the bride attended Louisiana College, Pineville and Northeast Louisiana State College. Her social sorority is Phi Mu. Mr. Horton was graduated from Neville high school and received his master's degree from Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. He is a member of Alpha Chi honorary fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta forensic fraternity and Phi Alpha Theta honorary history fraternity.

MRS. JOSEPH ANTHONY ROMANO

Sylvia Jean Wilson Weds Joseph Anthony Romano

In a double ring ceremony on Saturday, September 11 at 4 p.m. Miss Sylvia Jean Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wilson of Lake Village, Arkansas became the bride of Joseph Anthony Romano, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Orso Romano, 312 Speed Ave., Monroe. The Rev. Dave Dabria performed the nuptials in Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church, Monroe.

Two pedestal baskets held massive arrangements of gladioli and pompons and flanked seven branched candelabra entwined with greenery and holding lighted tapers on each side of the altar. Smaller arrangements were placed on the main and side altars and white satin bows marked family pews.

Mrs. Delia Williamson provided appropriate nuptial music as guests were being seated and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Waymon Etier.

Joseph Marsala and Tommy Marsala, cousins of the groom, lighted the candles and assisted in the ceremony.

Escorted by her cousin, Billy L. Brinson, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza. The fitted bodice with scalloped neckline was reembroidered with Alencon lace, pearls and iridescent sequins and featured long tapering sleeves. The bell shaped skirt featured triangle panels of lace etched in pearls and sequins and extended into a full sweeping chapel train. Her tiered veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a double queen's crown of pearls, sequins and illusion leaves. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid and showered with streamers tied with tuberoses.

Mrs. Billy L. Brinson was matron of honor. She wore a blush pink brocade gown with pink satin cummerbund from which full back panels fell to the hemline of the belled skirt. Her headpiece was a pink crown studded with pearls and holding a pink tulle veil. She wore matching slippers and short white gloves. Dressed identically to the honor attendant was the bridesmaid, Mrs. Joe A. Marsala. They carried bouquets fashioned into wedding rings of blue satin with blue frenched carnations cascading from the rings with matching streamers.

Miss Pat Marsala, junior bridesmaid, was dressed identically to the other attendants and carried a smaller wedding ring bouquet of blue carnations. Flower girl was Miss Suzonne Brinson, who wore a frock of white organdy with sash and hemline streamers of blush pink satin. Her headpiece was a circlet of pink carnations and she carried a basket of miniature blue carnations.

Donat Boucher of Franklin served as best man. Groomsman was Salvadore Fontana with David Jay Purvis, nephew of the groom, as junior groomsman. Ushers included Vincent C. Romano, brother of the groom; Julian Fontana, Monroe and Raoul Langlinais of Marshall, Texas. Charles Marsala was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose an aqua model with crepe skirt and scalloped lace overblouse with matching hat and shoes, white gloves and an orchid corsage.

The Paragon Club was scene of the reception which followed the ceremony. The bride's table on which she placed her bouquet, held a tiered cake and was draped with a floor length net skirt over white satin and garlanded with ivy, smilax and clusters of white stephanotis. Mrs. Bernard C. Cusimano and Mrs. Frank Diergo of Birmingham, Ala., aunts of the groom, alternated in serving the cake.

The groom's table was covered with a floor length cloth of gold satin, edged with gold roping and held brass candelabra and avocado tapers. Mrs. Dorothy Gilley and Mrs. Fred Wilson, aunts of the bride, served the groom's chocolate cake.

Crystal punch bowls were at either end of the refreshment table, covered with a floor length net cloth over white satin, garlanded with smilax and stephanotis. White tapers in triple silver candelabra flanked a silver and crystal epergne overflowing with white carnations and stock. Alternating at the punch bowls were Mrs. Vincent C. Romano, Mrs. Julius N. Fontana, Mrs. Salvadore Fontana, all of Monroe; Mrs. Michael Latham and Mrs. Walter Swift of Birmingham, Ala. Mrs. Leo J. Purvis, sister of the groom, invited guests to register at a satin covered table ornamented with a memory candle adorned with white pompons and foliage. Matchbooks inscribed with the names of the bride and groom and date of their wedding were presented guests.

For their wedding trip to Miami Beach, Florida the bride changed to a three piece bronze knit suit with maize blouse, black velvet hat, black kid accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Dermott high school, Dermott, Ark. Mr. Romano graduated from St. Matthew's high school, Bish Mathis Business college and Northeast Louisiana State College where he received his B.S. degree in pharmacy. He is a member of the Louisiana and American Pharmaceutical Associations and Phi Delta Chi fraternity, and is presently employed as a registered pharmacist in Winnfield where the couple will be at home.

MRS. WILLIAM DAVIS HALE

LaRue Wallace Becomes Bride Of William Hale

The marriage of Miss LaRue Wallace and William Davis Hale was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. Friday, September 10 in the Burns Memorial Chapel, Wichita Falls, Texas, by Dr. Claude A. Beesley, retired priest of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace Jr., of Wichita Falls, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace of Monroe. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Alden M. Hale of Electra, Texas.

Broyles Hall was organist and Mrs. Margaret Crosslin was vocalist. David McCall served as acolyte.

Mr. Wallace gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white brocade, featuring princess lines, elbow sleeves and a scooped neckline. A single rose of the brocade accented the center front of the fitted bodice. Wide split panels floating from the back neckline to the hem were attached by a Dior bow. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from an oval beaded circlet. She carried a teardrop arrangement of white roses and stephanotis and a lace bordered handkerchief that had been carried by her grandmother and great grandmother at their weddings.

Attending the bride were Mrs. L. L. Walker, matron of honor and Mrs. Patricia Tucker, both of Wichita Falls. They wore identical dresses of delphinium blue raw silk with cap sleeves and softly gathered skirts. Dior bows of the fabric formed their headpieces. They carried long stemmed white roses and carnations caught with satin ribbons of blue and pale green.

James R. Hale attended his brother as best man and Roger D. Tatum was groomsman. Serving as ushers were G. W. Wallace III, brother of the bride; Charles Webb and J. I. Willett of Electra, Texas; David Shreeve and Jerry Boren, Wichita Falls.

The altar of the chapel was banked with white stock and gladioli. Branched candelabra on either side held white tapers.

Parents of the bride were hosts at a reception following the ceremony. Guests signed the bride's book at a round table, covered with net over white satin and accented with bows of pale blue and green satin ribbons. A footed brass bowl held white roses and carnations.

Wedding cake and punch were served from the bride's table where votive lights glowed in crystal cups on a 17-branch candelabra, which was entwined with white roses and stephanotis.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Dale Dublin, Mrs. Dorothy Fox, Mrs. Royce Gragg, Mrs. Ray Hatcher, Mrs. J. L. Jackson III, Mrs. W. T. Kable, Mrs. W. D. Loggie, Mrs. Ford Massey, Mrs. Marvin Pierce, Mrs. David Shreeve, Mrs. George Slaughter, Mrs. Alton Toombs, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. John W. Wilson and Misses Linda Massey and Mary Wilson. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Ann Fox.

The bride was graduated from Wichita Falls high school and attended Midwestern University. She was presented as a debutante by the Carousel Club and the Women's Forum. Mr. Hale attends Midwestern University and is employed by an oil company.

Attending from Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace III, Mrs. Foster Wallace and Steven Wallace. Mrs. George Slaughter entertained the visitors at a luncheon on Friday. A rehearsal dinner was given for the wedding party and visiting guests by Mr. and Mrs. Alden Hale on Thursday evening.

MRS. RAYMOND ALTON ARMSTRONG

Raymond A. Armstrong Claims Bride In Georgia

Miss Barbara Joyce Schiesl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joseph Schiesl of East Point, Georgia, became the bride of Raymond Alton Armstrong, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Armstrong, 1315 North Third, Monroe, on September 5 at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church in Atlanta, Ga. The occasion was also the 27th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong.

Father Ardle performed the ceremony at a nuptial mass. The three altars were decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and stock combined with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white faille with appliques of Alencon lace outlining the neckline and extending in a pattern over the dome shaped skirt which terminated in a cathedral train. The back waistline was defined by a large white rose. She carried a lace bordered white handkerchief that had been carried by Dr. Armstrong's mother as a bride. Her bouquet was of white Eucharist lilies with stephanotis and white carnations.

Miss Jean Schiesl, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Anne Armstrong, sister of the groom and Miss Joan Pacifice, Savannah, Ga. Their gowns were designed with bodices of dark blue velvet and light blue brocade skirts in floor length. They wore light blue tinted shoes and headpieces of blue flowers and net and carried old fashioned bouquets of golden yellow chrysanthemums with matching ribbons.

Flower girls were the groom's sisters, Mary Gayle Armstrong, wearing a blue organdy frock with lace overblouse and a crown of blue asters with seed pearls; and Susan Armstrong, dressed in a pink organdy dress with white lace trim and crown of pink asters with seed pearls. Both wore shoes to match their dresses.

Serving as best man for his brother was Ralph Armstrong and ushers were Richard Olsen of Monroe; Ed Augustat and Richard Haydel, both of Houma.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore an aqua lace dress with matching hat and shoes and white gloves. Mrs. Armstrong, mother of the groom wore a dress of royal blue crepe with lace overblouse, hat in shades of blue and white and blue patent shoes with white gloves and beaded bag.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor where the guest book table was adorned with a memory candle. Arrangements of golden yellow roses and white candles were used at focal points about the room and to center the reception tables which were covered with white satin overlaid with lace and net. The tiered wedding cake in yellow and white was served from one table with golden punch and small heart-shaped wedding cakes served at a second table.

Also attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Whetstone, West Monroe and Mrs. Bobby Galloway, Monroe.

The bride was graduated from St. Pius X high school and has finished nurses training at St. Joseph's Infirmary in Atlanta, Ga. A graduate of Neville high school and LSU, Mr. Armstrong is a sophomore medical student at LSU in New Orleans where the couple will reside. He is a member of Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity.

Wilson-Bell Vows Read In Candlelight Setting

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, September 11 in the First Baptist Church chapel, West Monroe, Miss Bobbie Jo Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bell, 400 Maridale Drive, West Monroe became the bride of Wayne 'Skip' Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilson, 3909 Blanks, Monroe.

Dr. Clifton Tennison performed the double ring vows at 7 p.m. before a white satin prie dieu against a background of fan shaped arrangements of yellow gladioli and branched candelabra entwined with southern smilax.

Mrs. Charles L. DeLand was organist and Mrs. Evelyn Bledsoe, soloist.

Mr. Bell gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a traditional design gown of Chantilly lace and peau de soie. The lace formed the bodice with handclipped scalloped neckline and long sleeves and medallions of lace caught with peau were appliqued down front of the gently domed skirt. A tiara of seed pearls held her veil of illusion and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations surmounting a white Bible.

Miss Dianne Bell served as maid of honor for her sister and bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Kay Terrell. Wearing A-line gowns of maize brocade with headdresses of maize tulle anchored by yellow velvet roses they carried crescent bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. Flower girl was Miss Mary Beth DeLand, who wore a yellow silk frock with maize tulle headdress attached to a yellow ribbon. She carried a white basket of yellow feathered carnations.

Jackie Boliew served as best man and groomsman was George Parker. Ushers were Robbie Newcomer and Charles I. DeLand and Candlelighters were Wally and Phil DeLand. Acting as ring bearer was Berry Bell, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bell wore a frosty pink sheath of silk linen with matching accessories and a corsage of shaded pink carnations. Mrs. Wilson wore a dressmaker suit of royal blue Italian silk with matching accessories and a shaded pink carnation corsage.

The social hall of the church was scene of the reception where the yellow and white theme of the wedding was carried out in appointments. Fan shaped arrangements of yellow gladioli formed a background for the white satin covered bride's table which was adorned with yellow bows and garlands of smilax. Yellow carnations in a silver bowl formed the central decor between the silver punch service and tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Harold Oetgen served the cake and presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Arlon Terrell. Miss Cathy Bell, sister of the bride, presided at the guest book table, also draped in white satin and ornamented by a memory candle. Tea girls were Debbie White and Debbie DeLand and rice bags were presented guests by Vicky Lynne Bell, sister of the bride.

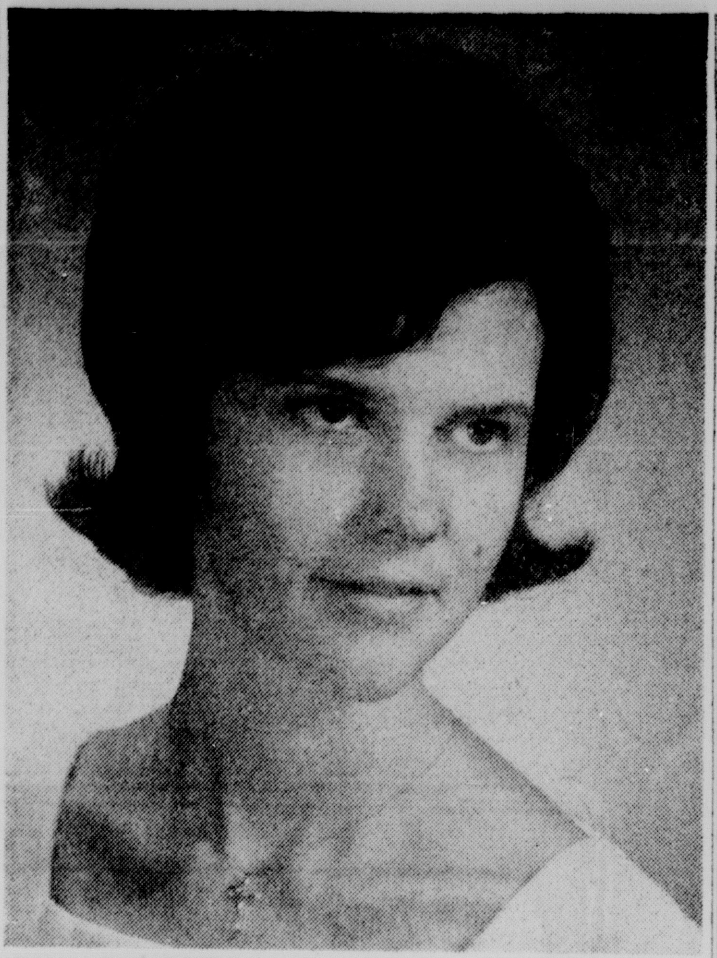
When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a three-piece cotton cranberry suit with beige accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. They will be at home at 409 Gulpha Drive, West Monroe. The bride is a graduate of West Monroe high school and plans to attend Northeast State College. A graduate of Ouachita high school, Mr. Wilson is now attending Northeast.

EVENING LOOKS

Flicking on at dusk, the glorious lights of the new evening looks: black and white satins, laces and velvets, crushed to the body and ravishingly feminine.

BEAN VARIETY

Don't forget that nowadays you can buy various varieties of dried beans already cooked in cans. The beans are fine to use when you want to whip up a casserole to serve with grilled meats for an outdoor supper.



ENGAGEMENT of Miss Nadine Ann Barrett to William Carroll Odom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Odom, West Monroe, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Barrett, also of West Monroe. The ceremony will be performed at 11 a.m. nuptial mass on October 16 in St. Paschal's Catholic Church.

Football Exercises For Women

WINNIPEG (AP) — If the barked commands and grunts and groans reverberating through the Winnipeg Winter Club sound like those at a football practice, it's not surprising.

Although it's a group of women who are working out, the orders are being given by a former professional football player and the exercises are the same ones Winnipeg Blue Bombers use.

Three mornings a week 20 members of the club are put through their paces by Ernie Becker, former fullback with the Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

In the interests of the body beautiful these women — some young and some not so young, some slim and some not so slim — obey the "hup, two, three, four" commands of their leader for 30 minutes.

To march music they huff, puff and swing their way through a mile of walking calisthenics. Then there's a strenuous series of stationary football exercises ranging from graceful movements to the grunt - and - groan effort of a partial situp-leg lift.

AN OCTOBER bride-elect is Miss Linda Anne Landers, Shreveport, whose engagement to Edwin Lester Adrion Jr., Shreveport is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Landers, 2526 North 8th, West Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nell Adrion of Alexandria and Edwin Lester Adrion Sr., Pineville. The wedding will take place on October 16 at 3 p.m. in Monroe.

Priscilla Wemple Bride Of Lucien A. Branch Jr.

Miss Priscilla Nan Wemple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Philip Wemple of Wempland Plantation, Cheneyville, became the bride of Lucien A. Branch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien A. Branch, 218 Lakeside Drive, Monroe, on Sunday, September 5 in Beulah Baptist Church, Cheneyville.

Rev. Vernon Chevalier performed the double ring vows at 5 p.m. Tree candelabra on each side of fan shaped arrangements of gladioli and chryanthemums against a background of arched candelabra holding white tapers formed a setting for the exchange of vows. Leatherleaf fern banked the chancel. Appropriate music was presented by Miss Sally Stafford, organist and Robert Lacour, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie, styled with an A-line skirt and long-sleeved bodice, enhanced with appliques of Alencon lace, seed pearls and crystals. A detachable Watteau train was also bordered with the lace motifs. Her veil was a short white mantilla of imported French illusion, outlined with the lace design matching that on her gown. She carried a cascade of white roses centered by a white orchid.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Lola Gay Aiken of Cheneyville, and bridemaids were Miss Kay Branch, Monroe, sister of the groom; Miss Suzy Payne, Mrs. John L. Klock, both of Alexandria; and Miss Betty Calvert, Rayville. Their floor length gowns of bouquet taffeta in canary yellow were fashioned on Grecian lines. The bodice of lace was outlined at the Empire waistline with sashes and self bows of yellow velvet ribbon. They wore matching slippers and headdresses of yellow taffeta roses with short nose veils of French illusion and carried nosegays of yellow roses.

Flower girl, Miss Karen King, was dressed identically to the other attendants and carried a basket of yellow roses. Ring bearer was Ronnie Wilkins.

Charles Frank Haynes of Clinton, served Mr. Branch as best man and groomsmen were John L. Klock, Alexandria; James H. Turner, Baton Rouge; Winston Atteberry and Mac Atteberry of Eunice.

Wempland Plantation was scene of the reception given by the bride's parents following the ceremony. Mrs. Wemple received her guests wearing a two piece costume in cloud blue stardom with bodice of Chantilly lace and matching accessories. Mrs. Branch, mother of the groom, wore a mauve silk chiffon sheath with long torso overblouse of imported Alencon lace. Her accessories were in matching shade and she wore short white kid gloves. Both mothers wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

The bride's table in the dining room was covered with a white imported lace and linen cloth and centered with white Fuji chrysanthemums and gladioli in silver candelabra on each side of the tiered wedding cake. Silver punch bowls were placed at each end of a harvest table in the den. The table, covered with tulle over taffeta was centered with yellow Fuji chrysanthemums. On the patio an oval table was covered with a pale green organdy cloth, with swags of grapes around the silver punch bowl. White potted caladiums, zinnias and periwinkles were placed at vantage points about the patio and lawn and late summer flowers floated in the swimming pool. The guest book table also on the lawn was centered with a fountain in which white chrysanthemums floated.

Miss Beverly Stafford greeted guests and presiding at the guest book were Miss Hope Wemple, sister of the bride; Mrs. Albert Browne and Miss Alma Stafford. Serving in the den were Mrs. Winston Atteberry, Eunice, Mrs. Lloyd Townsend, Coushatta, Mrs. Robert Wemple of Thibodaux and Mrs. Clyde Hoyt. The patio table was presided over by Miss Lydia Wemple of Benton and Miss Ann Wemple, Thibodaux. Cake was served by Mrs. Ralph Stafford and Mrs. E. M. Stubblefield of Baton Rouge and others assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Allen Stafford, Mrs. Alvin May Sr., Miss Colleen May and Miss Corry May, all of Baton Rouge; Mrs. Byron Stafford of Boyce, Mrs. Roland Stafford and Mrs. Roy Young, New Orleans.

For going away when the couple left on a wedding trip to Hot Springs and the Ozarks, the bride wore an off-white costume comprising a sleeveless fitted sheath with full length coat, royal blue velour hat and black accessories. The couple will be at home at 532 Stanford Ave. in Baton Rouge where both are attending LSU.

The bride was graduated from Cheneyville high school and will receive her B.S. degree in education from LSU in January. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Scotch Guard. A graduate of Neville high school, Mr. Branch will receive his B. S. degree in animal science in January. He is a member of Block and Bridle Club at LSU.

Grace Catherine Cascio Weds Anthony LaMarca

Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church was scene of the ceremony Monday, September 6 which united in marriage Miss Grace Catherine Cascio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Cascio, 1012 Forsythe Ave. Monroe, and Anthony LaMarca, son of Mrs. Paul P. LaMarca and the late Mr. LaMarca of Independence, La.

Copper altar vases held twin pyramid arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Flanking the altar were large traditional arrangements of the same flowers in large white urns atop pedestals.

The Rev. Dave P. Dabria officiated at the nuptial mass and double ring ceremony and serving as altar boys were Leonard Miller and Freddie Cascio, cousins of the bride. Nuptial music was provided by Ronny Brothers, organist and Mrs. Harry Porter, soloist.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a traditional gown of white silk peau de soie with bateau neckline and elbow sleeves. The controlled belled skirt flowed into a cathedral train accented at the back waist by a self fabric bow. Crystal tear drops and seed pearls embellished the bodice and front panel of the skirt. Her triple tiered veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of imported waxed orange blossoms and crystal beads, worn low on the forehead. She carried a cascade bouquet of a white cattleya orchid, stephanotis, white roses and lily of the valley with accents of white maline, satin and pearls.

Miss Virginia Frances Cascio served her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. Glenn R. Cooper, Hammond, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss JoAnn Rizzo, Monroe, cousin of the bride and Miss Carmen Russo, Shreveport and junior bridesmaids were Miss Leonardo Joe Cascio, sister of the bride and Miss Coletta Ann Cooper of Hammond, niece of the groom. Their floor length gowns were fashioned with bodices of deep gold and controlled skirts of lighter gold, which swept into a full back panel. A high waist band and flat self bow at center front emphasized the empire style. Their hats were ring designs of the deep gold with illusion nose veils of the light gold. They wore matching shoes and white wrist length gloves and carried cascade bouquets of talisman roses with talisman gold angel leaves and matching satin ribbons.

Glenn R. Cooper of Hammond attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Ronald A. Henry of Port Allen; David Williams, Minden; Charles H. Smith, Glenmora and junior groomsmen, Paul Cooper, Hammond, nephew of the groom and Steve Cascio, cousin of the bride. Serving as ushers were Sammy DiLeo, Independence; Robert Miano, Garyville; Tommy Smith, Independence and Louis Costanza Jr. and Joseph Romano, both of Monroe.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a floor length gown of ice blue brocade with slim skirt and matching full length coat. Her accessories were ice blue and she wore a corsage of purple cattleya orchids. The groom's mother wore a floor length sheath of fondant green Moulin Rouge brocade with short matching jacket, matching accessories and a corsage of lily of the valley.

The ballroom of the Paragon Supper club was scene of the reception which followed at noon. The bride's table was centered with an antique silver epergne holding twin tapers and an arrangement of white stock and bridal roses. Guests registered at a table decorated with a memory candle encircled by white roses. Pedestaled urns of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and massed magnolia foliage created a background setting.

Mrs. Sam S. Rizzo, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake and alternating at the silver punch bowl were Mrs. Charley C. Miller and Mrs. Roy Tauzin. The silver coffee service was presided over by Mrs. Willard Boyle and Mrs. Harry Black and presiding at the guest book was Miss Angelina Bee. Others assisting with the courtesies were Miss Mary Bruno and Mrs. Tony Cascio. All were presented corsages of white roses. Tea girls were Miss Deanna Furlow, Miss Elaine Butler, Miss Virginia Rizzo, Monroe and Miss Roseanne Russo, Shreveport. They wore corsages of talisman roses.

For their wedding trip to Houston and Galveston, Texas the bride changed to a turquoise suit with suede front jacket and matching crepe blouse, with black patent accessories and a white cattleya orchid corsage. They will be at home in New Orleans where both are employed.

The bride was graduated from Ouachita Parish high school and from Northeast Louisiana State College and is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi. Mr. LaMarca graduated from Independence high school and Northeast Louisiana State College School of Pharmacy. His fraternity is Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Italian Couture Sees Little Space Age Design

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

The big fashion controversy between the adherents of the Courreges school of space age design and those who stick to elegance is apparently settled among the Italians. Few Italian women are going to want to give up femininity for boots.

The collections, divided between Rome and Florence, saw the success of Irene Galitzine's spiral silhouette, about as sexy and bias as you can get. Buyers liked Antonelli, Forquet and Fabiani, all in the fitted, elegant mode.

Fabiani has a new designer, New York's Murray Neiman. This Italo - American entente produced a collection swirling in skirts and high in waistlines. Buying was solid here from both American stores and manufacturers who will be copying and adapting the famous Fabiani tailoring.

American private customers were around, too. Mrs. Anne Ford ordered Galitzine's pajama costume with the one white leg, one black leg, the top in asymmetric solid black and bold checkerboard of black and white.

In Florence, the big, star, as always, was Emilio Pucci, whose use of the space theme was entirely his own and looked good in his high - fashion kind of sportswear. New name Mila Schoen from Milan, who first showed last January, continued the instant success scored then.

The Italian collections still need unification, but Americans continue to come for the many bright boutique ideas and the big couture guns of Pucci, Gaiitzine, Fabiani and the others.

MRS. RICHARD STEPHEN TULLOS

Northeast Students Wed In Winnsboro Ceremony

Blush pink stock and pompons with eucalyptus and jade foliage trees against a background of blush pink cathedral tapers formed a setting in the First Methodist Church of Winnsboro for the wedding of Miss Barbara Gravelle and Richard Stephen Tullos on August 28 at 6:30 p.m. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gravelle of Winnsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Tullos of Jena.

The Rev. David M. Felder performed the double ring ceremony in the candlelight setting with nuptial music by Mrs. Ann S. Moore, organist and Joey Evans, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a traditional gown of white satin and Alencon lace. The reembroidered lace bodice was styled with scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves. Unpressed pleats shaped the wide floating satin skirt and a full bustle topped the chapel train. Her fingertip veil of English silk illusion fell from a half hat of lace petals and satin roses, outlined in seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with pink Elfe roses and accented by garlands of variegated Hahn's ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Marileon Gravelle Peterson of Pensacola, Fla., wore an aqua silk organza sheath with overskirt of matching fabric, defined by a cummerbund with large back bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of blush pink roses and emerald green Hahn's ivy. Dressed identically to the matron of honor were the brides maids, Miss Patricia Anne Moore, Miss Joy Lewis and Miss Margaret Faith Robinson, all of Winnsboro.

Candles were lighted by Paul Gravelle, nephew of the bride and Jan Tullos, brother of the groom.

Jim Anthony Tullos served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Don S. Mears, John C. Mears of Jena and Murray Rabalais of Arnaudville. Serving as ushers were Jerry E. Breithaupt of Jena and Edward M. Head of Monroe.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gravelle wore a pink lace and linen model with matching accessories and a white cymbidium orchid. Mrs. Tullos chose a gold crepe sheath with brown and gold lace overblouse, complementary accessories and a chartreuse cymbidium orchid.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the lawn and walkways were lighted by votive candles in hurricane globes. Joe M. Gravelle, brother of the bride, greeted the guests.

Pink delight roses were noted throughout the reception area and a pink memory candle arranged with pink roses and foliage adorned the table where Miss Susan Mays presided at the guest book.

The bride's table, draped in white satin, was centered with a bouquet of pink roses and Hahn's ivy with crystal candelabra and pink tapers. Mrs. Owen Gauthier of Cottonport served the bride's cake and Mrs. Mary Alice Gravelle and Mrs. Kay Lynn Miller alternated at the punch service. The groom's table was covered with a brown linen cloth and the centerpiece, comprising a large medicine bottle, mortar and pestle, carried out a theme of his profession in pharmacy. The German chocolate groom's cake was also appropriately decorated.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing an early fall tweed suit with complementary accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The couple will reside in Monroe where both will continue studies at Northeast Louisiana State College. The bride, a graduate of Winnsboro high school, is a junior in home economics. A graduate of Jena high school, Mr. Tullos is a senior at Northeast School of Pharmacy and a member of Phi Delta Chi, professional pharmaceutical fraternity.

Smith-Hargon Nuptials Read In Home Setting

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Frances Hargon and Thomas Grisham Smith were solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Hargon, south of Tallulah on September 1 at 4:30 p.m. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. W. E. Smith and the late Mr. Smith of Oak Grove.

Rev. Dan Lott of Tallulah Presbyterian church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with scoop neckline, edged with lace and seed pearls, short sleeves and bell-shaped street length skirt. A lace cummerbund encircled the waist forming a large back bow. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a chaplet and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Willie Earle Mock of Winnsboro, maid of honor, was attired in a yellow crystalline frock with lace jacket and small matching headdress. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. Kenneth Lewis of Oak Grove served the bridegroom as best man.

A reception followed in the home where the bride's table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, had as a centerpiece an arrangement of white stock and yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Ann Hargon served the wedding cake and Miss Agnes McClellan of Winnsboro presided at the punch bowl.

For travel the bride changed to a brown and white cord suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will be at home in Oak Grove. The bride is a graduate of Tallulah high school and Northeast Louisiana State College and is employed by the West Carroll Department of Public Welfare in Oak Grove. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Oak Grove high school and is an electrician in Oak Grove.

A number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding.

MISS MEVELENE WESTERBURG

Local Couple Plans Wedding On October 2

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Westerburg, 1609 Filhiol announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mevelene, to John Delroy Pruden, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pruden, 118 Masonic, Monroe.

The wedding will take place at 6 p.m. October 2 in College Town Assembly of God with Rev. E. T. Graves officiating.

The bride-elect has chosen Miss Brenda Westerburg as her maid of honor and Miss Donna Harper and Miss Penni Pruden, bridesmaids. T. F. Shaw will serve as best man and named as ushers are Marty Pruden and Larry Shaw.

Miss Westerburg, a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gorman and Mrs. J. L. Westerburg, all of Winnsboro.

The prospective bridegroom is the grandson of Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Graves, Monroe. A graduate of Ouachita Parish high school, he attended Northeast Louisiana State College and Bish Mathis Institute.

FRENCH-FRIED CAULIFLOWER

French fried cauliflower gives a new look and new flavor to an old favorite. Sift together ½ cup each of corn meal and sifted all - purpose flour, and ½ teapoon of salt. Add 1 egg, slightly beaten, 2-3 cup milk and 2 tablespoons of melted or liquid shortening. Beat until smooth. Separate ¾ pound of fresh cauliflower into flowerets. Using tongs, dip flowerets into batter: drain and wry a few at a time about 5 minutes or until golden brown in deep fat preheated to 350 - degrees. Drain on absorbent paper.

Free Swinging Fashions Head For Fall Classrooms

Suddenly the calendar changes its face to September and it's time to go back to school. A whole new year unfolds with new expectations, new classes, new friends, and best of all, new clothes.

Nothing quite tops off that fresh spirit of back-to-school excitement like a few stylish new additions to the campus wardrobe. And the selections and modes expand each year, as more and more fashion giants look to the coed to debut their fall creations.

Youth is the key this autumn of '65 and a youthful exuberance is to be found in fashions everywhere.

Imagine a handful of long sleeve vibrant argyle and shetland sweaters marching into history class, sporting necklines that range from the simple jewel, through an unmasked "V" to a rolling, robust turtle, teamed with a variety of skirts, straight, "A" or pleated, or slacks. For a really zestful feeling try the short, short skirt look with matching argyle or cable knee socks.

Try to be conservative with a traditional glen plaid, and you'll find the freedom loving styling to be young and gay, with jumpers, clever lumberman jackets and trim pants catching you up in the spirit of campus excitement.

All kinds of marvelous fashion things are coming out of the new shaker wool knits especially in the dashing James Kenrob designs in the bulky medium. Cardigans, long sleeve sweaters and knitted tops in some astounding colors are all jazzed up with fringe and crochet trim to top off skirt or pants, and while they'll be terrific for class, you just try to find something better for a football game.

Fall Jewelry In Blue Tones

Jewelry has the blues this fall. . . but they're beautiful. Everything in jewelry is keyed to the blues. Paris flies blue high . . . with just about every costume.

The deep Napoleonic blues are finding enormous favor, and the Oriental influence in fashion has inspired a new star sapphire for costume jewelry.

The look of opulence affects every facet of fashion. In jewelry, Far East treasures light up the scene.

More imagination, more creativity in placement is evident. Side closings on suits and dresses put pins in the spotlight . . . Many turbans, following the oriental line, place pins prominently, for their own sake, to shine, to bedazzle.

Traditions Unchanged

While most of the traditions associated with weddings have been with us for a very long time, only a few have survived the years unchanged. One of these is the traditional gift of sterling silver flatware to the bride from her parents; even in ancient Greece, silver was an important part of the dowry.

Another is the wedding ring as a symbol of marriage. To the early Egyptians — as to us — the ring was a symbol of eternity.

MRS. WILLIAM SPIKE MORGAN

Diane Stringer Is Bride Of Covington Man

First Methodist Church, Columbia was scene of the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Diane Stringer, 1045 Park Avenue, Monroe, and William Spike Morgan of Covington. Rev. S. A. Seegars performed the double ring vows at 2 p.m. August 28 in a setting of white gladioli, greenery and lighted candles.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Walker, 1045 Park Avenue, Monroe, and Clyde Stringer, Biloxi, Mississippi and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urcin Brandon of Columbia. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Morgan, Covington.

Maurice Cottingham, organist, rendered traditional nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Brandon, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white peau de soie with imported Chantilly lace jacket featuring a high neckline and long sleeves. Her veil of illusion fell shoulder length from a tiara of pearls. She carried a colonial style bouquet of white asters.

Maid of honor was Miss Alicia Gaines who wore a frock of yellow chiffon with matching bandeau for her hair, and carried a single yellow rose. Miss Debra Stringer, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of pale green peau de soie with moss green bandeau and carried a single yellow rose.

Serving as best man was Maurice Baker and groomsman was Kenneth Perrilloux. Ushers were Marcel Jumonville and Larry Jacobson.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a yellow linen ensemble and a carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a white silk suit with pink accessories.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church social rooms. Centering the bride's table was an arrangement of pompons in a crystal and silver epergne flanked by lighted candles and greenery. Miss Molly Daniels, cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Harry Joiner, sister of the groom, served the wedding cake and Miss Diane Morgan, cousin of the groom, presided at the punch bowl.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast the couple is at home in Covington where Mr. Morgan is associated with Tulane Research Center. For travel the bride wore a white dress with beige accessories and corsage from her bouquet.

Plaid suits and crocheted hats — crocheted in the colors and contrasting patterns to the plaids are "the" look for fall. Bright plaids, pale plaids, modern and traditional in double-breasted suits with both hip length and waist length jackets whirl across the fashion scene.

American Fall Styles Seen In Spanish Couture

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

It's becoming harder to be a couturier. Once, practically no Americans really designed anything. They just waited for Paris to tell them what to do. But when so much real designing is now being done here, it's hard for a couturier anywhere to make his mark as a creator.

Take the current Spanish collections as an example. Pedro Rovira has a wool, two-piece dress with a tunic-length, front - fitted top, both pieces welt - seamed, the cowl collar like a big cuff. Almost the identical thing has already been shown by Hannah Troy, Adele Simpson and others here.

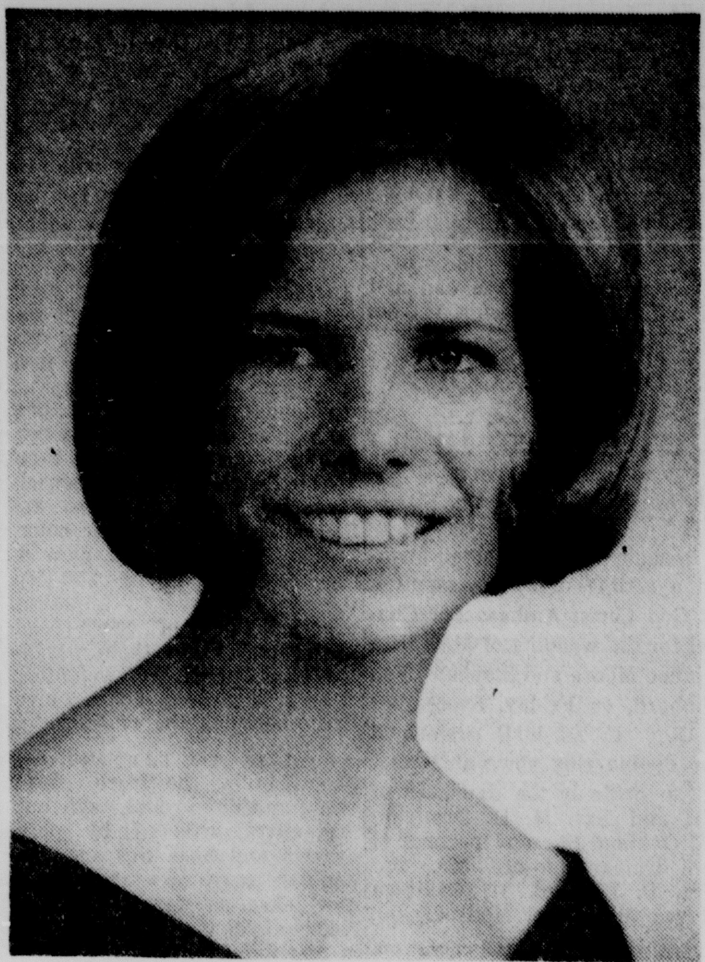
Vargas Ochagavia likes a a long - torso two - piece, the button - front top pulled well down over the kicky little skirt. Junior Sophisticates likes the look, too, was showing it to buyers back in June.

If Herreray Ollero thought he'd be original by picking up monastic capes from the pictures of painter Zurbaran, he's mistaken. Halldon Ltd. had done it already for fall, albeit without the hood.

There seems to be nothing in fashion that isn't already being done, and that's why the European couture is once again wooing the private customer. She's willing to pay for perfect fit, which is about all that couture has to offer these days that's really different.

COLORFUL FALL

Go-Ahead Red: Persimmon is "the" color for fall. It's a piquant new taste in fashion, alive as the women who wear it according to fashion authorities.



ANNOUNCEMENT is made by Mr. and Mrs. O. K. McElhaney, Little Rock, Ark., formerly of West Monroe, of the engagement of their daughter, Sherry to F. A. Crockett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Crockett, Little Rock. Both are graduates of Little Rock high school and Miss McElhaney attends Arkansas School of Business. The wedding will take place October 16 in First Christian Church, North Little Rock.

Sliced or diced cooked white turnips take to a cheese sauce. Good with pork.

Little Lady Look Is Chic

The "Little Lady Look" for fall is chic, smartly patterned and emphasized the all - important tucked - in sweater, the ultra - neat waistline and the beauty of new fall tweeds, checks and stripes.

Op Art is clearly the order of the day for fall, but the lines, colors and details are so beautifully balanced that the effect is glance - rewarding, rather than head - turning.

EYECATCHING

If you have a painted tea canister or similar attractive container, fill it with carnations, pompons, and sprigs of pittosporum for an eyecatching arrangement, suggests the Society of American Florists.

Velvets Bring Millinery Back Into Fashion Focus

Everyone who is up on her fashion mathematics knows that the "total look" is the newest byword, and the quickest way to flunk out is to go hatless. However, whether she can add or not, those endearing velvets arriving in the stores will give hats the first priority for her midsummer - through - winter wardrobe.

Designed by leading milliners, yet priced in the hat bar range, the new boulevard velvets not only sum up the total look but multiply the fashion dividends of the entire costume. These velvets have a twofold eye-appeal that makes them irresistible — the immensely flattering new silhouettes, and the radiant beauty of the colors that reflect a cosmetic glow on the complexion. In addition, there's the very important practical side of crush-resistance that makes them perfect travelers, and the weightless quality of the boulevard velvet that cherishes the coiffure.

Most of the silhouette emphasis is on the fresh, clean-swept profile-in-relief, with hair protectively covered by puffy crowns and back drapery. The popular scarf-hat takes on a new lease on fashion life in lustrous, deep-textured velvet, in permanently tied styles or the do-it-yourself open kerchief versions. Berets sweep backwards to confine the hair in fascinating new shapings, such as in a gored melon-crowned one with knitted wool band; a snood style striped with narrow bands of grosgrain; and a romantically wide - winging Rembrandt type gathered with a bow at the nape. In bretons, wide-brimmed bonnets and toques, the crowns rise high, their dimensions often punctuated with topknot loops, rosettes or cigarettes.

A first glance at these costume-making boulevard velvets is enough to start the hat mood stirring. And at those modest prices, it's no budget-smashing event if a woman gives in to her inability to make a choice and buys several styles in several colors. It will be an investment that pays off continuously in head-turning charm.

Hibbard-Moore Vows Read In West Monroe

Baskets of white gladioli formed a setting in First Assembly of God Christ Ambassador Chapel for the wedding of Miss Rita Dianne Moore and Stephen Lynn Hibbard, on Friday, September 3. Rev. F. D. Wall performed the double ring vows at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Draughn, 203 Oakland St., and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. B. Hibbard, 311 Oaklawn Drive, all of West Monroe.

Mrs. Dorothy Mahoney, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied the vocalist, Miss Peggy Mahoney.

The bride was escorted by her uncle, W. R. Draughn, who gave her in marriage. Her gown of white satin featured a bodice of French lace with scalloped neckline and sleeves. She wore a short white lace veil and carried a bouquet of white roses with showers of chrysanthemums atop a white Bible.

Miss Renee Wall, maid of honor, wore a blue silk brocade dress with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

David Beebe attended Mr. Hibbard as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Draughn was wearing a maroon three - piece suit with white accessories and white corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray sheath with black accessories and a white corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the church. An arrangement of gladioli centered the table from which the tiered wedding cake in pink and white was served with punch.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Vicksburg and Jackson, Miss., the bride was wearing a light brown and blue stripe three-piece suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bouquet. The couple will be at home in West Monroe. Mrs. Hibbard is a graduate of West Monroe high school and Northeast Louisiana State College where she was a member of the National Honor Society. The bridegroom graduated from West Monroe high school.

MRS. HOWARD H. HOGG

Howard Hogg Claims Bride In Baton Rouge

On Saturday, September 11 in First Assembly of God Chapel, Baton Rouge, Miss Patricia Ann Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Burns of Baton Rouge became the bride of Howard H. Hogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Howard Hogg of Grayson.

The bride is a graduate of Istrouma high school and attended Louisiana State University and is presently employed by a hospital consulting firm in Baton Rouge. She is also organist for First Assembly of God Church in Baton Rouge.

Mr. Hogg who graduated from Grayson high school and U.S. Army Special Medical Schools is now with the 433rd Medical Detachment at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Darby and children, (Susan and Jerry), are shown enjoying their new home at 2002 Sherwood Street in Monroe. This beautiful home was purchased through . . .

Charles Fallin, Amarillo Girl Exchange Vows

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Keer in Amarillo, Texas, was scene of the wedding of her daughter, Miss Nioka Ingram to Charles Carl Fallin of Monroe, on August 29 at 1 p.m. Rev. J. W. Sisemore performed the double ring vows. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fallin, 1201 Cole Avenue, Monroe.

Given in marriage by her step-father the bride wore a short gown of white lace. Serving as maid of honor was Miss Linda Kay Fallin of Monroe, sister of the groom, who wore a blue-trimmed white frock.

Tom Capers of Amarillo, Texas, attended Mr. Fallin as best man.

Mrs. Keer, mother of the bride, wore a light blue linen dress and Mrs. Fallin, mother of the groom, chose a late summer model.

A reception followed in the home at which Mrs. Rex Terry presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. J. C. Morgan served the tiered wedding cake.

The couple is now residing in Amarillo, Texas where Mr. Fallin is with the United States Air Force, awaiting orders for overseas duty.

CUSTARD

When you are making a custard sauce in a double boiler, don't let the water in the bottom of the boiler touch the pan over it; and use simmering, not boiling water.

Come September and the unscheduled days of summer are over. Now begins organization, club work, worthy causes. Civic clubs and service groups of the Twin Cities are resuming activity after summer recess. Three cultural groups of the area are in the midst of their annual membership drives. The hum of energetic Autumn can already be heard in the slightly nippy morning air.

Members of Junior Charity League held their first meeting of the season Thursday morning at Westminister recreation center. Next major project for this group is the Straw Market, scheduled for Saturday, September 25, in a vacant lot on North Eighteenth street just south of Louisville avenue. Used and nearly-new merchandise of all types will be offered for sale, with proceeds going to support the League's many worthwhile projects. We hear that items will cover a broad range — from baby shoes to automobiles, including at least one live horse. Anyone wishing to donate merchandise for the League sale is asked to call 322-4523; 325-7502; 322-8806.

Another group getting underway on fall projects this past week was Ft. Miro chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, who met yesterday afternoon in Ouachita Parish Public library's Louis Locke room. To open the year's program on the theme of "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty"; BLANCHE OLIVER spoke to the ladies on Louisiana's Acadian culture. First major observance for DAR's is to be Constitution Week, September 17 - 23, with THELMA WILLIAMS chairman for Ft. Miro.

Monroe Literary Club opened the fall season with a business meeting and luncheon at the Paragon Wednesday at noon, with JANE PLITT, president, presiding. Program chairman MARJORIA PHILLIPS presented an outline of the year's plans. Next meeting of the club, at the home of ELISE BAUGH September 22, is to feature a book review by ELISE MAPP.

"Getting to Know You" was theme of the morning coffee party for Y-Ves and interested guests at the YWCA Wednesday morning. Hostesses for the affair were Y-Ves officers MARY SHOTWELL, first vice-president; IRENE KIRBY, second vice-president; LUCILLE CALK, secretary; TOM ETTA TILLMAN, treasurer; and JANE SEAL, reporter.

A covered dish supper, the group's traditional opening event, will begin the year for members of the Fine Arts club tomorrow night at seven. This affair is to be held at the home of MAUD MAYO, 400 Lakeside drive. Program chairman LIDA MAE COON will distribute year books, outlining the year's study "Contemporary Arts in the World of Today."

New members of Monroe Garden club will be honored with a tea at the home of the club president, BERNICE WOODS; beginning at 2 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. Flower arrangements for the party are to be done by the group's accredited judges. Club members may visit the bayou garden at Bernice's home, plus those of LOUISE MORGAN and VIRGINIA GUERRIERO. Those wishing to make the tour by boat are invited to dress accordingly.

For their first meeting of the fall, members of the Auxiliary to Ouachita Parish Medical Society met for luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club. CAVITT COOKSTON, president of the medical association, spoke to the ladies. Next on the calendar for this group is a "Yum-Yum Party" planned for October 14.

Little Theatre of Monroe opened up on two fronts this week. Rehearsals got underway for "The Pleasure of His Company," a sophisticated comedy to be presented at Strauss Playhouse in mid-October. GEORGE BLACK, new executive director, is in charge . . . An impressive "first" was registered at the theatre this week with the opening of the Theatre School, under the direction of MURRAY BURFFORD. Instruction in theatre is offered for young people from first grade through high school, with classes divided by ages . . . The Theatre is also conducting its annual membership drive at this time, with MARGE MULLENS chairman.

A kickoff coffee for workers in the membership drive of Northeast Louisiana State Concert association will be held Friday, September 17 at the home of Bernice Woods. Those working in the drive are invited to the affair beginning at 10 a.m. The drive will continue for two weeks.

The program announced for Northeast concerts this year is as follows: "Music of Richard Rodgers," starring Elaine Malbin and George Gaynes, with Henri Rene and his orchestra, October 25; The Fred Waring show with glee club and orchestra, December 13; Carlos Montoya, with his spectacular Flamenco guitar music, January 6; San Antonio Symphony orchestra, February 3; Les Feux-Follets, a company of sixty-five presenting a program of Canadian folk dances reflecting Indian, Eskimo, and French background cultures, February 10; and Jose Iturbi, one of the greatest pianists of our times, April 25. All concerts begin at 8:15 in Neville High school auditorium.

Also underway at this time is the membership drive of Louisiana Tech Concert association. Programs for this group, which are presented on the Tech campus at Ruston, attract an audience from throughout this area . . . This year's program has an international flavor with the appearance of the Krakow Choir and Orchestra; Jose Molina Bailes Espanol (Spanish dancing group); the English classic "The Rivals", as done by Dallas Theatre Center; and Shreveport Opera's presentation of "Madame Butterfly".

Direct from the Edinburgh Festival will be the Royal Marines Tattoo, featuring two military bands of the Royal Marines, the pipes, drums, and dancers of the Scots Guards and Royal Scot Greys, and the British Columbia Highland Lassies. Immediately preceeding this appearance, there will be an exhibition by the Royal Marines Motorcycle Display team in Tech stadium. Other attractions on the Tech series are to be the Serendipity Singers, one of the most popular folk - singing groups; the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra; and a joint concert by Mary Burgess, mezzo-soprano, and Richard Ellsasser, organist.

Our travelers are returning from late summer trips. LILY HARRINGTON arrived home last week after two months in Europe. Lily, who sailed aboard the Queen Mary, joined a special music tour. Conducted by JEAN and BERNARD TAYLOR, the group attended operas in Italy, Germany, and France. Dr. Taylor, formerly with Juilliard school of music, is now a coach for Metropolitan opera singers. Lily reports a fabulously beautiful trip, with five days in Salzburg, and a stay in Munich. Here they attended several operas in the newly restored, and magnificent, opera house. The doors open at 4:30, with long supper intermission for patrons. Hit of the season in Munich is the young American singer, JEFF THOMAS.

Lily says that the highlight of the trip was "Norma", as performed in Berona, Italy. Here operas are presented in the ancient Roman arena, from a stage accommodating 500 singers. These shows are presented during the summer months by singers from Milan's La Scala opera company.

She spent a week in London, where she saw "Maggie May," a disappointing show; and "Robert and Elizabeth", a very successful musical re-telling of the story of the Robert Brownings. Lily stopped over in New York two days before returning home. Shows seen in Gotham were "Half a Sixpence" and "Any Wednesday".

A quick trip to Portugal was the treat won by LORETTA and JACK RIVERS, who returned home last weekend. Abroad just eleven days, they flew to Lisbon and from there made a side trip to Estoril, Sintra, and the shrine of Fatima. They returned to the United States aboard the S. S. Mauretania, which was chartered by Ford Motor company for the trip. One day in New York, and so home.

Stops on the East coast highlighted a trip East for JUDY and CORBIN TURPIN and son ALLEN, who returned last weekend after two and a half weeks away. They visited VERNON MARSH in Baltimore, Maryland, and spent one day on the Chesapeake aboard his yacht, the "Miss Susie", putting into the Great Oaks Yacht club for lunch.

They also visited Judy's sister, DOROTHY BACON, in Scarsdale, New York. They got in a quick look at the World's Fair, and the show "Luv" in the city. A visit with relatives in Hartford, Connecticut concluded their trip. They were accompanied home by their children, LUCYLU and CHUCK CAMPBELL, who will be here a few days before moving to New Orleans. Chuck will be working on his doctorate at Tulane.

Our notes above about women's clubs put us in mind of two of our favorite lighter poems. First, "Note to All Club Members" by Shirley Foster:

Not that I wish to intimate
That workers are commandeered,
But sit very still and don't wave to your friends,
Or you'll find that you've volunteered!

And "Last Minutes of the Women's Club" by Marian Gleason:

The first member's hat has slipped over her eye.
The next member's furious and ready to cry.
The chairman's convinced the proposal is rash.
The treasurer warns, "And we haven't the cash."
The program director says "What can we lose?"
The clerk is engrossed in a hunt for her shoes.
That it's nearly five-thirty is acidly noted.
Across some dead bodies, the motion is voted.

Federated Women's Clubs Plan Workshop Saturday

A one - day workshop for the Fifth District Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs is scheduled for Saturday, September 18 at the Paragon Club from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. Registration and coffee will be from 9 to 9:30 a.m. with a committee from Bonhomie and DeNova clubs in charge.

Mrs. J. W. Evans, president of the organization, will conduct the meeting. Highlight of the program, stressing traffic safety, will be a film "Anatomy of an Accident," shown by Jim Shows of the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Highlights of the General Federation held in New Orleans in June will be reviewed by Fifth District members who attended and will be followed by a talk "Golden Chain of Communication," by Mrs. A. T. White, second vice - president of Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

Club presidents from the Fifth District will present 1966 candidates for state and district offices during the nominating committee section meeting with Mrs. E. B. Knotts acting as consultant to the group, assisted by Mrs. R. L. Ropp, parliamentarian.

Mrs. C. C. Lucky, third vice-president, will present the 1965-66 budget to the District Board of Directions and will also discuss increased membership and organization of new clubs.

Each club will present its 1965-66 year book to Mrs. James N. Riddle, year book chairman, to be judged and then displayed at the convention in Ferriday in February. All department chairmen and division chairmen will have on display materials they have collected to give ideas to the clubwomen for projects dealing with conservation, Education, Fine Arts, Home Life, Public Affairs and International Affairs.

A question and answer period will allow each club to share its skills, interests and methods of achievement with others. Last year Fifth District had the largest number of clubs participating in community improvements than any state district. Ways and means to increase this lead are to be discussed and presented at the workshop.

Geographically Fifth District is the largest district in the state and has the second largest club membership. Theme for the year is "To Seek Opportunity," and the workshop will be centered on opportunities to be found in federated club work. Representatives from all 36 clubs in the district are expected to participate in the meeting.

Actor's Wife Plans Dinner Like Script

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Actor Dean Jones says a dining table can be a romantic place.

Jones advises young girls looking for a formula for a happy marriage to concentrate on the table, meals together and with the family to keep husbands from roaming.

"I look forward to dinner at ur house. My wife plans a dinner like she was writing a movie script. I've said to her, 'How in the world can you plan meals day after day and still be enthusiastic about it?' "

She loves it, he says. And the tall tapered candles on the table never seem to burn down.

"Once in a while I'll say to her, how much are these candles costing anyway? But I don't really mean it. I don't care what it costs for the atmosphere," he says.

He can't imagine any man straying from a home where there is a cozy family atmosphere beginning at the table, he says. But too few women care about putting themselves out with these little things that count, he says.

"And you should see the way my wife runs the house, her patience with our two little girls, and how enthusiastic she is when I invite guests," he brags. "We can afford a cook but she'd rather do it herself. She always remembers how many lumps of sugar every guest takes. Her memory for little details about their food habits always makes company feel comfortable and cozy."

He met his wife, the former Mae Entwhistle, when she was elected a queen for the Pasadena Rose Parade.

Their household includes eight mongrel dogs, a toy sheep dog, goldfish, lizards, and spiders in containers. While making the movie "That Darn Cat" he fell in love with the cat heroine. Now, he plans to add a cat to his menagerie.

Round Bags On Fashion Scene

Look for one new shape of handbag to catch on — the cylindrical shape of the roadside box to hold the home-delivered newspaper.

Designer Pauline Trigere showed the cylinder, with ends closed, in tweeds to match tweed costumes, and in furs. At Miss Trigere's opening of her fall and winter collection, the "travelogue" cylinders opened to disclose contents such as cashmere sweaters.

Your Problems

Knocking Girl Friend Can Have Ill Effects

By ANN LANDERS

Dean Ann Landers: Our 17-year old son quit high school to join the Navy. My husband and I were glad to see him make this decision because he was flunking in every subject and he was getting out of hand at home. We thought the Navy might make a man out of him.

Yesterday he wrote that he is bringing a 24-year-old "girl" home. The "girl" works at the base and I'm sure she has had a lot more experience with members of the opposite sex than our son. He says nothing in his letter about the girl's background, her family, how he met or, or his feelings for her.

What do we do now? Should we hide our feelings or should we tell our son the door is closed if he can't make a better selection than that? — D. R. B.

Dear D. R. B.: When a son writes that he bringing a girl home my advice is keep the door open — and be pleasant, even if the girl turns out to be a gorilla with six eyes.

No teen-ager ever accepted the fact that his selection was a poor one because his folks told him so. Therefore, keep smiling, Dearie, if it kills you and don't make the mistake of knocking the girl so hard that he marries her just to prove you are wrong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am worried. Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who wrote that she is single and happy. You said, "Marriage is not for everyone." Maybe I am one of those — but I hope not.

I am 19, a sophomore in college and better than average looking. I feel ill at ease with people I don't now. Every girl in the room seems better poised than I. Although I find men appealing I've had very few dates. Most of my friends have steady boy friends, or at least a fellow who asks them out on a Saturday night, but not me.

I love old houses and antiques, I'm a good cook. I enjoy gardening and sewing. I can't wait to have a home and family of my own. The thought of a life alone is depressing. Can you say something to cheer me up? — BOSTON BETTY

Dear Betty: The right man hasn't come along yet, but he will one day — and when he does you'll know it. Girls who get rushed off their feet in their teens are not necessarily the ones who make the best marriages, so stop fretting.

You sound like a sensible dame with good values and the man who wants a girl with your qualities will recognize them. What's more, you'll recognize him.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please say something in your column about people who call on the telephone and fail to identify themselves? Maybe it's my fault because I'm not sharp enough to tell who's who, but several of my friends sound alike.

This morning a woman called and talked for five minutes and I didn't know who she was. Finally I had to ask. She snapped, "Well, you'll just have to pardon me. I didn't realize I was that much of a stranger to you."

Shouldn't the one who calls identify himself and not put the burden on the person he is calling? Am I all wet? Please print this not only for me, but for others who have a tin ear. — A POOR GUESSER

Dear Guesser: It is good manners to start every telephone conversation by identifying yourself, regardless of how well you know the person, Often sisters sound alike, a father and son frequently have similar voices, and people who don't even know each other have similar voices, too.

A caller who fails to identify himself should not be miffed when he is asked, "Who is this?"

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits — the boy or girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool it." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cars Multiply Faster Than Households

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cars are multiplying faster than households.

Five years ago, there were 51,400,000 households in the United States and 45,850,000 cars. Now the figures are 56,400,000 and 55,100,000, largely reflecting an increase in two- and three-car families, according to an official of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation.

This year the number of cars probably will actually exceed the number of households, he predicted.

Birth Control Problem To Be Left To Group

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council's topic on modern world problems, in its latest format, was described Saturday as leaving all contraception questions to a special papal commission on birth control.

Informants said mention of contraceptive methods would be put into the council document only if the commission named by Pope Paul VI concludes its work before the council ends.

The council resumes, in its fourth and final session, next Tuesday. The topic on modern world problems is the major document remaining for debate and voting. It also is the longest.

The version argued on the council floor last fall noted that Roman Catholic married couples have problems stemming from the need to limit births while also needing the physical union that belongs to marriage. It asked couples to be patient while the Church, which allows only the rhythm method or periodic abstinence, sorts out the answers.

Informed sources said the revised version now going before the council bishops stresses "the right of parents to a responsible procreation."

Airliner Makes Forced Landing; No Casualties

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Braniff Boeing 720 jet airliner with 120 persons aboard made a successful forced landing at International Airport on Saturday after its front landing gear failed.

The flight originated in Dallas, Tex. The pilot was Capt. Robert Bonnet of Dallas.

There were no reported casualties.

"We were coming in for a normal landing when the nose gear just broke completely off," said Bonnet. "I held the nose off the ground and slid — maybe 4,000 feet."

He said the nose of the plane was badly damaged, but "there were no injuries and no fire."

Airport fire engines, police and others rushed to the scene, where passengers were pouring through emergency windows, over wings, ladders and hastily erected chutes.

The pilot was praised for his efficiency, and in turn praised the passengers for not panicking.

Johnson Orders End To Strike Against Railway

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson took executive action Saturday night ordering an end to a sudden strike against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad.

Johnson, acting under the National Railway Labor Act, signed an order creating a special presidential board to investigate the dispute. It also barred either the railway or the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen from any actions to further the dispute.

The makeup of the three-member emergency board was not announced immediately by the White House.

However, the board has 30 days in which to conduct hearings and name recommendations to Johnson. After that, any strike action is barred for 30 more days.

The trainmen called the strike shortly after midnight Saturday, shutting down the 13,000-mile line. Approximately 6,000 workers walked out in protest over working conditions.

Brotherhood President Charles Luna said the strike was "completely effective."

Johnson said in his executive order the strike action was "threatening substantially to interrupt interstate commerce" and would deprive a major section of the country of "essential transport service."

The Santa Fe management had appealed to the National Mediation Service to intervene in the strike and order the workers back to their jobs.

Walter Moore, vice president in charge of personnel and labor relations in Kansas City said he asked for a 90-day cooling off period to be declared. He requested the mediation service to either take jurisdiction or set up a fact-finding board.

Dr. King Has No Competence In Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said Saturday Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is alienating congressional supporters with his "intemperate alignment with the forces of appeasement" in urging Red China's admission to the United Nations.

"Dr. Martin Luther King is a man of unquestioned competence in the field of civil rights," Dodd said in a statement, "but he has absolutely no competence to speak about complex matters of foreign policy."

Another senator, Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, criticized U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg for officially receiving King and Bayard Rustin, another civil rights leader.

"A whole new sphere of trouble making for the United States was launched yesterday when Martin Luther King, accompanied by Bayard Rustin, turned from is successes at creating domestic disorders to an attempt to play the same role with similar consequences in international affairs," Thurmond said in a statement.

Dodd said he hoped no one will turn against the civil rights movement because of "Dr. King's ill-advised adventure in the sphere of foreign plicy.

"But speaking as one senator, I must say that this adventure will make it impossible for me hereafter to regard Dr. Martin Luther King with quite the same respect."

Dodd said he did not think King's judgment is enhanced by King's statement he plans to write letters to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, to Communist China and to the Soviet Union urging negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam.

"The enemies of the civil rights movement have repeatedly made the charge that Dr. King is under Communist influence," Dodd said. "I have myself defended Dr. King against this charge. But by the stand he has now taken on the whole series of vital foreign policy issues, I gravely fear that Dr. King has provided his own enemies and the enemies of the movements he heads with ammunition that they will know only too well how to use."

Thurmond said Goldberg is free to accept advice from whomever he pleased privately, but "I would hope that in the public conduct of his official position, he would be more discriminating and concerned fo the image of our nation than h demonstrated in publicly receiving King and Rustin."

THE STRIKING ENTRANCE to this three-bedroom ranch house, with its front glazed gable, continues past the front portico to a reception foyer and ceiling.

Cathedral Ceilings Provide Dramatic Touch For House

By ANDY LANG

This is a home for those who like their livability combined with the kind of dramatic features that neighbors and visitors discuss with admiration.

In designing the latest House of the Week, architect Samuel Paul catered to the needs of the family requiring a spacious three - bedroom home but also asking for something a little different. He obtained the desired result with a daringly asymmetrical front gable, fully glazed with large glass planes; picturesque cathedral ceilings; and a floor plan that is unusual yet efficient. Among other conversation items is a brick fireplace wall which has one fireplace in the living room, another in the master bedroom.

A full study of this architect - designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK, c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plen G-1

Distinctive

The distinctive exterior of this ranch house carries out its promise as soon as one moves into the entrance. It's via a sheltered front portico which flows into the long reception foyer. The foyer, in turn, leads to the rear family room. One cathedral ceiling sweeps across all these spaces, producing a striking front-to-rear panorama The living room, which adjoins the foyer at front, is also roofed with a cathedral ceiling, accounting for the previously-mentioned eye - catching front gable. Note that the end of the brick fireplace wall in the living room is flanked by picture-style windows, one of which is part of that room, the other part of the master bedroom, a most unusual and effective design arrangement.

Across the foyer from the living room is the dining room, with large windows overlooking the front of the house. These three areas combine to make a formal entertaining zone, distinctively separate from the informal sections to the rear.

"Country Style"

The kitchen is what is generally referred to as "country style" because it is spacious and has a roomy eating area within itself. It can be reached from either the front foyer or the rear service entrance without trafficking through any other rooms. There are three large windows wraping around the corner of the trellised rear garden and porch. Features of the kitchen include a built-in freezer, a built-in oven and a dishwasher, in addition to a pass - through to the family room.

The family room is distinct enough to serve as a true second living room if desired. There is a provision for a decorative screen separating the family room from the bedroom hall.

The bedroom wing has three bedrooms, two large baths and a profusion of closet space, including a roomy walk-in in the master bedroom. And last, but not least, is the brick fireplace in the master bedroom.

Southern Gardener

Garden Color Tones Crest

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Early September marks the height of what I like to call the purple and mauve period in Southern gardens. Gardens, parks, cemeteries and public places are bordered with the purple spikes of liriope and ophiopogon.

Purple althaeas ("cotton bushes") are in bloom, and in some places there are lavender crape myrtles still in sight. Physostegia, that rough and ready wild flower which we have taken into cultivation can always be counted on, come drought or flood, to spread itself in masses. Then, here come the violet and the lavender colchicums and first little autumn crocuses.

Handsome Foliage

If you could see how well they do in gardens, you would go out and dig up some of the wild sunflowers that bloom at this time of the year. In your garden, they will grow to be twice as big as they are on the roadsides. Some kinds have very handsome foliage, especially the big roughleaved Helianthus mollis. Other kinds send up their tall wands of yellow flowers from rosettes of leaves right on the ground, and these bunches of foliage are beautiful all summer before the flowers appear. Since they stay out of the way of other plants, they are excellent in a perennial bed.

Along streamsides, you will find huge plants of the dazzling red Lobelia cardinalis, the cardinal flower. It is strange that we in America do not grow this native plant in our gardens. In Europe, it has always been a popular perennial, valued for its lively color. They even grow it in the flower beds in parks and around public buildings for its flowers in late summer and early autumn, and several hybrids have been made by crossing it with other lobelias.

Easily Moved

Almost any good streamside in the South will have the cardinal flower along it somewhere in late August or early September. The plants are easily moved to your garden. They do not have to have streamside conditions, but will grow right in a perennial bed if they are not allowed to suffer for water which they like if they can get it. Seed catalogues offer seeds of the cardinal flower, too.

Our other tall lobelia is lobelia syphilitica, supposed to have been, like so many other plants, a cure for syphilis. This wild flower grows on long stems like wands. The blue flowers are not showy as those of the cardinal flower, but they are worth having in a wild flower garden.

When wild flowers are brought in and cultivated, you would hardly know them for the same things they are in the woods and fields where they are struggling in competition with everything else. Under cultivation, the foliage develops fully and flowers are produced in great profusion. If you have a spare corner that is usually full of weeds, try some wild flowers there.

YOUR GARDEN NEXT SPRING

The next few weeks we hope to bring you important jobs that need to be done for successful bulb planting.

—Bulb planting time is just ahead — Preparing the soil before planting and the quality of each bulb you buy, plus the care you give the bulbs will determine the beauty of next Springs flowers.

There is joy in hard - won, fun - filled hours of gardening. We all know it is not easy living. I am thankful that it is not easy living and never will be. Most worthwhile things require some contribution.

BIG PLANS are in the making for "TULIP TIME" next Spring. MISS WEST MONROE BEAUTY PAGEANT — sponsored by the West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce, the annual TULIP FLOWER SHOW —staged by Garden Club members, TULIP TOUR of beautiful gardens, and Business Firms displaying tulips, all coming around the first week in April means "Big Times" for everyone.

??? What could be lovelier than beautiful arrangements of tulips, Beauty Queens and Contestants surrounded by hundreds of lovely breath-taking tulips in all Their beauty. There will be beautiful plantings of tulips in front of Business houses, lovely home gardens dressed in Spring color. Even the street lights, and many stop lights will burn brighter red and green for our visitors as they join us in our Annual SPRING HOLIDAY FESTIVAL. We stand ever eager to help each of you, and pledge every fiber of our being to seeing that you get the finest in bulbs purchased from us for planting.

Garden Center Notes

Fruits Key Show Motifs

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

"Emphasis on Fruits," was the theme of Dr. John Wright's program last week for the Fifth District Garden Center. Six designs were created by Dr. Wright featuring fruits, some edible and some wild berries and fruits from shrubbery.

When blooms are scarce this is an excellent time to take advantage of the fruits found on the trees and shrubs in your yard. You may not realize their beauty until you see them combined with greenery or other line material in a design.

Purple castor bean stalks with just a few leaves at the tip served as a pleasing line for the first design in a tall green, cylinder vase. The blooms of the "fire spike," a brilliant red that resembles celosia, were clustered within the line. Next followed the colorful foliage of the "Chicken Gizzard" plant. All harmonized with the cluster of green pears which served as the focal interest. A true reminder that summer is almost gone and fall is just around the corner.

Main Interest

Crabapple branches with the small apples clustered served the main interest in the next design. The container was a tall, pink pillar vase. Red-violet celosia served as the primary line. It was a harmonious blend of color that would be pleasing in the den or living room where grey-green tones predominated.

Castor bean stalks in curving lines served again for line in a brown compote container. The focal interest was produced by placing a cluster of deep pink magnolia seed pods low in the design. For accent a filler of "Joseph's Coat" and "winter honeysuckle" was used higher in the design.

A very clever idea was introduced in the treatment of the container for the next design. A tall, green cylinder container was lightly sprayed with red, then with gold paint. This gave it a rich, glamorous color effect. The plant material was a line of rosy-red crabapples with a "Chicken Gizzard" plant to one side. To highlight, a filler of the brilliant red "Fire-Spike" blooms was used with some green foliage for accent. This created a very cheerful design, which was long-lasting.

The seeds of the clero-japonicum, which resemble green grapes with orange-red tips, proved to be colorful for the line in the next design. The tall, green pillar vase served as an ideal container for this heavy material. Rose celosia tips were used high in the design. Joseph's Coat plant was placed to the back side as a filler. Don't wait to use these because a little later the berries will pop open and the seeds will drop out. They are prettier at this stage.

Hedge Seeds

The last design was one that Dr. Wright suggested the beginner could certainly make. A massed placement of privet hedge seeds, which are a lovely light green now, were used in a green pottery container. For accent, or contrast a cluster of brown castor bean seed pods was placed to the back. Some foliage of the winter honeysuckle added strength to the radiating line. Celosia and "Chicken Gizzard" plants were placed in the sides as a color filler. Anything on hand is good in this type arrangement. Believe it or not, it is pleasing to the eye, and daring to make.

Important Date — Flower Show School No. 2, will be held in Ruston, at Louisiana Tech, at the Agriculture Building, September 27, 28, and 29. This series of schools is sponsored by the Fifth District Judges Council for the benefit of all garden clubs in the district. If you are interested or know of a friend who is interested, write to Dr. John Wright. Each club should have at least three or more members enrolled for this school. This will improve the quality of the club as a whole because of the information they will bring back to the clubs. Non-Federated members are invited to attend, and can receive credit toward an amateur flower show judge's certificate if their club states its intention of Federating in the near future. Dr. Wright will send each president a complete schedule soon, if one has not been sent already so that each president can urge her members to attend. This is a rare privilege for all Garden Clubbers — Ten hours of instruction for a small fee of $5.

New Products

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Breakfast, lunch, dinner, or in-between; from fancy hors d'oeuvre to an authentic thick shake; chances are you'll find the food you've a hankering for in your nearest frozen food cabinet.

Shrimp cocktail — said to taste as if you'd done the cleaning, peeling, deveining and cooking yourself — is as near as your freezer with new Shrimp Cocktails for Two, combining 13 to 16 jumbo shrimp and a separate package of cocktail sauce.

Chopped chicken liver doesn't call for a trip to the Jewish delicatessen when you store the frozen product ready and waiting for when the mood hits.

Continental type tid-bits are a cinch, even if you hit the door only minutes before your guests. One new line includes seven defrost and serve canapes and 12 bake and serve hors d'oeuvres.

Long for old-fashioned baked apples, warm from the oven? Two Rome Beauties, oven-baked, are frozen, ready to heat.

Even pancakes don't call for a fuss. They're ready for the quickest breakfast or snack — just heat and serve as you will.

Frozen waffles are a staple in many households but now they're doing something new with waffle batter: freezing it around a frankfurter, smoked sausage link or cooked sausage link.

Hot cheese, bacon or pizza puffs are packaged 48 to a carton — in flat, perforated layers; require only 10 minutes in the oven to impress guests.

The finishing touch for any salad: ready-cut frozen tomatoes, soon to be followed by frozen tomato slices.

Make Plans For Tulips

By AUDREY DAWSON

Now is the time to make plans for tulips if you, Mrs. Gardener, want to include them in your landscape. Tulips should be planted during December in Louisiana. For satisfactory results in growing tulips in Louisiana it is necessary to place the bulbs in cold storage prior to planting.

Our latest research indicates that the bulbs should be stored 45 to 60 days at a temperature of 35 degrees F to 40 degrees F. Warren Meadows, our associate specialist in horticulture, says that storage practice has a tremendous influence upon the overall quality of flowers produced, as well as the length of stems upon which the flowers are borne. Your bulbs should be ordered in September or early October. There are several bulb distributors offering "precooled" bulbs to the southern area, and Warren says they are satisfactory if not allowed to remain at room temperature for longer than five days between the time they are removed from storage and the time they are planted.

Tulip Bulletin

The vegetable drawer of the home refrigerator generally meets the temperature requirements for bulb storage. Warren has prepared a bulletin, "Grow Tulips In Louisiana," which you may have by calling our Agriculture Extension office in West Monroe. This is one of the services of our office. The information included in this bulletin is most valuable if you grow tulips, so call for your copy. You will be most interested to know that the beautiful color photograph on the cover of the bulletin was taken in northeast Louisiana on the Ed McDonald farm at Newellton, and to look at the photograph you would be sure to think the picture was from Holland.

More Gardening

September is a month when activity in landscape gardening should increase. Continue to control insects and diseases on roses because the fall crop of flowers in Louisiana is often better, and lasts longer, than in the spring.

Plan new rose beds for winter planting. Be sure to have full sun and good drainage for roses.

Lawns

A fall application of nitrogen for lawns is most beneficial. This conditions grasses for overwintering. Apply about five pounds of nitrate of soda, or the equivalent, per 1,000 square feet of turf. Do not allow undesirable weeds and grasses to go to seed. Continue on a schedule for mowing.

If you, Mrs. Gardener, have a potted plant that you would like to enter in our parish fair, then bring it to the Agriculture Exhibit Building Monday, October 11, by 7 p.m. The following potted plants may be entered; Coleus, begonia (small leaf), begonia (large leaf variety), geraniums, asparagus fern, sword and Boston fern, dieffenbachie and rubber plant, Wandering Jew, pathos, large and small cactus, Christmas cactus, ornamental pepper plant, caladium, African violets and potted blooming chrysanthemums. Remember, the foliage of the plant must be clean in order to be eligible for a prize.

In the area of cut flowers, three blossoms of each variety must be entered as an exhibit. The cut flowers which may be entered are: Dahlias, roses, marigolds, zinnias and celosia. Remember, you must have three blossoms of each variety if cut flowers are entered. The containers for all cut flowers will be furnished by the Fair Association.

Fall Fashions

I know you, Mrs. Homemaker, are most excited over all the lovely new fabrics for fall sewing. Knits and prelined fabrics are really in the parade of fashions. You will find the single knit (such as jersey) has just one set of wrap yarns and one set of filling yarns, and so of course is lighter in weight than a double knit.

"WHAT'S NEW, PUSSYCAT?" starts Wednesday at Monroe's new Eastgate Cinema. Pictured here in a scene from the side-splitting comedy are Peter Sellers and Peter O'Toole. The Technicolor movie also stars Romy Schneider, Capucine, Paula Prentiss, Woody Allen and Ursula Andress.

CURTAIN CALL

To finish last week's story, Theatre School tuition is $5 per month for children of sustaining or patron members or $40 if paid for the nine months in advance, and $6 per month for all others or $50 if prepaid, with a 10 per cent discount for two or more from the same family.

When this column was filed, the Senior Division was full, but names were going on a waiting list for an extra section. Application for the remaining openings in the Junior Division may be made to Murray Burfford at Strauss Playhouse, 323-1235, before 3 p.m. daily.

The Little Theatre board has made the Theatre School an independent activity under its own committee, consisting of Mrs. R. L. Curry III, chairman, Mrs. D. C. Bernhardt, Mrs. Tex R. Kilpatrick and Mrs. Herbert C. Wilson, any of whom may be contacted for information.

At this time of the year, several of our committees engage in their most strenuous work. Mrs. John D. Mullens, vice president for membership, has established quite a network of out-of-town volunteers to secure memberships, including Mrs. N. E. McElwee in Delhi, Mrs. J. M. Kavanaugh in Ruston, Mrs. Frank Voelker Jr., in Lake Providence, Mrs. Sol Snyder and Miss Josephine Jones in Bastrop, Mrs. Si Willing in Winnsboro, Mrs. Bennie Christian in Rayville, Mrs. Forrest Rice in Crossett, and Leonard Pesses in El Dorado.

Local team captains are Mmes. Elizabeth Atkinson, Jack Files, Wilbur Keko, William Mahaffey, Armand McHenry Jr., Craig Morgan, C. D. Oakley Jr., Mark Price, C. A. Roberts, D. Ryan Sartor and Cyril Yancey. The patron solicitation is under Mrs. Robert D. Wood, assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Brown. As in most community theatres, the extra support given by patrons is what enables us to maintain our high standards, so we urge all former patrons to renew and as many new ones as possible to join this category before the listing is submitted for the program.

The sustaining membership at $7.50 offers the greatest entertainment bargain, working out to an average cost of $1.50 per show, including the annual winter musical. Since the first show of the new season opens in less than a month, be sure to join now.

Our very handsome play program is made possible by our advertisers who are currently being solicited by an energetic committee consisting of Mrs. DeWitt Milam, chairman, Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst, Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mrs. Robert Hathaway and Mrs. Harold Woods Jr. Mrs. Milan promises the most attractive program yet, designed by Dewayne May.

John Wray Young, director of the Shreveport Little Theatre, and his wife and scene designer, Margaret Mary Young, paid Strauss Playhouse their first visit on Labor Day, accompanied by Jill, Pat and Jock Young. The Youngs enjoy a national reputation in community theatre and praised our facilities highly. Another event of Labor Day was the appearance of Little Theatre faithful B. B. Stron on Art Linkletter's House Party program.

The former Pat Peyton, now Mrs. Victor Wiening, was a recent visitor in Monroe. Having appeared as the mayor's wife in "Bye Bye Birdie" here, she has just stolen the show as Mae Peterson in the Texas A. & M. production which used some of our costumes.

Little Theatre president Barbara Easterling is back from a vacation during which she saw "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" at the Gallery Circle Theatre in New Orleans and "The Music Man" at the Point Summer Theatre in Texas. She and Jack also visited the Midland Community Theatre.

Jan and Bill Wells, who were both in "Sunday In New York" last season prior to their marriage, have established a Little Theatre outpost in Alexandria where Bill is editor of Cleco's employee magazine.

Congratulations to Kay Harris on becoming the Louisiana Soybean Queen. Kay has appeared in several Little Theatre musicals and was Gloria Upson in "Auntie Mame."

Theater Adds Course

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Theater company adds a course for training voice teachers to its program of activities this fall.

With a Rockefeller Foundation grant of $77,000, instruction will be provided for about a dozen students who subsequently can instruct actors in proper vocal techniques.

Van Dyke Brothers Show Concern Over Comparisons

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Van Dyke brothers, Dick and Jerry, live in adjoining communities, play tennis together regularly. Their wives discuss their children and borrow sugar back and forth in normal family fashion.

But getting the Van Dykes together to discuss with a reporter their professional lives is an undertaking with some of the built-in difficulties of assembling Macy's and Gimbel's for a friendly conference.

Dick Van Dyke of "The Dick Van Dyke Show" works for the CBS network. Jerry Van Dyke of "My Mother, the Car," belongs to rival NBC. And if their respective public relations departments have their way, never the twain shall meet.

However, a get-together was arranged through the efforts of a third, interested but neutral party — Dick Linke, their mutual manager. But at the appointed hour at the appointed place with a photographer standing by to make a record for history, a management scout stumbled breathlessly into the restaurant with the word: Jerry was "unavoidably detained."

Showed Concern

Older brother Dick showed concern; the photographer looked disgusted, and the reporter was dashed. Bravely, however, they carried on and Dick, between mouthfulls of a rare hamburger on the "dieter's special," talked about his own and Jerry's show business careers.

Jerry's special problems arise from the fact that Dick has been spectacularly successful in the past five years. Jerry, also a comedian but with a vastly different style, has run into some road blocks. He was so impressive playing a couple of guest shots on big brother's "Dick Van Dyke Show" that CBS signed him to a long-term contract — and promptly shoved him into a dreary panel show called "Picture This," which quickly disappeared. It followed up by dropping him into the ill-fated "Judy Garland Show" where he was given comedy material so weak and unsuitable that it would have short-circuited the studio laugh machine.

Inevitably there were, and will continue to be, comparisons.

Comparisons

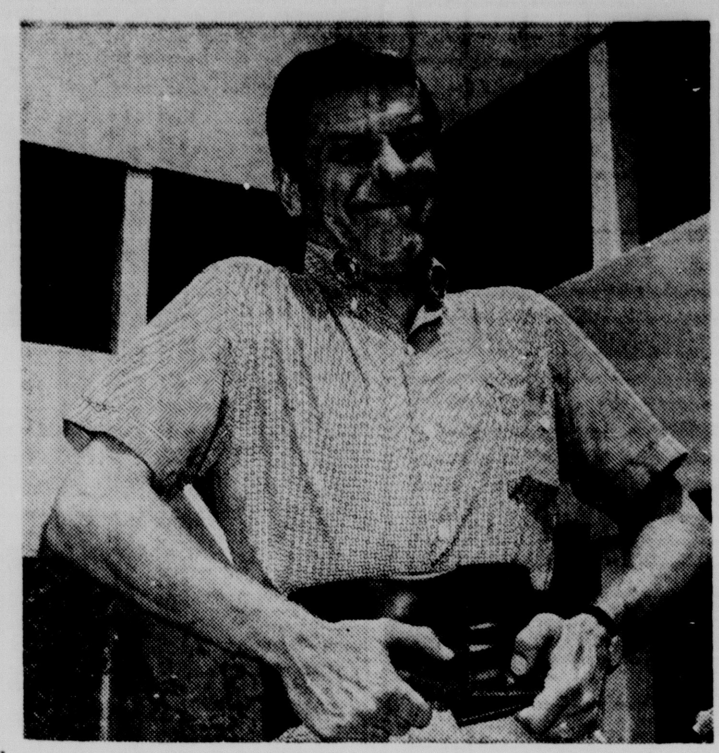
"We've talked about it, and there's not much that can be done," Dick said. "There will always be people who will say something tactless, even hurtful, like 'Oh, yes, you're number two'," said Dick.

"We are ready for the criticisms of our shows. The ones who don't like Jerry's new show are bound to complain that he's no Dick Van Dyke. And the ones who don't like me will undoubtedly warn me to look out. And I'm sure somebody will write that a feud has started between us."

Jerry undoubtedly has become weary of discussing the relationship and is perhaps sensitive about it. He finally built an all-purpose comedy routine explaining how it all came about. In answer to the inevitable question, Jerry soberly explains that for many years neither of the boys had any first names until one day their father called them together.

"Now, which one of you wants to be Dick?" the father asked, at which point the older brother sought permission to leave the room, and in approved schoolboy fashion raised his hand.

"Very well, you're Dick," said father Van Dyke, and that was that.



THE BETTER KNOWN of the Van Dyke brothers, Dick, looks forward to having his younger brother, Jerry, also in a TV star role, on another network, this season. Dick says this is the last season of CBS' "The Van Dyke Show." Jerry stars in NBC's new "My Mother, the Car." Here Dick shows a 12-pound weighted belt which he wears a couple of hours a day, in his Hollywood studio. He says it has reduced his midriff about one inch in six weeks. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

The story, typical of Jerry's style, brings chuckles.

In a way, Jerry's new series, if it strikes the fancy of the Television audience, assures that there will be a Van Dyke in the medium for a while longer. Dick, who with "Mary Poppin" has emerged as an important new motion picture star, is in what is positively the final season — the fifth — of "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

Series Winding

"Five years is just about right," says Dick. "And I don't think I'll be interested in doing another television series — not when there are so many other things I want to do. We'll wind this series up in March — right now I'm just beginning to see some light at the other end of the tunnel."

Dick, who will be 40 in December, and Jerry, a few years younger, were raised in Danville, Ill. Both inherited from their father, a trucking agent, a flair for comedy and both became skilled pantomimists.

Dick spent six years playing night clubs as part of a two-man act and finally got into television. But his career really got off the ground with a starring role in Broadway's "Bye Bye Birdie."

Jerry, with a guitar for a prop, came along quietly via the night club route. But he attracted attention, significantly, when he turned up playing in Dick's show as Dick's Television brother.

"But after all the years when Jerry has been mistaken for me — and there's a strong family resemblance — I got a big kick the other day," Dick recalled. "I went over to his studio to see him, and I was driving my Jag. Jerry has been dying to get one too. And as I drove through the gate, the guard came over with a big grin, looked at the car and said, 'So you finally bought it, Jerry.' "

Dick became serious for a moment.

"Even if the show isn't a hit, it will be good for Jerry," he reflected. "At least it will make him a star because the role is his sort of thing."

Jerry plays a young lawyer in the fantasy-comedy. The gimmick is that his deceased mother is reincarnated as an old automobile.

'Fourposter' Revised

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Martin is to be one of the only two performers in a musical version of "The Fourposter" slated to reach Broadway during the 1966-'67 season.

The adaptation of the hit play about a married couple has been made by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, author of "The Fantasticks."

The production is planned by David Merrick, for whom Miss Martin is now on tour in "Hello, Dolly!"

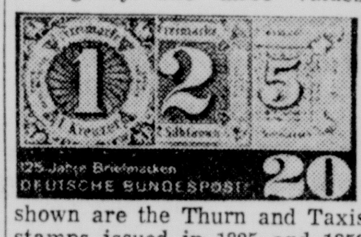
Old Stamps Depicted On New Issue

One hundred twenty-five years ago the first postage stamp was issued by Great Britain. It was the famed Penny Black bearing the portrait of Queen Victoria. To honor this anniversary, the Federal Republic of West Germany has issued a new 20 pfennig stamp depicting the three oldest German stamps, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The three values shown are the Thurn and Taxis stamps issued in 1825 and 1859 with the denominations of 1 kreuzer, 2 silver groschen and 5 silver groschen. The three values together make up the number of the anniversary — 125.



Also from West Germany are the first stamps in a new series called "New Berlin." The series will contain six stamps and are a sequel to the "Old Berlin" series of 12 stamps issued in 1962 and 1963.

The new 1966 edition of H. E. Harris' "Stamp Collectors Guide" booklets are now available. They contain up-to-the-minute prices and an illustrated section of U.S. postage. Descriptions and prices of worldwide stamps are included. It has a wealth of information in its 64 pages. Readers of this column may obtain copies FREE direct from the publisher—H. E. Harris & Co., Box A, Boston, Mass. 02117.

Just released by Minkus Publications is its 1965 Global Supplement which contains spaces for 8,000 stamps on 352 pages covering 155 nations. The supplement is fully illustrated and complete from mid-1964 to June 1965. Originally produced to keep the Minkus' Supreme Global, Master Global, Comprehensive and New World Wide Albums up to date, the supplements are now also being used by new collectors who want to start a hobby with the most recent issues. The price of the 1965 Global Supplement is $3.50 and is available at your local stamp dealer.

India has issued a new definitive stamp in the start of a new series to replace the current "Map of India" series, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The theme of the new series is "Tea Plucking." The first adhesive is a 15 naya paisa depicting a woman plucking tea leaves. The words "Plucking Tea" appear at the left in Hindi are at the bottom. The color of the new stamp is olive green.

Bock Composes Three

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Bock, composer of the prize-winning musicals "Fiorello!" and "Fiddler on the Roof," provides three songs for the comedy, "Generation," that stars Henry Fonda.

Instead of his usual collaborator, Sheldon Harnick, Bock had playwright William Goodhart as lyricist.

FOR THE THIRD week in a row The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved higher, closing at 338.3 from 336.6 a week earlier. Led by livestock and grains, the commodity index declined for the fourth straight week to close at 171.9 from 172.3 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Market Advances For Third Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week encountered the frequently critical post-Labor Day atmosphere and emerged with its third straight weekly advance.

The rise was accomplished in spite of weakness by the leading steels which were affected by worries concerning the possibility of a cost-price squeeze as a result of the strike-averting steel labor agreement. As the week went on, however, the thought became more prevalent that there would be selective price increases in steel which might save the industry's profit margins.

The market's advance was due chiefly to selective strength among blue chips. General Motors gave the list powerful leadership by carving out a net gain of 4¾ points at 104⅜.

The over-all rise, however, was a mixture of solid investment buying in blue chips and more adventurous speculation in secondary issues, many of them in the defense-related electronics field or else with such temptingly low price-earnings ratios that they attracted traders.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week rose 10.98 to 918.95.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.7 to 338.3.

Of 1,533 issues traded, 838 rose and 531 fell.

Volume for the week totaled 26,130,630 shares compared with 27,984,081 the previous week which was a full, five-day trading week. Labor Day cut the past trading week to four days.

The market rose every day. By Friday it had strung together seven straight daily gains.

Softness in steels was a handicap every day except Friday when most of the major steelmakers either held their ground or edged upward slightly.

U.S. Treasury bond prices sagged as investors continued to keep on the sidelines because of international tensions. Prices in other bond markets were mixed.

On the New York Stock Exchange, corporate bond volume totaled a par value of $49.95 million, compared with $65.3 million the previous week.

Of 425 issues traded during the week, 163 advanced in price, 159 declined and 103 were unchanged.

Cotton Future Price Decline Shown In Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices of domestic cotton futures declined sharply this week.

At the close of trading Friday, futures on the New York Cotton Exchange were 10 cents a bale higher to $9 a bale lower. Last week cotton futures were 15 cents higher to 25 cents lower.

Trading was light through the holiday-shortened week, but increased sharply Friday after announcement of Senate approval of new cotton legislation.

Observers said the market reflected continued uncertainity over the final form of the legislation.

The government, meanwhile, estimated a crop of 5.1 million bales as of Sept. 1, an increase of 318,000 bales over the August forecast.

Cotton exports totaled 45,000 bales for the week, compared with 25,000 bales a week earlier and 17,000 bales a year earlier. For the current season through Sept. 7, exports totaled 200,000 bales, compared with 137,000 for the same period a year ago.

Upward Trend By Grain Ends

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain and soybeans futures contracts declined on the Board of Trade last week, ending a two-weeks upward trend.

Uncertainties hung over the market much of the week and price movements generally were moderate in the absence of positive developments.

The trouble between India and Pakistan was the biggest market influence, causing a sharp break in wheat futures Wednesday.

Local traders were fearful that the fighting could result in a cutoff of United States aid to both countries. India is the biggest buyer of U.S. wheat, and Pakistan also relies heavily on surplus U.S. wheat.

At the end of the week wheat was 1⅛-1⅞ cents a bushel lower than a week earlier, September $1.54⅝-¾; corn was 1⅛-2¼ lower, September $1.22⅛-¼; oats ¼-⅞ lower, September 67⅞ cents; rye 2⅛-2½ lower, September $1.18, and soybeans 1-2 cents lower, September $2.52⅞-¾.

Steel Question: Price Hike Due?

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In the aftermath of the steel industry labor settlement, one big question remained: Will steel prices go up?

The United Steelworkers of America and the 10 major producing companies signed this week a 35-month contract reached after relentless prodding by President Johnson.

The union estimated the package was worth 47.3 cents an hour. This would mean that the cost to industry would be $450 million a year.

Immediately speculation arose as to whether the producers would impose selective price increases. There was talk of a general boost, which surely would arouse the ire of the government.

The consensus seemed to be that any price adjustment would be gradual and over the long haul.

Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, said the wage increase granted the steelworkers amounted to 3.2 per cent — the precise figure which the administration had set as a guideline for wage settlements.

This, however, was a matter of argument. Some sources calculated the raise at 3.7 per cent.

Some grumbling was heard from steel management about the cost of the settlement and its effect on profits.

Chairman Thomas F. Patton of Republic Steel Corp., third largest steel producer, expressed regret over the cost of the new contract and hinted that price boosts were being considered.

"We are pleased that, after months of negotiations, a labor contract which will keep our plants open and our employes at their jobs has been concluded," Patton said.

"We regret, exceedingly, however, that the cost of the contract, regardless of how it is measured, greatly exceeds the 2.2 per cent long-term productivity gain which the industry has experienced."

Patton said the cost increases involved "will further intensify the cost-price squeeze under which we have been operating during the past several years, during which we have experienced steadily rising costs both in our employment costs and in the costs of materials and services which we purchase."

Ackley expressed the opinion that the excess of steel supplies built up during the long negotiations should be absorbed by the economy "without shock or strain."

He said the nation's economy may expand this year at a slightly higher rate than the official forecast in January and he predicted continued improving business through 1966.

Steel production last week declined to 2,413,000 tons, off 4.5 per cent from the previous week.

Automobile production lagged in this holiday-shortened week. Output totaled an estimated 53,500 cars, compared with 56,044 last week and 118,125 a year earlier.

Automakers, who rang up record production in the 1965 model year, put their sights on a new record in the final quarter of this year. Their goal is to turn out 2.6 million cars, the largest output for any three months in the industry's history. The current three-months record is 2,561,865 in the first quarter of this year.

Sales of new cars continued to hold up well. Dealers delivered 609,937 cars in August, up 7 per cent from 570,851 a year earlier and second only to 659,000 in August 1955.

Many of the country's business economists and statisticians expect the economy to continue its expansion through 1966. This was indicated by a survey reported at the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association in Philadelphia. Their forecasts look for a modest increase in the total output of goods and services next year.

A government survey showed that businesses have again scaled up capital spending plan. A record outlay of $50.92 billion was budgeted for new plant and equipment this year, up 13.4 per cent from 1964's record $44.9 billion.

New Oil Find Expected In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new oil field find in Smith County may be near with production tests underway on a wildcat northeast of the Mize oil field.

The potential pool opener is Cantral Oil Company's No. 2-5 unit with operators testing commercial worth of oil shows logged in the Hosston, Rodessa and Pine Island zones below 11,923 feet.

The venture was drilled to 13,553 feet with production casing cemented to 13,516 feet.

In the extreme southwestern part of Wilkinson County, Placid Oil Co. is reported to have set production casing at its venture with no information released by operators. The well attempt is an east offset to Placid's No. 1, Pritchartt, which flowed 175 barrels of oil per day from perforations in the Wilcox zone.

In the Flowood area of Rankin County, J. G. Strahan has shut in his wildcat, the Love Petroleum Co. No. 1, after testing 250,000 cubic feet of gas per day from perforations in the Wilcox sand at 1173-76 feet. The same operator has secured permit to drill a second test in the area to evaluate the commercial worth of the shallow gas find.

Also in Rankin County, Love Petroleum and Carelton Billups are below 13,200 feet in their wildcat near Pelahatchie which is to be drilled to 16,500 feet to test the Smackover lime formation.

Southeast of the Morton field in Scott County, another Smackover wildcat by Pan American Tidewater and Skelly Oil Companies is below 11,400 feet.

In the city limits of Bay Springs in Jasper County, Shell, Pan American and Pruett are below 3,100 feet in their 16,900 feet venture to test the Smackover.

Three other wells are drilling in the Bay Springs field. Shell Pan American and Pruett are below 12,000 feet in their Hall-Houston No. 1, and the same operators are below 6,900 feet in the Hall No. 1 shell and Pan American are below 11,790 feet in the Ainsworth No. 1, with all the ventures to be drilled to the 14,500 feet Cotton Valley producing zone.

Charged Slayer Awaiting Action From Courts

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Donald Boggs, a loner all his life, sat subdued in jail Saturday awaiting court action in the random killing of four.

The slayings in three states shocked the public but Boggs, a babyfaced ex-convict at 23, showed little emotion.

"He's cool, and he's cooperative," said a sheriff's deputy.

Although Sheriff Cecil Richardson said Boggs admitted orally the killings, he was charged specifically with the fatal shooting of Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H.

The other victims were Harold B. Flory, a San Antonio, Tex., fisherman found dead Sept. 3 in a nearby Texas river, and Warren Lenker, 25, a college student from Elizabethville, Pa., shot to death Tuesday near Cear City, Utah.

Richardson quoted Boggs, of Londonderry, Ohio, as saying he and the 16-year-old daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, preacher left Ohio on Aug. 27 and drove into Texas. Near San Antonio, Boggs was quoted as saying, he hit Flory with a hammer Sept. 3 and threw the body into the river.

A .22-caliber revolver which officers think was used to kill Lenker, Willis and Johnson was taken from Flory's truck.

College Slates Sign Up Period

GRAMBLING (Special)—The registration schedule at Grambling College has been anounced for the fall semester.

Freshman will register Monday, the same day dormitories open for upper classmen.

Registration procedure for upperclassmen will be in the following alphabetical order and times: A-C; 8 a.m. to 9 a.m.; D-G; 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; H-J, 10a.m. to 11 a.m.; K-M, 11 a.m. to noon; N-P, noon to 1 p.m.; Q-S, 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.; T-V, 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and W-Z 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Penalty for late registration starts Thursday, one day after classes begin. Sept. 22 has been set for final registration date.

Baton Rouge Hit Hard By Betsy

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Hurricane Betsy dealt Baton Rouge a stunning blow economically. The full assessment may take weeks.

Mayor-president W. W. Dumas of East Baton Rouge Parish said Saturday he believed damages would be "at least $50 million."

Jerry Bennett, state buildings superintendent, estimated damage to the state capitol, adjacent buildings and grounds at $200,000.

Full Schedule Awaits Frosh At Northeast

A full schedule of activities is planned today through Saturday for what is expected to be Northeast Louisiana State College's largest freshman class.

Freshman orientation activities are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, registration for all regular classes is slated Wednesday and Thursday and classes will begin Friday. A folk singing group, "The Town Criers," will entertain in a 8 p.m. Friday show in Brown Hall Auditorium and the week will end with the annual freshmen talent show, "Freshmen Present," Saturday night in the auditorium, also at 8.

Scheduled today is the opening of the dormitories for freshmen at 10 a.m. and a vesper service sponsored by the Student Government Association from 6 to 6:45 p.m. in Brown Auditorium conducted by the Reverend Ray Rust, pastor of Bastrop's First Baptist Church.

Gunby Dining Hall will serve its first meal this evening from 4:30 to 6 with Northeast's new dining hall on Bon Aire Drive to open for breakfast Monday morning.

Monday at 8 a.m. there will be an assembly of all freshmen men students in the auditorium with Jack V. Collins, dean of men, presiding.

The Freshman Orientation Assembly for beginning freshmen only is slated at 9 a.m. in the auditorium with Herman R. Sigler, dean of Student Services, in charge. Dr. George T. Walker, Northeast President, will welcome the freshmen students and Dr. Jack E. Kimball, director of Testing and Guidance, will provide information on the testing program and advising sessions.

Freshmen who have completed the testing program will meet with their advisers or deans from 9:45 until noon while freshmen who have not completed the tests will do so in Gunby Dining Hall.

Freshmen advising and testing will continue following lunch until 4:45.

A movie is scheduled Monday night at 7:30 in Brown Auditorium.

At 8 a.m. Tuesday Miss Alma Lufcy, dean of women, will meet with all freshmen women students in Brown Auditorium and an assembly of all freshmen is set for 9 with Lawson Swearingen of Ruston, president of Northeast's Student Government Association, presiding.

Swearingen will introduce the other 1965-66 SGA officers — Vice President James Phillips of Jonesboro, Secretary Jeanne Rowan of Monroe and Treasurer Preston Hollier of Sulphur — and two Northeast celebrities, the reigning Miss Northeast (Judy Swayze of Monroe) and Miss Chacahoula (Sara Lewis of West Monroe.)

Northeast President Walker will then introduce members of the College's administrative staff.

Assembly with deans of the schools of the College is scheduled from 9:45 to noon and students tested Monday will meet with their advisers from 1 to 5 p.m.

"Open House" in two residence halls — newly renovated Nicholson Hall for women and the new men's residence hall on Bon Aire Drive — is scheduled at 7 Tuesday night.

Registration for all students begins Wednesday and that evening will be "Church Night" at campus church centers.

Registration continues Thursday and that night at 6:30 a pep rally is slated in Brown Stadium with Coach Dixie White to introduce members of the 1965 football team and coaching staff. Then at 7:30 tryouts for the annual freshman talent show will be held in Brown Hall Auditorium.

Work Is Begun On Highway In Ouachita Parish

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Work has begun on the Bawcomville - Eros Highway (Section 1-C), State Route 34, in Ouachita Parish, according to Highway Director A. L. Stewart.

The work is being done under a $423,606 contract by Bentz and Elmore, Inc. of Monroe. The project begins on Route 34, approximately 2.7 miles southwest of Bawcomville and proceed southwesterly along Route 34 for a distance of 1.6 miles to its junction with State Route 557. A second portion of the project begins at the junction of Routes 34 and 557, approximately 4.3 miles southwest of Bawcomville, and runs westerly along Route 34 for a distance of 2.5 miles to its junction with State Route 3033.

The project includes grading, installing drainage structures, laying a soil cement base course and asphaltic concrete pavement.

The contractor will be required to provide for and maintain traffic during the 15 month construction period.

Stewart said that W. R. Overton of Monroe will serve as the project engineer.

Policeman Killed While Stopping Burglary Attempt

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — A veteran police detective, staked out in a new car dealer's office, and a Gallup city jailer, surprised during a burglary attempt, died in a predawn exchange of gunfire Saturday.

A friend of the jailer, Vincent Barraza, 19, Gallup, was charged with murder after he was arrested 2½ hours later. Gallup Police Chief Manuel Gonzales said Barraza got away during the shootout.

John Arviso, 60, captain of the Gallup police detective force, was shot once in the chest with a .38-caliber bullet. He died at the scene.

But, Gonzales said, as Arviso fell, he fired once with his 12-guage riot gun and knocked down Larry Ambler, 24, a city policeman assigned as city jailer. He got up, staggered a few steps and died.

Arviso was part of a six-man squad, which included Gonzales, assigned to the Navajo Motor Co. after Gonzales said he received an anonymous telephone tip Friday night that the firm was to be burglarized.

Cosmonauts To Meet American Gemini Fliers

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Alexei A. Leonov and Pavel Belyayev flew here Saturday to meet America's Gemini astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr., and Charles Conrad Jr.

Plans here were for them all to get together Monday at the opening of the 16th International Astronautical Congress, but Washington reports indicated the Americans would be a little late.

The White House announced the Americans would meet with President Johnson on Tuesday and then head for Athens — probably arriving Wednesday. This will give the Russians a three-day headstart for hobnobbing with the 1,500 top space experts coming for the conference.

Besides Belayev and Leonov, the first man to walk in space, the Soviet delegation included Dr. Leonid Sedov, "father of the Sputnik," and 33 other space luminaries.

Dr. William Pickering of the United States, president of the International Astronautical Federation, will preside over the six-day congress.

102nd Anniversary

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Medical Gazette reported the Adamovs of Azerbaijan, Artmed and his wife, Manna, recently celebrated their 102nd wedding anniversary. It said she was a 26-year-old bride and he a 24-year-old groom in 1863.

Two-Car Crash Kills Nine In North Carolina

LINCOLNTON, N.C. (AP) — The jarring crash of two automobiles on a moonlit highway straightaway late Friday night killed all nine North Carolinians in the two vehicles.

Both cars remained upright but were badly mangled.

State Trooper Howard Camp said evidence pointed to a rear tire blowout on a westbound car driven by Ray Field Farley, 21, of Rt. 2, Vale.

Camp said the left rear tire apparently blew out just before the car topped a slight hill on N.C. 27 about 11 miles west of Lincolnton.

Camp said the car wobbled along about 135 feet on its side of the highway, then apparently cut abruptly to its left and into the path of an eastbound station wagon driven by Ernest Lee Self, 49, of Rt. 2, Lawndale. Self, his wife, Laura Minnie Self, 49, and the youngest of their 12 children, Michael, 6, died in the accident.

The station wagon tore into the right side of the automobile.

Those killed in addition to Farley were Brenda Farley, 17; Bennie White, 14; Gennie White, 19, and Paul Bryant, 18, all of Rt. 2, Vale, and Clemmer Banks, 23, of Rt. 1, Cherryville.

Coroner Marvin Drum said no inquest was planned.

Highway patrolmen said the accident was the worst two-car collision since July 23, 1964, when 10 persons in two automobiles were killed in Lenoir County.

North Carolina's worst highway traffic accident occurred June 6, 1957, when a tractor-trailer truck collided with a truck carrying migrant farm workers on U.S. 301 north of Fayetteville. Twenty-one persons were killed in that wreck.

Ruby Lawyers Claim Victory Despite Failure

DALLAS (UPI) — Jack Ruby's lawyers today claimed a legal victory despite their failure to win freedom and a new trial for the condemned slayer of President Kennedy's assassin.

The complicated case was turned over to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals after a two-day hearing on the relationship of trial Judge Joe B. Brown to the case.

Brown voluntarily withdrew from the Ruby case weeks ago but the killer's attorneys sought to force a formal court order to bar him. They charged he had "pecuniary interests" in the matter since he was having a book ghost - written under his name about the sensational trial that ended March 14, 1964, in a death sentence for Ruby.

Brown's successor, Dist. Judge Louis Holland, Friday refused to grant a defense request for a writ of habeas corpus that would have "sprung" Ruby from jail and paved the way for a new trial on charges of shooting Lee Harvey Oswald.

Holland turned the question of Brown's formal disqualification over to the appeals court.

Governor Was Among Those Facing Danger

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Gov. John McKeithen said Saturday he was one of two officials who nearly lost their lives in Hurricane Betsy.

The other, he said, was Sheriff Eddie Ste. Marie of Lafourche Parish, who was picked up by hurricane winds and thrown into a bayou. Ste. Marie was hauled out by a rope he managed to tie around his neck.

McKeithen's car, driven by State Police Lt. Winton Bordelon, plunged into a flooded Bat. Rouge expressway underpass as they returned to the executive mansion at the height of Betsy's blow here. It was nearly submerged.

McKeithen and Bordelon swam out and dashed through darkness and high winds to the nearby mansion.

The governor invited to the mansion also two men who sat nearby in their own nearly submerged car. They accepted.

Administration Charged With Disguising Costs

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., accused the Johnson administration Saturday of hiding costs of the Viet Nam war.

Ford made the charge at a news conference at a Michigan Republican state leadership conference at which he and other GOP leaders agreed on needs to be met if the party is to escape minority status.

The conference, attended by 750 Michigan party members, generally agreed the party must unify, develop positive issues and find attractive candidates for office.

Ford, here to help plan future strategy with his home state Republicans, told the news conference that escalation of the Viet Nam war will cost the United States an estimated $10 billion more than was contemplated in President Johnson's 1965-66 budget.

He also said future federal tax cuts will "go down the drain" if the Viet Nam military action and federal welfare programs continue at present rates.

Ford called for an end to "family brawling" and "selfish going-it-alone" by Republicans. He said the party "must be inclusive, not exclusive," and must appeal to "Democrats, independents and Republicans alike."

Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney, who has been named as a possible contender for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, also called for GOP unity.

Romney said, "If the party's goal is self-destruction, the path is easy to find. But if we are to bring our principal message to the people so they will elect sound leadership, we must thrust along the more difficult road of internal discussion and understanding that produces unity within the party structure."

Rhode Island's Gov. John Chafee was one of the critics of his own party. He said the Republicans' "whole, long-range future" will be at stake in the 1966 elections.

Northeast State Dean's Daughter Receives Award

Miss Annie Luisa Sigler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Sigler of 2103 Cottonwood Drive, Monroe, has been selected to receive a LSU Alumni Federation Freshman Honor Award. Miss Sigler's father is the Dean of Student Services at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Miss Sigler attended Neville High School and graduated from Baton Rouge High School in May. While at Baton Rouge High School she maintained a straight A average. She plans to study foreign languages at LSU.

The Freshman Honor Awards are presented by the Alumni Federation in recognition of outstanding academic performance and to encourage scholarship. The award consists of a $100 grant upon entrance to the university this month.

Dr. E. C. St. Martin of Shreveport, Alumni President, said that the honor awards are supported by the Annual LSU Alumni Fund. "The honor awards are one of the means by which alumni can encourage educational achievement at LSU. An institutiona can only be outstanding if it has a correspondingly outstanding group of students; therefore, whatever the Alumni Federation can do to nurture a climate of outstanding scholarship at LSU will assist the progress and development of our university," St. Martin said.

Selections were made by the University Scholarship Committee.

Johnson Will Seek Federal Disaster Aid

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Paul Johnson indicated Saturday he plans to ask that parts of Mississippi raked by Hurricane Betsy be declared a major disaster area.

The governor sent a telegram to President Johnson paving the way for a formal request for federal disaster relief to hard-hit areas along the Gulf Coast and elsewhere over the state.

There was no official estimate of damages caused by the storm in Mississippi, but the loss was expected to run into the millions of dollars. Numerous homes and businesses along the coast were wrecked or heavily damaged by the strong gales and high tides.

Thundershowers swept over much of the rest of the state Friday as the storm moved through neighboring Louisiana and into Arkansas.

The highway patrol said a tornado dipped down Friday night in an isolated area of north Mississippi, damaging three houses. No injuries were reported.

Authorities said the twister struck near a private lake about 6 miles west of Walnut in Tippah County, damaging one residence and two lakefront cottages. Damages to the residence, owned by Edward Charles Womack, were estimated at $1,500 to $2,000.

A massive cleanup continued over the state following the violent weather. Most roads and highways were reported passable by Saturday but mountains of debris and wreckage still littered much of the coast.

National Guard units which were ordered into the area to assist local authorities began pulling out Saturday afternoon. A total of about 400 guardsmen were on duty.

No deaths were directly attributed to the storm in Mississippi but the wife of an Ocean Springs physician died early Friday en route to a hospital at the height of the hurricane.

Officers said Dr. James Waddell was driving his wife, who apparently suffered a heart attack, to a Biloxi hospital when the car stalled on an Ocean Springs bridge. Rescue units picked up the stranded couple about 3 a.m. but Mrs. Waddell, 37, was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Soviets Holding American Who Crossed Border

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet authorities told the U.S. Embassy Saturday they are holding an American tourist accused of crossing the border illegally from Norway into the Soviet Union.

They informed the embassy that the American, Newcomb Mott, 27, Sheffield, Mass., was being detained at Murmansk at the northern tip of European Russia.

A. U.S. spokesman said the embassy had requested and received permission for an American consular officer to visit Mott.

The spokesman said no details were given on Mott's condition, how he crossed the border or whether he had formally been charged with any violation. He expressed belief Mott had strayed across a poorly defined section of the border last Saturday.

Betsy Batters Every Warf In Crescent City

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — New Orleans Port Director W. J Amos said Saturday that ever wharf in the city — the nation' second largest port — suffere some damage from Hurrican Betsy.

The shipping industry als suffered millions of dollars i damages in New Orleans, an from Baton Rouge to the mout of the Mississippi River. Th preliminary reports say that th costs may rise past the billion dollar mark.

Betsy caused $3-million dam age at the public grain elevato as she devastated two of thre carloaders.

Numerous collisions were reported in the river. One of thes occurred when the 12-millio automated cargo liner Elizabet Lykes, which was still unde construction, broke loose fron its moorings and slammed int four ships.

No estimate has been given o the number of vessels lost o damaged here, but the river i lined with pieces of vessel showing above the water.

In Houston, Tex., the Atlanti Gulf & Pacific Co., said Saturday seven men are missing an one is presumed dead after on of its dredges sank in Southwes Pass, along with three injure survivors. It said it could no yet estimate how many peopl are dead or missing as a resul of storm damage to boats in th river, and distress calls are stil coming in.

Some vessels which have bee unreported since sending distress calls include:

The fishing boat Silver Moo with two aboard.

An unidentified small craft i Bayou LaFourche with 1 aboard.

Two self-propelled grain carriers which sank near Myrtl Grove, La. The number of crewmen aboard was unknown.

An estimated 10 barges wer sunk and four tugboats wer known sunk in the Baton Roug area.

French Spending

PARIS (AP) — France plans to spend $4.4 billion on its military establishment in 1966, an increase of 5.8 per cent over this year. There was no indication of how much would go for arming the budding French nuclear force.

Arabi Scene Of Aftermath

ARABI, La. (AP) — The black was just shading gray over the distant bayous to the east and it was a time for any but night watchmen to be abed.

Few were.

There was the groan of trucks and amphibious ducks, the scratchy voices over police radio, outboards bubbling off into the gloom and overhead the first helicopters of the day had taken off.

This was the street scene of Arabi, La., just south of New Orleans, the suburb where 50,000 people had been flooded when a levee broke under the strain of Hurricane Betsy. Already 35,000 people had been evacuated. Another 10,000 remained, without food, water or electricity. Some of them had been camping on their rooftops, the only high spot, since Betsy struck two-and-a-half days before.

The main road into Arabi from New Orleans crosses a bridge over the industrial canal. The flood came when its levee broke. To everyone out in the flood it is simply "the bridge," the place where high ground begins.

Sgt. Alfred Theriot Jr. was directing one of the several hundred boatsmen who had volunteered their outboards, rowboats and even slender bayou pirogues.

"We got a family of seven with no bread or water or nothing." He gave the street address. The boat loaded up with milk donated by a dairy and set off.

"Water level's dropped a foot. A little more and we can get 'em all out by truck. There are going to be a lot more dead out there. I know one house has six bodies in it still. Old people. They couldn't walk out. Went up in the attic when the water rose. But it kept right on rising."

An older woman in a print house dress approached Theriot. "Officer, could I walk out to my house? I got my three dogs there. If I don't get there they'll die. How deep is it?"

"You can walk it, but it's up to your waist."

She took a quart of milk and started wading.

An outboard grounded on the pavement approaching the bridge with a load of evacuees. "Officer," said one of them, "I'm a diabetic, a vast diabetic. Where can I get a shot?"

"There's a doctor back over the bridge."

James Johnson stepped off the boat onto the highway." Oh Lord, it's good to be back on solid land." He hadn't had food or water for two days.

"Officer, can I have some milk for my baby?" asked a woman who came from the other end of the bridge.

"You can get a bus and get milk. This is for people been settin' on roofs of their houses."

Sgt. Edgar Wragge, a National Guardsman who is a draftsman in civilian life, backed his big 2x8 Army truck up to the milk cache. He had had three hours sleep since Betsy struck. He had made it a private project to supply their only food for a group of about 300 marooned in an elementary school.

"I'm a volunteer. No pay. I understand they give a medal in Louisiana for hurricane work. Seriously," he said.

The truck was loaded and Wragge set off. "I've made 40, 50, 100 trips, I don't know. You learn to be a river pilot out here. I know where all the curbs and dips are. Too deep and she stalls."

The truck moved slowly down the street, past cars flooded to their windows in a used auto lot. "More select cars inside" said a sign on the display room.

A group of Negroes stood out of the water on the front stairs of a school. A man had his feet up on the second floor porch of his flooded house watching the action. A movie theater marquee announced "Genghis Khan" was showing. Water was up to the box office window. Tops of cars left where they had stalled made navigation difficult.

"Don't make waves, you'll get water in my house," shouted a man from his flooded front porch."

"Water?" Wragge laughed. "You got all you need."

Outboards moved everywhere. Four men in a rowboat paddled up a side street with two by fours.

Something New Slated At Fair

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Louisiana State Fair has become the gathering place for livestock men each fall, and this year something new has been added for the "horsey set." The first annual Registered Quarter Horse Sale, sponsored by the Ark-La-Tex Quarter Horse Association, will be held October 23, at 8:00 p.m.

Offered for sale will be some 75 head of show, pleasure, and working horses for the most discriminating buyer as well as the novice. Plans and efforts have succeeded in outlining a quality sale for this area. All horses will be screened prior to sale time, so that only the "good ones" will be permitted to enter the ring. A screening committee will be selected to perform this operation to assure buyers of a fine selection.

AIR MEETING

VIENNA (UPI)—Officials of most of the world's airlines are coming here to attend the 21st general assembly of the International Air Transport Association Oct. 25 to 29.

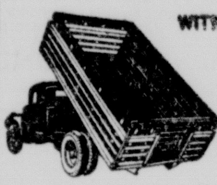
MIDWEST All-Purpose

Emblem of Quality and Satisfaction

"Fold Down" model Body

Here is a farm body that gives you the profit advantage of bigger payload space and a chance to profit from additional uses you've previously had to pass up. Hinged Stock Racks-light-weight "Swing or Slide" Stock End Gate — "metering" grain gate, lowest possible loading height, kilndried hardwood or all-steel floors, patented steel stakes, all contribute to lower operating costs.



WITH STOCK RACKS DOWN

With Stock Racks folded down and ventilator slots in place body is quickly converted to 37" grain body. Available with or without underbody hoist.

Come in and see us today.

IF YOUR CAR IS WEARING OUT—
But you feel you can't afford a new one; read this: We have brand new General Motors OPEL demonstrators for sale at prices well below list price. The cars carry a full G.M. warranty for 24,000 miles or two years, and are extremely economical to operate and maintain. In fact, this is your best chance of getting a new General Motors car at a price below what it costs for a good used car. Company policy does not permit us to advertise sacrifice prices, but if you will contact us at 325-8224, RILEY BUICK, we will provide full details without obligation or high-pressure tactics.

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Teenager Starts Party Business With Want Ads

Because Loa Kirk, a peppy 15 year old, had trouble finding a summer job, she used Want Ads to start her own business —giving parties for children.

Loa plans parties with themes such as Davy Crockett, fairyland, circus, and "plain old birthday". She furnishes decorations, prizes, favors and three hours of games and entertainment.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's my suggestion for a sewing bench:

I took a wooden crate (which you can usually get free at your grocery store) 11x11 inches wide and 19 inches high and put shelves in it. I put my sewing notions in small boxes and put them on these shelves.

I sanded the rough edges of the crate, painted it, then covered it with a print material, making a flounce for the front.

When I am not sewing, I slide the bench under my machine cabinet where it is out of the way.

A. Robertson

* * *

This is a wonderful idea, and so inexpensive. To make the bench more comfortable, why not pad the top of it with foam rubber or pieces of old blanket cut to the proper size?

It is always a nuisance to get a chair when you want to sew . . . . besides, as you say, you can have the sewing notions right there, and can put the stool out of the way when you have finished sewing.

Heloise

FOR THE BIRDS

DEAR HELOISE:

I have quite a few canaries.

When I give them crackers I string about four or five on a piece of wire, running the wire through the middle of each cracker, and fasten it inside the cage. I use fine picture wire that comes on a small spool.

This keeps the crackers clean and they are easy for the bird to get to. If one of the crackers breaks, it falls inside the cage.

I use clothespins to clamp bread or lettuce to the wire of the cage. This helps to keep the floor of the cage clean.

Reader

SPECIAL WRAP-UP

DEAR HELOISE:

I wrap baby gifts in diapers or a crib sheet, secure it with diaper pins, and top the gift with a rattle or toy.

Wedding-shower gifts may be wrapped in a tablecloth, towels, sheet or pillow-case. Tie the package with your famous nylon net, and it is practical and attractive.

Mrs. Donald McIntyre

THIS'LL GIVE YOU A BELT

DEAR HELOISE:

Sometimes a belt is made too short, or it shrinks when washed. Don't throw it away.

Open the belt carefully, take off the buckle and keeper. Cut a piece of elastic (three-quarter-inch width fits most belts) about two and one-half inches long.

Slit the elastic in the middle, just enough so you can put the buckle keeper through the slit. Sew the two ends of the elastic onto the end of the belt. The hole in the belt, where you removed the buckle, can be darned on the machine or by hand.

Presto—you have a little "give" to your belt for comfort, plus a little to allow for shrinkage . . . . and no more having to let out your belt after that second piece of pie!

Ethyl Lockett

DOUBLE THE FUN

DEAR HELOISE:

On Sunday morning, tear the double-page funnies right down the center fold!

Saves waiting and fussing among the children to exchange pages.

Gwen Thorn

What a wonderful idea, Gwen. Thanks. Who but you would have ever thought of it?

Heloise

STOP IT WITH FLOWERS

DEAR HELOISE:

You mentioned using bricks as doorstops . . . and I did just that, but I used a cinder block.

I covered the bottom of the block with masking tape to protect the floor. Then I stuffed leftover styrofoam into the holes in the block and sprayed it all with gold paint. When it was dry, I inserted artificial flowers into the styrofoam.

This doorstop is pretty enough to be left out . . . even when not stopping a door!

M. Cook

If you have a hint, problem or suggestion you'd like to share . . . write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. 9-12

KINDERGARTEN CLAY

DEAR HELOISE:

I have discovered a way to keep children's modeling clay soft and pliable. Enclose it in a tight jar with a small piece of damp cloth. Hard clay can also be softened this same way.

Reader

BABY'S TEMPERATURE

DEAR HELOISE:

An empty deodorant bottle, minus the roller, makes an ideal thermometer holder to add to baby's daily care tray. And the alcohol won't evaporate if you screw on the regular top.

Be sure to put a cotton ball or two in the bottom of the bottle to protect the tip of your thermometer.

A New Mommy

GETTING THE HANG OF IT

DEAR FOLKS:

Permit me to submit one of my own. . . .

If you have a TV with an indoor antenna alongside your bed, you can reach out to switch stations, but the antenna must be moved, too. Try using a coat hanger, pulling it out lengthways and using the hook to move your antenna.

I have lived in China, where the Chinese say never to stand when you can sit; never leave your eyes open when you can shut them and still enjoy life.

Furthermore, they say never to walk when you can ride; never push when someone else can pull, etc.

I hook my little, old, mis-shapen coat hanger on the edge of the table where my TV stands. Sure saves lots of energy.

This would be great for those who are ill and don't have much energy.

Heloise

ON THE OTHER HAND!

DEAR HELOISE:

After wearing out one canvas glove each time I bought a pair, (the right hand always seems to wear out first) I wash them and turn the complete pair inside out.

This puts the less-worn left glove on the other hand, thus making a pair of gloves last much longer.
